Schaffer Stores, Inc. Say T. A. Horton Property to Be Developed Into Stores, Parking Site—Wicks Residence Also Sold

Plans for a modern shopping center and increased parking space in the upper Albany avenue section of the city were revealed today along with confirmation of the purchase of State Senator Arthur H. Wicks' Albany avenue residence by Thomas A. Horton.

Horton, whose home at 47 Albany avenue was the last privately owned home along what once was a block of some of the city's finest mansions, has purchased the former residence of Senator Wicks at 225 Albany avenue, and Horton's home and property will become a two-acre shopping center with convenience parking for customers, it was learned today.

Deed Is Filed

The deed transferring Senator Wicks' property to Horton was filed with the Ulster county clerk on Monday afternoon. Attorney N. LeVan Haver represented Senator Wicks in the transaction, while Horton was represented by the law firm of Whalen, MacNamee, Creble and Nichols of Albany. Joseph F. Saccoman of this city was the real estate broker.

The amount of money involved in the transaction was not revealed.

Schaffer Stores, Inc., of Schenectady, owners of the Empire Super Market adjoining Horton's former residence, will develop the two-acre Horton plot into a shopping center with variety stores, and with space for customer's convenience parking for about 250 cars, it was learned today through Harry Schaffer of the chain's main office.

To Announce Details

Full details of the proposed development will be available within a day or two, it was reported.

The area on the north side of Albany avenue from Clinton avenue to a point opposite the intersection with Broadway once contained some of the city's finest private mansions — the Sharpe residence which was moved to make way for the Governor Clinton Hotel and which is now the hotel's annex; the Samuel M. Gray home which has become the Masonic Temple; and the Horton home, which remained in private ownership the longest of the group.

For the present, Senator and Mrs. Arthur H. Wicks are making their home at their summer camp in Lake Katrine.

Hensonville Teacher Taken to Hospital — Trucker Held for Grand Jury

Sheridan Wallace Cammer, 26, an undertaker of Windham, died of injuries which state police said he received in an accident on Route 9W north of Kingston early today.

Cammer died at the Benedictine Hospital at 1:20 a. m., just one hour after the accident.

Injured was a passenger in Cammer's automobile, Miss Mary Josephine MacCallum, age not available, of 203 Windsor street, Reading, Pa. Troopers said she is a school teacher at Hensonville, near Windham in Greene county. Her condition was reported as "good" at the Benedictine Hospital this morning.

Car Is Demolished

Cammer's 1950 sedan was virtually demolished in a collision with a tractor trailer driven by Charles Modica, 37, of R.F.D. Ramsey, N. J., who was held for the grand jury on a charge of criminal negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle resulting in death, state police of the Kingston station reported.

The accident occurred on a straight stretch on highway near the old lead mill at a time when the roadway was partially blocked as a result of a previous minor accident, troopers said. The resulting entanglement of vehicles kept troopers busy until 6 a. m.

Flares Were Out

Troopers said a wrecker and several tractor trailers were standing along the roadway, with flares out.

The tractor-trailer driven by Modica approached in a southerly direction and attempted to pass another tractor-trailer operated by Joseph Forgett, 29, of 34 Third avenue, Albany, which had been stopped by a trooper directing traffic, according to the re-

Ives Says None So Qualified As Ike to Build Toward Peace

Albany, Sept. 30 (AP) — U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY) says "no man in the free nations of the world is better qualified" than Dwight D. Eisenhower, GOP presidential candidate, to lead the way to peace.

Ives opened a two-week drive for re-election yesterday afternoon at Poughkeepsie and paid an evening visit to Chatham, Columbia county. He spent the night here.

Today he was to swing through Essex, Clinton and Franklin counties.

Ives told the Women's Republican Club of Poughkeepsie yesterday that he was "more optimistic about our chances for a durable peace than I have felt for a long, long time."

The Norwich senator said his optimism grew out of talks with Eisenhower.

"I know how Dwight D. Eisenhower feels about war," Ives declared. "No man in the free nations of the world is better qualified than he to lead the way to peace."

Observing that 75 per cent of the nation's spending was for military defense, Ives contended that "under the present Democratic administration, those extraordinary disbursements have encouraged waste, slipshod management and the buying of equipment which we do not need."

"With 40 years of military experience behind him," Ives continued, "Eisenhower is the one man who knows the real requirements of defense."

Ives said it was essential to get out the Republican vote upstate this year because it was uncertain what might happen in New York city.

In Chatham, Ives attended an informal gathering of Columbia county Republicans.

Before the bus tour ends, Ives will visit 41 of the state's 62 counties.

Says Eisenhower's Hope for Amity With Soviet Did Harm, but Admits He Hoped So, Too

President Tells Throng Anti-Red Battle Purely One by Democrats

Aboard Truman train, Sept. 30 (AP) — President Truman accused Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today of having endangered the country as commanding general in Europe by grave "blunders" which left America unaware of Russia's threat to world peace.

He said Eisenhower's advise that he saw no reason why Russia and the United States would not remain "the closest possible friends" carried "great weight" and "did a great deal of harm."

If Eisenhower had given "better advice in 1945," Truman continued, "we wouldn't have had so much trouble, in waking up the country to the danger of Communist imperialism in 1946 and 1947 and 1948."

Then Admits Some Hope

The President took a bit of the edge off the charge by stating that it was our prime hope after the war to live in peace with the Soviet Union. But he added that Eisenhower should admit his mistakes.

Truman chose a whistle stop speech at Havre, Mont., to launch the latest of increasingly bitter attacks on the Republican presidential nominee in reply to Eisenhower's own charges of blunders by the Truman administration in the field of foreign policy.

The President, speaking from the rear platform of his campaign train special, voiced praise of Rep. Mike Mansfield, Democratic candidate for the Senate against Sen. Ecton (R-Mont) and Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson for having known "that communism was dangerous and that we had to take measures to stop it."

Truman said Eisenhower didn't have such "wisdom and foresight."

"After the war, while he was still commanding general of our forces in Europe," the President continued, "he said he saw no reason why Russia and the United States would not remain the closest possible friends."

Says Mistakes Possible

Truman quoted Eisenhower as having told a congressional committee in November of 1945:

"There in no one thing that guides the policy of Russia more today than to keep friendship with the United States."

Truman then went on to say of his own former army chief of staff:

"His foresight was not nearly as good as his hindsight.

"Of course, we can all make mistakes, but the Republican candate was the commanding general in Europe and was in close contack with the Russians. His advice carried great weight and it therefore did a great deal of harm."

It is true, the President continued, that "we ware all trying immediately after the war to find

Truman Will Free Hiss, Dr. Darlington Predicts

Says Democrats Insult America by Trying to Justify Own Big Mess

Before an inspired audience of more than 200 persons in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel last night Chaplain (Brigadier General) Henry Darlington, DD, president of the Military Chaplains Association of the United States, in the first political speech of his career said, "I predict that before Harry Truman is through, he is going to pardon Alger Hiss, and, if the Democrats are elected, Hiss will stay pardoned. Senator Nixon put him there (in prison)."

Insult to Public

"We can expect plenty of smear in this campaign," Dr. Darlington said. And, "you will hear about the teapot dome scandal of a Republican administration, but never forget," he emphasized, "the Republicans were ashamed. They took immediate steps to clean house. There lies the difference in the two parties. The Democrats insult the American public by attempting to justify the unheard of corruption which has been practiced by their administration."

Dr. Darlington was chaplain general of Military Orders of Foreign Wars of the United States, chaplain of New York Chapter of Military Order of World Wars, of which order General Douglas MacArthur served as commanding general. He is chaplain of Empire Chapter, Sons of the American Revolution, and grand chaplain of the Grand Lodge of Masons of New York.

Need Spiritual Rebirth

Emphasizing the challenge to America today, the speaker called for a spiritual rebirth throughout the nation, and concurred with His Eminence Francis Cardinal Spellman in the "slogan" The Family that Prays Together Stays Together. "Isn't that a great thing," he asked his attentive listeners.

In a scholarly, eloquent, and understanding presentation, Dr. Darlington made a stirring plea for ending the causes that are "sapping our American morals." "Our nation is ruled by a traitorous administration," continued the speaker, and, "How can the patriots who have given their lives for this great country of ours and what it has always stood for, rest in their graves when they see how poorly we are keeping the faith for which they died?"

Emphasizing the topic of his speech, Dr. Darlington asked again and again, Are We Keeping the Faith? He described the prevalence of socialism in government as nothing more than "creeping communism."

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 30 (AP)—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, defending the administration's action in Korea, declared last night that when the Communists crossed the 38 Parallel "that was the testing point for freedom throughout the world."

The Democratic presidential nominee asserted in a nation-wide television and radio broadcast that when the Reds were stopped in Korea the action "was received with enthusiastic shouts of approval by the overmhelming majority of the American people, and even by the Republican leadership."

But now, he added, the Republicans "attempt to make you believe that it was almost an act of treason."

"But what do you think they would be saying now if we had not stopped the enemy in Korea, if Japan was threatened and if East Asia was falling bit by bit to the enemy?" he added. "Would they not be saying that Harry Truman and Joseph Stalin were boyhood friends in outer Mongolia?"

Democrats Accused Of Sinister Secrecy 20 Years With News

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP) — A Republican report says Democrats during the past 20 years have "stolen" from the people their right to know what their government is doing.

It said the scope and methods of governmental secrecy have grown to such proportions under the Truman administration that even Congress "has to fight for information before it can legislate."

Newspapers, it added, often can get facts only if reporters "turn themselves into detectives and gum shoe artists."

The accusations were made in a 12,000-word report prepared by the staff of the Republican Policy Committee in the Senate. It was disrtibuted from the office of Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan.

U.S. Unveils Atomic Gun After Tests

Range Is 20 Miles

Could Lay Down Cover at Practical Distance From Lines

By ELTON C. FAY
(AP Military Affairs Reporter)

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—The army has unveiled a new 85-ton atomic gun and shown that it can roll nimbly across fields into position to fire super-explosive barrages within 20 minutes.

It is the world's first atomic artillery piece.

The gun, which the army calls an "all-purpose weapon," was put through its paces at a special preview for photographers at the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Grounds recently.

Ordnance experts have been trying out its mobility and firing capacity for months at the giant testing grounds, but standard ammunition was used rather than atomic rounds.

Can Use 2 Types Ammo

The army indicated that the weapon can use either atomic or standard rounds merely by changing the type of missile.

The gun has a caliber of 280 millimeters — approximately 12 inches. This, in itself, discloses how compactly the Atomic Energy Commission scientists now are able to build atomic missiles which at one time could barely be crowded into the bomb bay of a B-29.

There was talk at the demon-

Chatter Does It

And Out Comes Cash

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—A women burglary suspect's chattering teeth may lead to life imprisonment for her.

Bessie Greene, 39, a four-foot nine-inch, stout Negro domestic, was captured after a chase along Third Avenue yesterday. A 10-year-old girl had found her wandering through an apartment building.

When police caught up with Bessie, her teeth were chattering. Was it fear? Police told her to remove her clacking upper plate. Out came two folded $10 bills and three $1 bills. Bessie maintained she was in the habit of carrying money there.

On life parole for burglary convictions, Bessie was booked on another burglary charge. Her previous record of convictions could lead to life imprisonment, police said.

Says Communists Have Worked Way Into U. S. Groups

CIA Head Believes Reds in All Organizations of Government; GOP Plans Action

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—The head of America's Super-Secret Intelligence Service says he believes Communists have infiltrated every U. S. security organization, including his own Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

At the same time Gen. Walter Bedell Smith implied yesterday this might be working both ways when he added:

"We have to assume that our enemies are as clever as we are and that they will succeed from time to time."

Smith said that to his knowledge no Communists ever have

Uses Smith Testimony As His Text

South Carolina's Chief Will Introduce GOP Nominee

By JACK BELL

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower swings the political spotlight on the Communist issue today on the basis of Gen. Walter Bedell Smith's assumption that the Reds have penetrated every U. S. security agency.

Before a plane takeoff for Columbia, S. C., the Republican presidential nominee worked on a speech aimed at throwing the Democrats on the defensive on the Communist question.

For his text, the general took the testimony of Smith in Washington yesterday that Smith assumes Communists have infiltrated even the Central Intelligence Agency, which he heads.

Weekly Reports

Among other things, this agency furnishes both presidential candidates with weekly reports on what American operatives have been able to learn about Communist activities on a world-wide scale.

Testifying on a deposition in the two-million dollar libel suit of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) against Sen. William Benton (D.-Conn.), Smith said he believed the Communists were "so adroit and adept they have infiltrated every security agency of the government."

He said he had not found any in the CIA, and would have rooted them out if he had.

Arthur Summerfield, Republican national chairman, said Smith's statement demonstrated that the "national safety has been endangered" by what he called "looseness" in Washington security measures.

To Develop Reaction

Eisenhower planned to develop this Republican reaction in his Columbia speech late today. It would follow by about 18 hours the assertion of Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois, his Democratic opponent, that the real fight is against communism—not individual Communists.

Eisenhower's advisers feel that the Democrats are particularly vulnerable on the Communist issue.

In an effort to appeal to the women's vote on this subject, the Republican National Committee arranged to have former Rep. Clare Boothe Luce of Connecticut speak on it on a national radio-television broadcast (NBC) tonight (10:45 to 11 p. m. EST).

These developments gave Eisenhower a topical sendoff for an 8,000-mile campaign tour opening today at Columbia.

Byrnes Will Introduce

Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina will introduce the general.

In Columbia, the general could speak on an issue that would be vigorously applauded by Byrnes, who claims credit for instituting the get-tough-with-Russia policy while he was secretary of state under President Truman.

Byrnes, a lifelong Democrat, has announced he will vote for Eisenhower.

11 Persons Are Indicted In Hudson in Vice Probe

Nine Present and Two Former Policemen Are Arrested on Counts

Hudson, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Nine Hudson policemen and two former members of the force were indicted today on bribery and perjury charges.

The 11 indictments were voted by the special grand jury investigating gambling, vice and alleged political corruption in Columbia county.

The bribery charges stem from alleged protection of houses of prostitution in this Hudson Valley city.

All 11 were arrested immediately.

Three Sergeants Included

The policemen included three sergeants:

William F. Egan, charged on 29 counts of accepting bribes from two madams of houses of prostitution and perjury in allegedly denying that he had.

Thaddeus W. Raynor, 12 counts of accepting bribes from a madam.

Frederick P. Finck, two counts of first-degree perjury in allegedly denying that he had ever received bribes and telling the jury that he never had been in a house of prostitution on other than official business.

Many of the counts duplicated each other, because of legal technicalities in wording.

The other indicted policemen all were patrolmen.

Dr. Roger C. Bliss, police commissioner, said he would suspend all nine immediately.

Patrolmen, Charges

The patrolmen and the charges:

William J. Spanburgh, Lawrence F. McDonald, Lloyd Hart and Joseph B. Arkinson, all charged with first-degree perjury in allegedly denying that they had received bribes.

William F. Fitzgerald, two counts of first-degree perjury in allegedly denying that he had received bribes and had been in a house of prostitution on other than official business.

Record Vote Is Predicted; Central Registration Gains

Indications based on Central registration, which ended last Friday at the Board of Elections office, and the present number of applications for absentee ballots and also war ballot applications thus far, point to an unusually large vote in November in Ulster county and the state.

At the close of Central registration last Friday there were approximately 175 voters who had called at the Board of Elections to register. These are all from the city of Kingston where personal registration is required. This is about one third more than registered last year during Central registration.

All areas checked in an Associated Press survey reported a better turnout than usual during the early registration period, which opened June 2 and closed Sept. 26. The special period is designed particularly for individuals who expect they may not be in their districts in the regular registration dates.

Unofficial estimates of the number availing themselves of the Central registration period ranged from "good" to "five or six times higher" than in former years.

No statewide totals are available because local boards do not list Central registration figures separately, but add them to regular registration totals.

Expectations are that a record 6½ to 7 million votes will be cast in the Empire State this fall.

This estimate is based on the population growth since 1948 and drives being staged by newspapers, television and radio stations, political parties and private and public groups to get out the vote. Another factor is the voter inter-

Dewey Praises Battle Of New York State Press

Albany, Sept. 30—Gov Dewey today lauded newspapers in New York state for leading the national fight for freedom of the press.

Dewey, in a proclamation designating Oct. 1-8 as "Newspaper Week," said that New York editors' "courage and integrity have matched the skill with which information is gathered, written and edited in the press of the Empire State."

The governor noted that the New York State Publishers Association also was observing newspaper week, beginning tomorrow.

"The theme for this year is 'Your Right to Know,' a right which New York newspapers staunchly uphold," Dewey added.

Aboard Truman train, Sept. 30 (AP) — President Truman accused Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today of having endangered the country as commanding general in Europe by grave "blunders" which left America unaware of Russia's threat to world peace.

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—The army has unveiled a new 85-ton atomic gun and shown that it can roll nimbly across fields into position to fire super-explosive barrages within 20 minutes.

It is the world's first atomic artillery piece.

The gun, which the army calls an "all-purpose weapon," was put through its paces at a special preview for photographers at the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Grounds recently.

Ordnance experts have been trying out its mobility and firing capacity for months at the giant testing grounds, but standard ammunition was used rather than atomic rounds.

Can Use 2 Types Ammo

The army indicated that the weapon can use either atomic or standard rounds merely by changing the type of missile.

The gun has a caliber of 280 millimeters — approximately 12 inches. This, in itself, discloses how compactly the Atomic Energy Commission scientists now are able to build atomic missiles which at one time could barely be crowded into the bomb bay of a B-29.

There was talk at the demon-

Chatter Does It
And Out Comes Cash

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—A women burglary suspect's chattering teeth may lead to life imprisonment for her.

Bessie Greene, 39, a four-foot nine-inch, stout Negro domestic, was captured after a chase along Third Avenue yesterday. A 10-year-old girl had found her wandering through an apartment building.

When police caught up with Bessie, her teeth were chattering. Was it fear? Police told her to remove her clacking upper plate. Out came two folded $10 bills and three $1 bills. Bessie maintained she was in the habit of carrying money there.

On life parole for burglary convictions, Bessie was booked on another burglary charge. Her previous record of convictions could lead to life imprisonment, police said.

Says Communists Have Worked Way Into U. S. Groups

CIA Head Believes Reds in All Organizations of Government; GOP Plans Action

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—The head of America's Super-Secret Intelligence Service says he believes Communists have infiltrated every U. S. security organization, including his own Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

At the same time Gen. Walter Bedell Smith implied yesterday this might be working both ways when he added:

"We have to assume that our enemies are as clever as we are and that they will succeed from time to time."

Uses Smith Testimony As His Text

Byrnes to Speak

South Carolina's Chief Will Introduce GOP Nominee

By JACK BELL

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower swings the political spotlight on the Communist issue today on the basis of Gen. Walter Bedell Smith's assumption that the Reds have penetrated every U. S. security agency.

Before a plane takeoff for Columbia, S. C., the Republican presidential nominee worked on a speech aimed at throwing the Democrats on the defensive on the Communist question.

For his text, the general took the testimony of Smith in Washington yesterday that Smith assumes Communists have infiltrated even the Central Intelligence Agency, which he heads.

Weekly Reports

Among other things, this agency furnishes both presidential candidates with weekly reports on what American operatives have been able to learn about Communist activities on a world-wide scale.

Testifying on a deposition in the two-million dollar libel suit of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) against Sen. William Benton (D.-Conn.), Smith said he believed the Communists were "so adroit and adept they have infiltrated every security agency of the government."

He said he had not found any in the CIA, and would have rooted them out if he had.

Arthur Summerfield, Republican national chairman, said Smith's statement demonstrated that the "national safety has been endangered" by what he called "looseness" in Washington security measures.

To Develop Reaction

Eisenhower planned to develop this Republican reaction in his Columbia speech late today. It would follow by about 18 hours the assertion of Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, of Illinois, his Democratic opponent, that the real fight is against communism—not individual Communists.

Eisenhower's advisers feel that the Democrats are particularly vulnerable on the Communist issue.

In an effort to appeal to the women's vote on this subject, the Republican National Committee arranged to have former Rep. Clare Boothe Luce of Connecticut speak on it on a national radio-television broadcast (NBC) tonight (10:45 to 11 p. m. EST).

These developments gave Eisenhower a topical sendoff for an 8,000-mile campaign tour opening today at Columbia.

Byrnes Will Introduce

Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina will introduce the general.

In Columbia, the general could speak on an issue that would be vigorously applauded by Byrnes, who claims credit for instituting the get-tough-with-Russia policy while he was secretary of state under President Truman.

Byrnes, a lifelong Democrat, has announced he will vote for Eisenhower.

After his one-shot invasion of

Nine Present and Two Former Policemen Are Arrested on Counts

Hudson, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Nine Hudson policemen and two former members of the force were indicted today on bribery and perjury charges.

The 11 indictments were voted by the special grand jury investigating gambling, vice and alleged political corruption in Columbia county.

The bribery charges stem from alleged protection of houses of prostitution in this Hudson Valley city.

All 11 were arrested immediately.

Three Sergeants Included

The policemen included three sergeants:

William F. Egan, charged on 29 counts of accepting bribes from two madams of houses of prostitution and perjury in allegedly denying that he had.

Thaddeus W. Raynor, 12 counts of accepting bribes from a madam.

Frederick P. Finck, two counts of first-degree perjury in allegedly denying that he had ever received bribes and telling the jury that he never had been in a house of prostitution on other than official business.

Many of the counts duplicated each other, because of legal technicalities in wording.

The other indicted policemen all were patrolmen.

Dr. Roger C. Bliss, police commissioner, said he would suspend all nine immediately.

Patrolmen, Charges

The patrolmen and the charges:

William J. Spanburgh, Lawrence F. McDonald, Lloyd Hart and Joseph B. Arkinson, all charged with first-degree perjury in allegedly denying that they had received bribes.

William F. Fitzgerald, two counts of first-degree perjury in allegedly denying that he had received bribes and had been in a house of prostitution on other than official business.

Joseph C. Pazera, same charges as Fitzgerald.

Ives Says None So Qualified As Ike to Build Toward Peace

Albany, Sept. 30 (AP) — U. S. Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY) says "no man in the free nations of the world is better qualified" than Dwight D. Eisenhower, GOP presidential candidate, to lead the way to peace.

Ives opened a two-week drive for re-election yesterday afternoon at Poughkeepsie and paid an evening visit to Chatham, Columbia county. He spent the night here.

Today he was to swing through Essex, Clinton and Franklin counties.

Ives told the Women's Republican Club of Poughkeepsie yesterday that he was "more optimistic about our chances for a durable peace than I have felt for a long, long time."

The Norwich senator said his optimism grew out of talks with Eisenhower.

"I know how Dwight D. Eisenhower feels about war," Ives declared. "No man in the free nations of the world is better qualified than he to lead the way to peace."

Observing that 75 per cent of the nation's spending was for military defense, Ives contended that "under the present Democratic administration, those extraordinary disbursements have encouraged waste, slipshod management and the buying of equipment which we do not need."

"With 40 years of military experience behind him," Ives continued, "Eisenhower is the one man who knows the real requirements of defense."

Ives said it was essential to get out the Republican vote upstate this year because it was uncertain what might happen in New York city.

In Chatham, Ives attended an informal gathering of Columbia county Republicans.

Before the bus tour ends, Ives will visit 41 of the state's 62 counties.

Record Vote Is Predicted; Central Registration Gains

Indications based on Central registration, which ended last Friday at the Board of Elections office, and the present number of applications for absentee ballots and also war ballot applications thus far, point to an unusually large vote in November in Ulster county and the state.

At the close of Central registration last Friday there were approximately 175 voters who had called at the Board of Elections to register. These are all from the city of Kingston where personal registration is required. This is about one third more than registered last year during Central registration.

All areas checked in an Associated Press survey reported a better turnout than usual during the early registration period, which opened June 2 and closed Sept. 26. The special period is designed particularly for individuals who expect they may not be in their districts in the regular registration dates.

Unofficial estimates of the number availing themselves of the Central registration period ranged from "good" to "five or six times higher" than in former years.

No statewide totals are available because local boards do not list Central registration figures separately, but add them to regular registration totals.

Expectations are that a record 6½ to 7 million votes will be cast in the Empire State this fall.

This estimate is based on the population growth since 1948 and drives being staged by newspapers, television and radio stations, political parties and private and public groups to get out the vote. Another factor is the voter inter-

Dewey Praises Battle Of New York State Press

Albany, Sept. 30—Gov Dewey today lauded newspapers in New York state for leading the national fight for freedom of the press.

The governor noted that the New York State Publishers Association also was observing newspaper week, beginning tomorrow.

Eight Men Are Hurt

Tokyo, Sept. 30 (AP)—Eight men were injured when enemy shore guns hit the destroyer USS Cunningham on Sept. 19, the Far East naval forces disclosed today. Three seamen required hospitalization, the navy said. Communist short batteries scored direct hits on the destroyer near Tanchon, port of Korea's northeast coast. The destroyer silenced the Red gun posts with 150 rounds.

Chinese Keep Up Strong Pressure

Seoul, Korea, Sept. 30 (AP)—Chinese Reds seized another hill on Korea's central front today as the Communists maintained heavy pressure on the sector for the third straight day.

The hill, due east of Kumsong, was the third captured by the Reds since they launched a series of heavy attacks on the east-central front Sunday.

F-86 Sabre jets swept into North Korea today and the U. S. Fifth Air Force reported they closed out a record-shattering month by damaging one Russian-made MIG-15.

The air force, after a study of gun camera film, also added three damage claims for Sunday. That raised the September totals to 61 MIGs destroyed, seven probably destroyed and 59 damaged. The previous one month record of 44 destroyed was set in April.

Heaviest Enemy Barrage

Yesterday the Communists powered their assaults with the heaviest Red artillery barrage of the war.

Savage fighting also flared on the western front. UN infantrymen slugged their way to the top of Big Nori but lost the high ground to counter-attacking Chinese in pre-dawn darkness. Greek troops were driven from the peak Sunday when UN planes accidentally bombed them during a Chinese attack.

The army said the Communists hurled a record 47,312 rounds of artillery and mortar fire on allied positions across the 155-mile battlefront yesterday. That figure, although nearly 4,000 rounds higher than any previous Red barrage, is far short of what one allied division alone will fire on a busy day.

B-26 invader bombers swept North Korean supply routes during the night. Pilots reported destruction of 86 Communist trucks, one locomotive and three boxcars. One locomotive and 12 boxcars were damaged.

The asault on Big Nori got under way at 1:30 a. m. today after a short but concentrated allied artillery barrage. Thirty minutes later UN troops were at the crest, battling hand-to-hand with the Chinese.

Crest Recaptured

The Reds withdrew. But 45 minutes later the Chinese regrouped, mounted three separate counter attacks and recaptured the crest.

Chinese casualties were estimated at 42 killed and 16 wounded.

Eight Red tanks lumbered into action in the fighting east of Kumsong. The Communists used about 200 men for the attack; then rushed in 200 reserves.

The South Koreans also beefed up their defending force but were finally forced back at noon today.

The rest of the front was relatively quiet. Chinese troops probed twice at allied outposts west of Yonchon on the western front and three times at positions west of Panmunjom.

Ships and planes of the Allied naval forces Monday battered coastline targets and troop concentrations on both sides of the Korean peninsula.

In Tokyo the navy announced eight men were injured when Communist shore guns hit the American destroyer Cunningham off Korea's northeast coast Sept. 19. The navy said three men were hospitalized.

Charges Are Prepared

Mexico City, Sept. 30 (AP)—Mexican officials said today they are preparing charges against five persons in connection with the time bombing of a passenger plane to collect life insurance. The bomb, hidden in a suitcase, was placed aboard the Oaxaca-bound plane of Compania Mexicana de Aviacion, a Pan-American World Airways affiliate, last Wednesday. The explosion shortly after the takeoff blew a hole in the fuselage, injured two American tourists of the 20 persons aboard, and wrecked navigation instruments. The pilot made an emergency landing at a military airport.

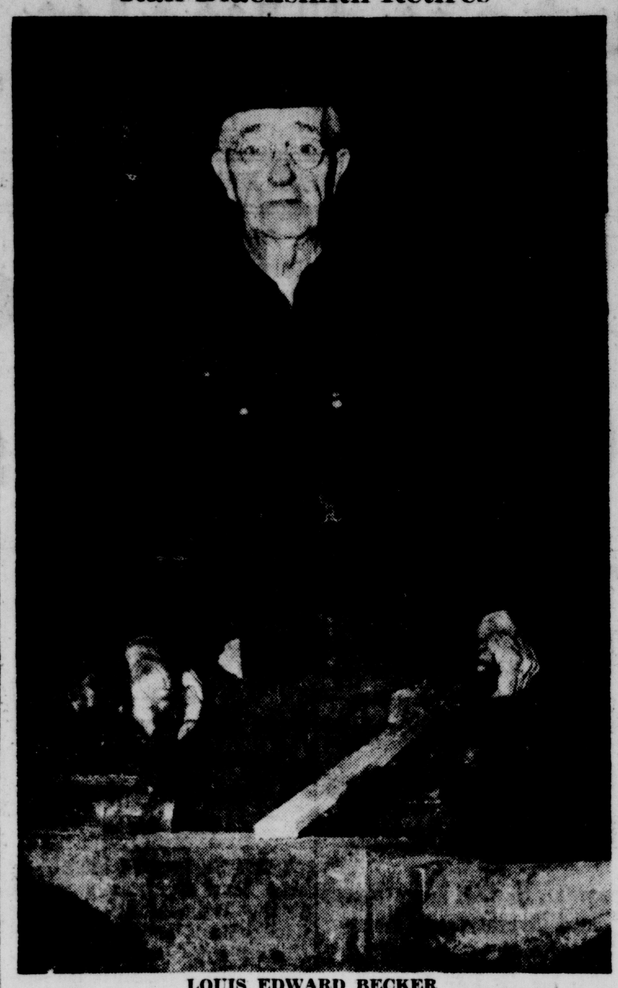
Will Seek Conference

Mt. Pocono, Pa., Sept. 30 (AP)—A move aimed at heading off possible recommendations for drastic revision of plans to construct water control projects on the Delaware was started today by the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin. James Allen, executive secretary of INCODEL, announced that chairmen of inter-state cooperation agencies of three states will seek a conference with the Pennsylvania Water Resources Committee which is conducting its own investigation of a proposal to build four huge reservoirs on the river.

Hands in Resignation

Pusan, Korea, Sept. 30 (AP)—Prime Minister Chang Taik Sang today handed his resignation to President Syngman Rhee. A government spokesman, Clarence Ryee, said it is not known whether President Rhee will accept it. Chang gave no reason for his action. Chang was one of the leaders of the middle-of-the-roaders, who reached a compromise between Rhee and the president's opposition Assembly members during the political upheaval last summer.

Rail Blacksmith Retires



LOUIS EDWARD BECKER

Louis Edward Becker retired today after 45 years as blacksmith with the West Shore Railroad. Becker, who resides at 33 Clinton avenue, first came to work for the railroad as a blacksmith's helper. A few years later he became blacksmith, a position he has held ever since. The first part of his career was spent in the South yard, and he moved to the shops in the North yard when the old car department was moved out of there. Becker is married and has two sons, James and Louis. He has no announced plans for his retirement other than to "take it easy."

Lord Astor Dies; Born in America

VISCOUNT ASTOR

Cliveden, Eng., Sept. 30 (AP)—Viscount Astor, prominent British publisher and sportsman and husband of Virginia-born Lady Nancy Astor, died today. He was 73.

Lord Astor, who was born in New York, long had been a leader in British social and political life, along with his wife.

His death followed a long illness. He began sinking last weekend.

Unable, because of his title, to hold a seat in the House of Commons, Lord Astor sponsored his wife's political career and helped her to become the first woman ever elected to the lower parliamentary chamber.

He kept as close as possible to the political scene and spoke frequently in the House of Lords. But his wife's peppery temperament and eagerness to get into all political arguments brought her greater headlines.

"When I married Nancy," he once said, I hitched my wagon to a star. When she got into the House of Commons, I found I had hitched my wagon to a sort of V-2 rocket."

Astor was the chairman for many years of the influential Sunday newspaper, The Observer.

His younger brother, Col. J. J. Astor, is chairman of the London Times. Lord Astor also had widespread real estate holdings and was prominent in British turf circles as an owner and breeder of race horses.

Swiss Girl at Vanderbilt

Nashville, Tenn. (AP)—Two years ago Claire Schlatter of Switzerland was a high school girl here, one of 22 carefully selected European youths who came to Nashville as guests of Youth Incorported to help further international understanding. Now 19, Claire flew back here from Switzerland recently to enter Vanderbilt University as a freshman. She was met at the plane by many of the friends she made two years ago. "Coming to Vanderbilt has been my greatest ambition," she beamed. Last year Vanderbilt offered scholarships to all 22 of the Europeans. Claire was the first to take up the offer.

Polynesian Flying Saucer

Papeete, Tahiti (AP) — Flying saucers — or their Polynesian equivalents—are old stuff to the natives of this South Pacific isle. Stories of such aerial phenomena go back to the most ancient times, says the Polynesians. The Polynesian description of the "flying saucer" is: "A ball of purple fire rising out of the earth, and flying over the coconut groves into the recesses of the central mountains of Tahiti."

Kaplan Firm Gets Building Lease

The lease on the former Coca-Cola storage building at East Chester street near lower Jansen avenue has been assigned by the bottling company to A. Kaplan Sons of 24 Hasbrouck avenue, it was announced today by Joseph F. Saccoman, who negotiated the deal.

The Kaplan firm, suppliers of burlap bags, will begin operations in the new location immediately, it was reported.

The building, formerly a part of the Coykendall estate, is owned by Michael Ambrose and has been leased to the Coca-Cola Bottling Company. It has been vacant since that company transferred its warehouse facilities to Newburgh. Representing the Kaplan firm in the transaction was Attorney Charles Gaffney, of this city. Attorney Harry Malter of New York represented the bottling company.

Hopes for Answer

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—David Rockefeller, a member of the Westchester County Planning Commission, today said he hoped specially-created New York and New Jersey states agencies will find an answer to the metropolitan area's traffic problems. He added that special state transportation agencies are not needed if they are to be "an excuse to pass the buck and do nothing." Rockefeller, a vice president of the Chase National Bank, reviewed commuter highway and railroad problems in an address prepared for a luncheon session of the seventh regional plan conference at the Hotel Roosevelt.

Will Relieve Van Fleet

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—The New York Times said today that relief of Gen. James A. Van Fleet, after 17 months of gruelling command of the Eighth Army in Korea, has been decided on at the Pentagon. There will be no formal announcement, however, until his successor has been selected, according to a Washington dispatch to The Times from Austin Stevens. (When asked about the report, an informed official at the Pentagon said he knew of no discussion of Van Fleet's removal or of anything to indicate such a move was under way.)

Delay Is Asked

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—Sen. Williams (R-Del.) said today he has asked the Justice Department to delay any move to deport gambler Frank Costello because Costello could be an important witness at trials "of some of our former key government officials."

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—The position of the treasury Sept. 26: Net budget receipts, $241,423,742.62; budget expenditures, $207,978,550.24; cash balance, $7,442,388,504.14; customs receipts for month, $46,912,665.07; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $13,571,259,708.49; budget expenditures fiscal year, $17,198,606,946.24; budget deficit, $3,627,347,237.75; total debt, $262,612,704,639.06; increase over previous day, $2,784,753.35; gold assets, $23,341,851,053.57.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Weakness in the railroad division today proved to be the deciding factor in tipping the stock market lower.

The rails sagged as much as 2 points at the outside. Losses elsewhere in the list rarely extended beyond major fractions.

At the same time there was plenty of upside encouragement with a liberal array of plus signs running from fractions to around 2 points. Heavier gains were in the oils.

Steels and motors held up well and buying attention also was focussed on a number of individual issues.

Budd Co. was active and up a fraction after starting on a block of 3,500 shares up ¼ at 14½. Abbott Lab gained around a point at times and enjoyed flurries of buying. Texas Pacific Land Trust was up around 2 at times but held to the top rung with difficulty.

Trading was moderately active at the opening with prices mixed. The sell off in the railroads commenced in the second hour and the entire market softened in concert.

Volume was running at a rate for the entire day in the neighborhood of yesterday's extremely low 970,000 shares.

Tip on Scrambled Eggs

Want to pep up scrambled eggs? Add a teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce to four eggs, three tablespoons of milk or cream, and salt and pepper to taste. Cook as usual, making sure the heat is low.

Says Communists

been actually found in CIA, that he does not know the identity of any there—and he said he would get rid of them if he did—but he added:

"In our meetings we keep telling each other that somewhere along the line we must be penetrated so we try to keep our mouths shut and watch our step. * * *.

"I believe they are so adroit and adept they have infiltrated every security agency of the government."

Gen. Smith's comments came while he was testifying at a deposition hearing in Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's two million dollar libel-slander suit against Sen. William Benton.

Broadcast Planned

There was swift reaction from the Republican National Committee. It announced a nationwide radio-television broadcast tonight (NBC-10:30-11 p. m. EST) centering around the Communists in government issue.

GOP National Committee Chairman Arthur E. Summerfield said Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, former Republican Congresswoman from Connecticut, will speak over a network of 65 TV and 189 radio stations. Asserting the Republican Party has been the only one "steadfastly opposed" to communism since 1917, Summerfield said:

"Gen. Smith's shocking revelation is only further evidence that our national safety is endangered by the incredible looseness with which our security and loyalty programs have been handled during the last 20 years."

After the deposition hearing ended, Gen. Smith first asked that all his remarks be kept off the record. When told they already had been made public, he issued a statement which said in part:

"Any intelligence agency that did not act on the assumption that it had been penetrated somewhere along the line from charwoman to its executive level would be criminally negligent and we would be criminally negligent if we did not act on that assumption.

"This is, of course, no reflection on the loyalty of the overwhelming number of persons employed in our security agencies.

"That is why we take so many precautions to guard against penetration at every point * * *.

Must Assume Foes Clever

"We have to assume that our enemies are as clever as we are and that they will succeed from time to time."

CIA, whose operations are probably the most closely guarded of any government agency, was set up in 1947 to coordinate all government intelligence and espionage work. Smith said it operates primarily overseas.

The general was a wartime associate of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, and later served as ambassador to Moscow before becoming head of the CIA two years ago.

He was summoned to the deposition hearing by Sen. Benton (D.-Conn.) who wanted him to testify about a speech Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) made in the Senate last year attacking the record of Gen. George C. Marshall, wartime army chief of staff and later secretary of state.

Defends Marshall

McCarthy said in that speech Marshall was "steeped in falsehood" and described him as a mysterious, powerful figure" who sided with Russia in historic decisions which "lost the peace for America."

Gen. Smith vigorously defended Marshall, saying:

"Of all the men I've known, and in the last 10 or 15 years I've known most of the great men of the world, I know of none who excel and few who equal George Marshall for loyalty, honesty and integrity."

He also said he believed two other comments made in his speech—read to him by Benton's attorney—were incorrect.

One said the Marshall Plan helped the Kremlin, because it was substituted for a plan of direct military aid. The other said the Marshall Plan caused the United States to be considered a "patsy" in Europe, and held in contempt there.

Smith said on the contrary the Marshall Plan was considered a "stroke of genius" in Europe.

Also Backs Davies

The CIA chief also defended John Paton Davies Jr., a State Department official now on duty in Germany. Davies has been attacked by McCarthy as a security risk. A recent report by the Senate Internal Security Committee asked that Davies be prosecuted for perjury.

Smith described Davies, who served with him in Moscow, as a "very loyal and very capable officer."

The question of Communists in government arose while Smith was being questioned by McCarthy's attorney, Warren Magee, during a 2½ hour stretch.

Magee asked him if he agreed with a statement by Benton at a previous deposition hearing that there were Communists in the State Department.

"I do," Smith replied. "I believe there are Communists in my own organization."

He explained later to reporters that obviously he did not know who they were, because if he did he would get rid of them at once.

Eisenhower Will

Dixie at Columbia, Eisenhower planed to fly to Cleveland tonight to join his campaign train (10:15 p. m. EST) for some rest before he begins an arduous whistle-stopping foray with an early morning speech at Bay City, Mich.

Talks With Dewey

Possibly in anticipation of this intensive campaigning, the general spent an hour and a half here last night talking over the general situation with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Dewey, a native of Michigan, said they talked only about how to bring New York into the Republican column on Nov. 4.

Dewey has been in the background of this GOP campaign, but he has covered the country twice in bids for the presidency. There was evidence that Eisenhower's advisers hoped to profit by the Dewey mistakes in 1944 and 1948.

On his westward travels, Eisenhower's staff was expected to pay particular attention to what President Truman has to say on a current whistle-stopping tour. In the general's camp, Truman is looked upon as the Democrats' broad axe wielder of the campaign.

Apple Picker to Face Jury on Assault Charge

A 19-year-old apple picker faces grand jury action on a second degree assault charge which County Investigator Arthur H. Brown said resulted from an argument over a kitchen utensil.

Robert Nelson, Jr., of Apopka, Fla., waived examination when he was arraigned Monday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Clarence Rappleyea of the town of Ulster. He was ordered held for the action of the grand jury.

Nelson was accused of firing a shot "in the general direction" of William Hickey, 23, another farm laborer, about 7 a. m. Monday on a large fruit farm near Gardiner, Brown reported. Hickey was not struck by the bullet. Nelson, Hickey and several other pickers lived in a building on the farm and shared a common kitchen, where the argument broke out over the use of a pan, according to the report. Working with Brown in making the arrest was Deputy Sheriff William Thompson of Highland.

Driver Fined $10

Floyd Countryman, 47, of Accord was fined $10 by Justice of the Peace Max Geller of Kerhonkson after he pleaded guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Troopers of the Ellenville station, who made the arrest, said Countryman failed to stop after his automobile sideswiped an automobile belonging to Charles Freedman, 46, of Accord, which was parked along the Granite road, about 7:30 p. m. Monday.

Chinese Keep Up Strong Pressure

Seoul, Korea, Sept. 30 (AP)—Chinese Reds seized another hill on Korea's central front today as the Communists maintained heavy pressure on the sector for the third straight day.

The hill, due east of Kumsong, was the third captured by the Reds since they launched a series of heavy attacks on the east-central front Sunday.

F-86 Sabre jets swept into North Korea today and the U. S. Fifth Air Force reported they closed out a record-shattering month by damaging one Russian-made MIG-15.

The air force, after a study of gun camera film, also added three damage claims for Sunday. That raised the September totals to 61 MIGs destroyed, seven probably destroyed and 59 damaged. The previous one month record of 44 destroyed was set in April.

Heaviest Enemy Barrage

Yesterday the Communists powered their assaults with the heaviest Red artillery barrage of the war.

Savage fighting also flared on the western front. UN infantrymen slugged their way to the top of Big Nori but lost the high ground to counter-attacking Chinese in pre-dawn darkness. Greek troops were driven from the peak Sunday when UN planes accidentally bombed them during a Chinese attack.

The army said the Communists hurled a record 47,312 rounds of artillery and mortar fire on allied positions across the 155-mile battlefront yesterday. That figure, although nearly 4,000 rounds higher than any previous Red barrage, is far short of what one allied division alone will fire on a busy day.

B-26 invader bombers swept North Korean supply routes during the night. Pilots reported destruction of 86 Communist trucks, one locomotive and three boxcars. One locomotive and 12 boxcars were damaged.

The asault on Big Nori got under way at 1:30 a. m. today after a short but concentrated allied artillery barrage. Thirty minutes later UN troops were at the crest, battling hand-to-hand with the Chinese.

Crest Recaptured

The Reds withdrew. But 45 minutes later the Chinese regrouped, mounted three separate counter attacks and recaptured the crest.

Chinese casualties were estimated at 42 killed and 16 wounded.

Eight Red tanks lumbered into action in the fighting east of Kumsong. The Communists used about 200 men for the attack; then rushed in 200 reserves.

The South Koreans also beefed up their defending force but were finally forced back at noon today.

The rest of the front was relatively quiet. Chinese troops probed twice at allied outposts west of Yonchon on the western front and three times at positions west of Panmunjom.

Ships and planes of the Allied naval forces Monday battered coastline targets and troop concentrations on both sides of the Korean peninsula.

In Tokyo the navy announced eight men were injured when Communist shore guns hit the American destroyer Cunningham off Korea's northeast coast Sept. 19. The navy said three men were hospitalized.

Charges Are Prepared

Mexico City, Sept. 30 (AP)—Mexican officials said today they are preparing charges against five persons in connection with the time bombing of a passenger plane to collect life insurance. The bomb, hidden in a suitcase, was placed aboard the Oaxaca-bound plane of Compania Mexicana de Aviacion, a Pan-American World Airways affiliate, last Wednesday. The explosion shortly after the takeoff blew a hole in the fuselage, injured two American tourists of the 20 persons aboard, and wrecked navigation instruments. The pilot made an emergency landing at a military airport.

Will Seek Conference

Mt. Pocono, Pa., Sept. 30 (AP)—A move aimed at heading off possible recommendations for drastic revision of plans to construct water control projects on the Delaware was started today by the Interstate Commission on the Delaware River Basin. James Allen, executive secretary of INCODEL, announced that chairmen of inter-state cooperation agencies of three states will seek a conference with the Pennsylvania Water Resources Committee which is conducting its own investigation of a proposal to build four huge reservoirs on the river.

Hands in Resignation

Pusan, Korea, Sept. 30 (AP)—Prime Minister Chang Taik Sang today handed his resignation to President Syngman Rhee. A government spokesman, Clarence Ryee, said it is not known whether President Rhee will accept it. Chang gave no reason for his action. Chang was one of the leaders of the middle-of-the-roaders, who reached a compromise between Rhee and the president's opposition Assembly members during the political upheaval last summer.

Rail Blacksmith Retires

LOUIS EDWARD BECKER

Louis Edward Becker retired today after 45 years as blacksmith with the West Shore Railroad. Becker, who resides at 33 Clinton avenue, first came to work for the railroad as a blacksmith's helper. A few years later he became blacksmith, a position he has held ever since. The first part of his career was spent in the South yard, and he moved to the shops in the North yard when the old car department was moved out of there. Becker is married and has two sons, James and Louis. He has no announced plans for his retirement other than to "take it easy."

Lord Astor Dies: Born in America

VISCOUNT ASTOR

Cliveden, Eng., Sept. 30 (AP)—Viscount Astor, prominent British publisher and sportsman and husband of Virginia-born Lady Nancy Astor, died today. He was 73.

Lord Astor, who was born in New York, long had been a leader in British social and political life, along with his wife.

His death followed a long illness. He began sinking last weekend.

Unable, because of his title, to hold a seat in the House of Commons, Lord Astor sponsored his wife's political career and helped her to become the first woman ever elected to the lower parliamentary chamber.

He kept as close as possible to the political scene and spoke frequently in the House of Lords. But his wife's peppery temperament and eagerness to get into all political arguments brought her greater headlines.

"When I married Nancy," he once said, I hitched my wagon to a star. When she got into the House of Commons, I found I had hitched my wagon to a sort of V-2 rocket."

Astor was the chairman for many years of the influential Sunday newspaper, The Observer.

His younger brother, Col. J. J. Astor, is chairman of the London Times. Lord Astor also had widespread real estate holdings and was prominent in British turf circles as an owner and breeder of race horses.

Swiss Girl at Vanderbilt

Nashville, Tenn. (AP)—Two years ago Claire Schlatter of Switzerland was a high school girl here, one of 22 carefully selected European youths who came to Nashville as guests of Youth Incorported to help further international understanding. Now 19, Claire flew back here from Switzerland recently to enter Vanderbilt University as a freshman. She was met at the plane by many of the friends she made two years ago. "Coming to Vanderbilt has been my greatest ambition," she beamed. Last year Vanderbilt offered scholarships to all 22 of the Europeans. Claire was the first to take up the offer.

Polynesian Flying Saucer

Papeete, Tahiti (AP) — Flying saucers — or their Polynesian equivalents—are old stuff to the natives of this South Pacific isle. Stories of such aerial phenomena go back to the most ancient times, says the Polynesians. The Polynesian description of the "flying saucer" is: "A ball of purple fire rising out of the earth, and flying over the coconut groves into the recesses of the central mountains of Tahiti."

Kaplan Firm Gets Building Lease

The lease on the former Coca-Cola storage building at East Chester street near lower Jansen avenue has been assigned by the bottling company to A. Kaplan Sons of 24 Hasbrouck avenue, it was announced today by Joseph F. Saccoman, who negotiated the deal.

The Kaplan firm, suppliers of burlap bags, will begin operations in the new location immediately, it was reported.

The building, formerly a part of the Coykendall estate, is owned by Michael Ambrose and has been leased to the Coca-Cola Bottling Company. It has been vacant since that company transferred its warehouse facilities to Newburgh. Representing the Kaplan firm in the transaction was Attorney Charles Gaffney, of this city. Attorney Harry Malter of New York represented the bottling company.

Hopes for Answer

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—David Rockefeller, a member of the Westchester County Planning Commission, today said he hoped specially-created New York and New Jersey states agencies will find an answer to the metropolitan area's traffic problems. He added that special state transportation agencies are not needed if they are to be "an excuse to pass the buck and do nothing." Rockefeller, a vice president of the Chase National Bank, reviewed commuter highway and railroad problems in an address prepared for a luncheon session of the seventh regional plan conference at the Hotel Roosevelt.

Will Relieve Van Fleet

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—The New York Times said today that relief of Gen. James A. Van Fleet, after 17 months of gruelling command of the Eighth Army in Korea, has been decided on at the Pentagon. There will be no formal announcement, however, until his successor has been selected, according to a Washington dispatch to The Times from Austin Stevens. (When asked about the report, an informed official at the Pentagon said he knew of no discussion of Van Fleet's removal or of anything to indicate such a move was under way.)

Delay Is Asked

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—Sen. Williams (R-Del.) said today he has asked the Justice Department to delay any move to deport gambler Frank Costello because Costello could be an important witness at trials "of some of our former key government officials."

Treasury Receipts

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—The position of the treasury Sept. 26: Net budget receipts, $241,423,742.62; budget expenditures, $207,978,550.24; cash balance, $7,442,388,504.14; customs receipts for month, $46,912,665.07; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $13,571,259,708.49; budget expenditures fiscal year, $17,198,606,946.24; budget deficit, $3,627,347,237.75; total debt, $262,612,704,639.06; increase over previous day, $2,784,753.35; gold assets, $23,341,851,053.57.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Weakness in the railroad division today proved to be the deciding factor in tipping the stock market lower.

The rails sagged as much as 2 points at the outside. Losses elsewhere in the list rarely extended beyond major fractions.

At the same time there was plenty of upside encouragement with a liberal array of plus signs running from fractions to around 2 points. Heavier gains were in the oils.

Steels and motors held up well and buying attention also was focussed on a number of individual issues.

Budd Co. was active and up a fraction after starting on a block of 3,500 shares up ¼ at 14½. Abbott Lab gained around a point at times and enjoyed flurries of buying. Texas Pacific Land Trust was up around 2 at times but held to the top rung with difficulty.

Trading was moderately active at the opening with prices mixed. The sell off in the railroads commenced in the second hour and the entire market softened in concert.

Volume was running at a rate for the entire day in the neighborhood of yesterday's extremely low 970,000 shares.

Tip on Scrambled Eggs

Want to pep up scrambled eggs? Add a teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce to four eggs, three tablespoons of milk or cream, and salt and pepper to taste. Cook as usual, making sure the heat is low.

Says Communists

been actually found in CIA, that he does not know the identity of any there—and he said he would get rid of them if he did—but he added:

"In our meetings we keep telling each other that somewhere along the line we must be penetrated so we try to keep our mouths shut and watch our step. * * *

"I believe they are so adroit and adept they have infiltrated every security agency of the government."

Gen. Smith's comments came while he was testifying at a deposition hearing in Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's two million dollar libel-slander suit against Sen. William Benton.

Broadcast Planned

There was swift reaction from the Republican National Committee. It announced a nationwide radio-television broadcast tonight (NBC-10:30-11 p. m. EST) centering around the Communists in government issue.

GOP National Committee Chairman Arthur E. Summerfield said Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce, former Republican Congresswoman from Connecticut, will speak over a network of 65 TV and 189 radio stations. Asserting the Republican Party has been the only one "steadfastly opposed" to communism since 1917, Summerfield said:

"Gen. Smith's shocking revelation is only further evidence that our national safety is endangered by the incredible looseness with which our security and loyalty programs have been handled during the last 20 years."

After the deposition hearing ended, Gen. Smith first asked that all his remarks be kept off the record. When told they already had been made public, he issued a statement which said in part:

"Any intelligence agency that did not act on the assumption that it had been penetrated somewhere along the line from charwoman to its executive level would be criminally negligent and we would be criminally negligent if we did not act on that assumption.

"This is, of course, no reflection on the loyalty of the overwhelming number of persons employed in our security agencies.

"That is why we take so many precautions to guard against penetration at every point * * *.

Must Assume Foes Clever

"We have to assume that our enemies are as clever as we are and that they will succeed from time to time."

CIA, whose operations are probably the most closely guarded of any government agency, was set up in 1947 to coordinate all government intelligence and espionage work. Smith said it operates primarily overseas.

The general was a wartime associate of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, and later served as ambassador to Moscow before becoming head of the CIA two years ago.

He was summoned to the deposition hearing by Sen. Benton (D.-Conn.) who wanted him to testify about a speech Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) made in the Senate last year attacking the record of Gen. George C. Marshall, wartime army chief of staff and later secretary of state.

Defends Marshall

McCarthy said in that speech Marshall was "steeped in falsehood" and described him as a mysterious, powerful figure" who sided with Russia in historic decisions which "lost the peace for America."

Gen. Smith vigorously defended Marshall, saying:

"Of all the men I've known, and in the last 10 or 15 years I've known most of the great men of the world, I know of none who excel and few who equal George Marshall for loyalty, honesty and integrity."

He also said he believed two other comments made in his speech—read to him by Benton's attorney—were incorrect.

One said the Marshall Plan helped the Kremlin, because it was substituted for a plan of direct military aid. The other said the Marshall Plan caused the United States to be considered a "patsy" in Europe, and held in contempt there.

Smith said on the contrary the Marshall Plan was considered a "stroke of genius" in Europe.

Also Backs Davies

The CIA chief also defended John Paton Davies Jr., a State Department official now on duty in Germany. Davies has been attacked by McCarthy as a security risk. A recent report by the Senate Internal Security Committee asked that Davies be prosecuted for perjury.

Smith described Davies, who served with him in Moscow, as a "very loyal and very capable officer."

The question of Communists in government arose while Smith was being questioned by McCarthy's attorney, Warren Magee, during a 2½ hour stretch.

Magee asked him if he agreed with a statement by Benton at a previous deposition hearing that there were Communists in the State Department.

"I do," Smith replied. "I believe there are Communists in my own organization."

He explained later to reporters that obviously he did not know who they were, because if he did he would get rid of them at once.

Eisenhower Will

Dixie at Columbia, Eisenhower planed to fly to Cleveland tonight to join his campaign train (10:15 p. m. EST) for some rest before he begins an arduous whistle-stopping foray with an early morning speech at Bay City, Mich.

Talks With Dewey

Possibly in anticipation of this intensive campaigning, the general spent an hour and a half here last night talking over the general situation with Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

Dewey, a native of Michigan, said they talked only about how to bring New York into the Republican column on Nov. 4.

Dewey has been in the background of this GOP campaign, but he has covered the country twice in bids for the presidency. There was evidence that Eisenhower's advisers hoped to profit by the Dewey mistakes in 1944 and 1948.

On his westward travels, Eisenhower's staff was expected to pay particular attention to what President Truman has to say on a current whistle-stopping tour. In the general's camp, Truman is looked upon as the Democrats' broad axe wielder of the campaign.

Apple Picker to Face Jury on Assault Charge

A 19-year-old apple picker faces grand jury action on a second degree assault charge which County Investigator Arthur H. Brown said resulted from an argument over a kitchen utensil.

Robert Nelson, Jr., of Apopka, Fla., waived examination when he was arraigned Monday afternoon before Justice of the Peace Clarence Rappleyea of the town of Ulster. He was ordered held for the action of the grand jury.

Nelson was accused of firing a shot "in the general direction" of William Hickey, 23, another farm laborer, about 7 a. m. Monday on a large fruit farm near Gardiner. Brown reported. Hickey was not struck by the bullet. Nelson, Hickey and several other pickers lived in a building on the farm and shared a common kitchen, where the argument broke out over the use of a pan, according to the report. Working with Brown in making the arrest was Deputy Sheriff William Thompson of Highland.

Driver Fined $10

Floyd Countryman, 47, of Accord was fined $10 by Justice of the Peace Max Geller of Kerhonkson after he pleaded guilty to a charge of leaving the scene of an accident. Troopers of the Ellenville station, who made the arrest, said Countryman failed to stop after his automobile sideswiped an automobile belonging to Charles Freedman, 46, of Accord, which was parked along the Granite road, about 7:30 p. m. Monday.

WALLKILL NEWS

Wallkill, Sept. 30—Mr. and Mrs. Leaonard Nunno of San Antonio, Tex., and Mrs. John McKechnie of Brooklyn have returned to their homes after a two-day visit with Mrs. Margaret VanderEssen and boys.

Miss Helen M. Van Wyck spent the weekend at Nanuet with Mrs. Marie Laing. Miss Van Wyck was a former teacher at West Nyack for many years before taking up her residence in Wallkill.

Mrs. George Sohn is spending this week at the home of her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Britt of Poughkeepsie.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morehouse were dinner guests on Friday evening at the home of their daughter and family, the Joseph Morrises.

Mrs. John Thurston was a visitor Friday at the home of Mrs. Jesse Eckert and Miss Jennie White.

Mrs. Arthur Agar and children were visitors Friday at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Nellie White.

Benjie and Nancy Kreiton were guests over the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Van Wyck.

David and Mary Kreiton were guests for three days recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gerow Schoonmaker at New Hurley.

Mrs. Ambrose Mulligan and Mr. and Mrs. William McCall of New York were recent guests of Mrs. James McLinden.

The recreation committee met with representatives of local organizations recently to discuss plans for raising necessary funds to continue the program.

John Gardiner conducted the meeting. He outlined suggestions made by the committee and asked opinions from organization representatives.

A sketch of a possible arrangement in the village park for a hard-surfaced area with room for tennis, basketball, handball, badminton, shuffleboard and skating was shown. It is expected that figures on the cost of surfacing the area will be ready shortly.

Donald Woodworth, one of the swimming instructors in the summer program, discussed the program and informed the group that the average attendance was 25 children daily through July and August. All students passed the beginner's tests and a large percentage passed the intermediate tests, he said.

Treasurer George Vogel reported that approximately $1,100 had been spent for the swimming program. It was noted that most persons do not realize the large expense involved in this program.

If the activities of the committee are to continue it was the opinion of the group that all local organizations will have to be asked to help plan a year-round schedule for fund raising. If each organization would sponsor some particular event just for the benefit of the recreation fund, this would help greatly.

It was decided to request the Footlight Club for the sponsorship of their fall play which is soon to go into production. Organizations will be asked to send three members to work with the recreation committee on this job. Another suggestion for a later activity was a supper.

Members of the committee attending were John Gardiner, Mrs. Dorothy Wickes, George Vogel and Gustav Almquist.

Representatives from other organizations were Mrs. Jean Kazimir and Donald Woodworth, swimming committee; Jesse McHugh, Town Board; Dan Van Alst, Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. James Crowell, Red Cross; Malcolm VandeMark, American Legion; Edwin Dudley, Wallkill Teachers Association; Donald Decker, Alumni Association and Mrs. John Sloan, Womens Club.

The Wallkill Teachers Association will give a ham supper in the school cafeteria Wednesday, Oct. 8 for the benefit of the scholarship fund.

Servings will be at 5:30 and 7 p. m. Sale of tickets will be limited and those planning to attend are urged to secure them as soon as possible. They are on sale by any member of the faculty.

A Girl Scout and Brownie troop committee meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Herbert S. DuBois Tuesday, Sept. 30, at 8 p. m. All Brownie and Scout leaders and committee members are requested to attend.

The Wallkill Girl Scouts and Brownies held their meetings last week. Girl Scout Troop 22 met on Monday from 4 to 5, with their leaders Mrs. Herbert DuBois and Mrs. Herman Mahlandt, assistant. On Wednesday girls of Troop 42 led by Mrs. Carlton Harris and Mrs. Alfred Masten, assistant leader, held their meeting from 3:15 to 4:30.

Brownies of Troop 41 had their get-together Tuesday from 3:15 to 4:30. Mrs. Ruth Saunders heads that group with Mrs. Vincent Bell assisting.

Brownie Troop 78 met Thursday with Mrs. Walter Wallach as leader and Mrs. Helen Witherel, assistant.

The troop committee and officers are as follows: Mrs. George Brach, community chairman; Mrs. John Sheehey, vice chairman; Mrs. C. E. Penney, secretary; Mrs. Ruth Saunders, treasurer; Mrs. John Scarzello, public relations; Mrs. Walter Wallach, nominating membership; Mrs. Clyde Decker, Juliette Low chairman; Mrs. Ira Wickner, Mrs. Robert Robinson, Miss Anna Brown, Mrs. Joseph Wickes, Mrs. John Kessler, Mrs. Elmer Van Wyck.

The executive committee of the Ulster Educators met at the Marlborough Central School Sept. 11 to discuss plans for the fall conference at Wallkill October 10. The following representatives were present: Mrs. Edwin Dudley, Wallkill; Charles Ott, Highland; Miss John Barhydt, New Paltz; Clarence Spitzer, Marlborough. Also in attendance were delegates to the House of Delegates, Mrs. Janet Brack and Jack Robinson.

Ralph Johnson, district superintendent, promised to obtain interesting speakers for the fall meeting.

Mrs. Regine Zimmerman and Mrs. Dorothy White represented the public relations committee. Miss Theresa Abbruzzese, assisted by Miss Elaine Kniffen, secretary, presided.

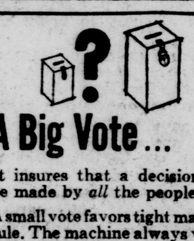
The word tariff is derived from the Arabic "ta'rifa," which means a notification or inventory.

Human Element Cause Of Many U. S. Fires

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Gov. Dewey says the tragedy of this country's annual fire toll "is that the overwhelming majority—90 per cent—of all fires are avoidable."

Dewey yesterday designated the seven-day period beginning Oct. 12 as "Fire Prevention Week" in New York state. Dewey noted that "burns, excruciatingly painful burns, produce more deaths every year than any other single factor, excepting only automobile casualties."

Last year "the greatest single promoter of these disasters was carelessness by tobacco users," Dewey added.



A Big Vote...

It insures that a decision will be made by all the people.

A small vote favors tight machine rule. The machine always votes.

Voter indifference discourages able men from running for office. It does not discourage mediocre men and political hacks. When the voter loses interest in his government, he opens the door to corruption and waste.

Submits Report On Voting Record Of Congressman

The following report from the Upper Hudson Area Industrial Union Council, C.I.O. has been submitted by Mabel L. Fisher, business agent, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, Local 186:

Congressman J. Ernest Wharton is talking about two altogether different votes. If Congressman Wharton will read the C.I.O. voting record, he will realize that what we regard as an accurate test of a legislator's attitude on major issues may differ with what the congressman chooses to report to his constituents.

The average person unfortunately, seldom, if ever, follows parliamentary manuevers in detail and as a rule is often fooled as to the real meaning of votes cast in the Senate and House.

On the 1952 Congressional action raising social security and public assistance benefits by about $5 a month, we insist the vote that really tells the story took place when HR 7800 came before the House on May 19th. The bill failed of passage that day. Later, when public protests forced the reactionary coalition to seek opportunity to get off the hook, these insufficient benefits were approved by a landslide vote. That was the vote C.I.O. records as most indicative of his attitude on social security. We do not accept his later vote as meaning anything at all except a desire to clear his skirts. But his earlier vote cannot be expunged, and remains as the criterion by which his record should be evaluated.

On tidelands oil, C.I.O. records the vote that took place July 30, 1951, when the House passed a measure forfeiting federal ownership of offshore oil resources worth 40 billions, thus opening the door to exploitation by private interests. Our C.I.O. record says Wharton was absent on that occasion. He says we are wrong.

The congressman says he voted "in the affirmative" on this so-called tidelands issue on May 15, 1952. W looked up the Congressional Record for May 15 and found that this was a vote on the Conference Report on Senate Resolution No. 20 and did not concern the same issue—offshore oil resources. The CIO Voting Record did not give the results of this vote.

The congressman evidently feels we misrepresented him, which we have painstakingly shown we did not.

In our opinion Rep. Wharton's vote on May 15, 1952 was a "wrong" vote. What he did, in effect, was to cede title to invaluable mineral deposits belonging to all the people of New York state as well as all the people of the United States. This, in our judgement, had nothing to do with "states rights" but was an inexcusable raid on the public domain. Many members of Congress object to our voting records because we attempt, and usually succeed, in identifying very clearly those actions which indicate basic attitudes. This type of legislator would like to publish only those votes he casts which represent, in fact, a quick jump on the bandwagon. When a legislator tries to prevent consideration of a measure by a parliamentary trick, when he votes for a series of mutilating amendments, this is what we report. We do not give credit for a vote on "final passage" after the member has done his best to gut the measure or to bury it without debate. That is the real importance of the CIO voting record and that's what some members don't like about our publications.

Named New Lord Mayor

London, Sept. 30 (AP)—Wealthy Sir Rupert de la Bere is London's new lord mayor, regarded by many as the most stately municipal office in the world. Sir Rupert, 59, was elected by the County Council yesterday for a one-year term. He succeeds Sir Leslie Boyce. The new mayor is a Conservative member of Parliament—a seat he is permitted to keep while he is lord mayor—and has the curious reputation of having the loudest voice in the House of Commons. His colleagues often twit him about his oratorical power.

Cantor Resting Well

Hollywood, Sept. 30 (AP)—Eddie Cantor was resting well today in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, where he plans to remain at least a week because of what his doctor calls "complete exhaustion." The 60-year-old comic complained of feeling ill Sunday night after finishing his first television show of the season. Dr. Julius Kahn immediately ordered him to the hospital.

In our opinion Rep. Wharton's vote on May 15, 1952 was a "wrong" vote. What he did, in effect, was to cede title to invaluable mineral deposits belonging to all the people of New York state as well as all the people of the United States. This, in our judgement, had nothing to do with "states rights" but was an inexcusable raid on the public domain. Many members of Congress object to our voting records because we attempt, and usually succeed, in identifying very clearly those actions which indicate basic attitudes. This type of legislator would like to publish only those votes he casts which represent, in fact, a quick jump on the bandwagon. When a legislator tries to prevent consideration of a measure by a parliamentary trick, when he votes for a series of mutilating amendments, this is what we report. We do not give credit for a vote on "final passage" after the member has done his best to gut the measure or to bury it without debate. That is the real importance of the CIO voting record and that's what some members don't like about our publications.

Named New Lord Mayor

London, Sept. 30 (AP)—Wealthy Sir Rupert de la Bere is London's new lord mayor, regarded by many as the most stately municipal office in the world. Sir Rupert, 59, was elected by the County Council yesterday for a one-year term. He succeeds Sir Leslie Boyce. The new mayor is a Conservative member of Parliament—a seat he is permitted to keep while he is lord mayor—and has the curious reputation of having the loudest voice in the House of Commons. His colleagues often twit him about his oratorical power.

Cantor Resting Well

Hollywood, Sept. 30 (AP)—Eddie Cantor was resting well today in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, where he plans to remain at least a week because of what his doctor calls "complete exhaustion." The 60-year-old comic complained of feeling ill Sunday night after finishing his first television show of the season. Dr. Julius Kahn immediately ordered him to the hospital.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 30, 1952

MILITARY VOTER IN NEW YORK

Every member of the armed forces and his or her spouse, parents and children who are with the servicemen and a resident of the same election district in New York State are military voters and are provided with a simple method of obtaining a ballot and voting.

All the military voter has to do is to sign his name, give his New York residence and service address on a printed postcard provided by the Division of Servicemen's Voting and mail it to the division. A written request in any form forwarded to the Secretary of State or to the servicemen's local board of elections containing his signature, New York residence and service address, also is acceptable as an application for a ballot.

Applications must be filed with the Division for Servicemen's Voting in Albany on or before October 23. If not filed before that date, the serviceman and his dependents still may obtain an application and file it personally with his county board of elections on or before Saturday noon, November 1.

The military voter receives a complete ballot containing the name of every candidate for every federal, state and local office and containing every amendment, proposition and question to be voted upon at the general election. The signing of the military voter's name to the oath on the envelope in which his ballot is enclosed, constitute conclusive proof of his literacy.

The law in New York State assures the servicemen and women of the state and also their families that they will be provided the fullest opportunity to vote.

New York State provides a very simple method for servicemen and women of the state to cast their ballot. It is hoped they all take advantage of it and vote in this important presidential election on November 4.

APPEAL TO OLD-AGE GROUP

A vast source of votes that both parties seem to be neglecting these days is that of the older age groups.

Appeals have been aimed at youth, at independents, conservatives and minorities, at the large businessman, small businessman, laborers and housewives. But no one has made a direct appeal to the aged, except for General Eisenhower's endorsement of social security.

This is surprising when one realizes that the proportion of Americans in the older age brackets has been steadily increasing for several years now and the trend promises to continue.

These voters could conceivably hold a balance of power on election day. Of about 100 million Americans eligible to vote, nearly 45 million are over 45. And some 13 million, or slightly more than one in every 10, are past 65, with the number of those 65 and over increasing at the rate of 400,000 a year.

The older voters, particularly those in the 65-and-over bracket, have definite and peculiar problems, mostly economic ones caused by increased living costs. For the past few years, they have been finding it mighty tough to make ends meet.

Too many employers still cling to a hard-and-fast rule against hiring anyone over 45. And those over 65 just haven't a chance in the labor market at all. Back in the 1890's, the proportion of men in this age group still in the labor force was 68 per cent. Today it is only 41 per cent and steadily dwindling.

All of this, plus inflation, has placed our elder citizens in a tight spot financially. A report titled, "The Fact Book About Aging," put out by the Federal Security Agency, points out that in October, 1950, more than half of the families headed by persons 65 and over had cash incomes well below the minimum required to maintain an "adequate" living standard.

At that time, 43 per cent of such families had incomes of less than $1500 a year, 30 per cent had less than $1000, and 15 per cent less than $500, whereas the FSA's "minimum level" of living for an elderly couple ranged in cost from $1600 to $1900 per year, depending upon the location.

While these figures are two years old, the inflationary spiral since the Korean war has only served to make the picture darker instead of brighter.

Living on pensions, federal assistance and other fixed incomes which have not moved upward to meet the increases in living costs, many of our aged are right now being forced to spend their twilight years in the shadow of need—at a time when the nation as a whole is supposed to be enjoying "prosperity."

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE OTHER SIDE

Some time ago, I wrote an article describing a controversy between Roy Brewer, the Hollywood labor leader, for whom I have great respect, and Congressman Donald L. Jackson, of California, whom I also respect as a hard-hitting member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. I did not think, at that time, that what I said about their differences over how a Communist-made picture should be handled would affect the congressman's campaign for re-election.

Mr. Jackson thinks that it has and has written to me setting forth his side of the controversy. As I should like to see Donald L. Jackson re-elected and would vote for him if I lived in his district, I am publishing the gist of his statement:

"With respect to the matter of union policing of the film industry, a very garbled version of my original statement has reached the public print, including your column in question. When the Associated Press asked me for a statement relative to the exclusion of such films as 'Encounter,' I agreed that legislation on the subject was very desirable. However, I pointed out that with the present philosophy in the saddle in Washington it was very doubtful whether or not such legislation could pass the Congress at this time. Solely as an alternative measure I suggested that perhaps, and pending the eventual passing of such legislation, the unions themselves could play a great part in assuring that the films in question did not show before American audiences. To my mind this is the only immediate answer to such films as the one in question. In the normal course of events, 'Encounter' will reach the American screen before the convening of the new Congress. There is no practical method by which legislation can be taken before next January. If the film and others like it are to be prevented from appearing on American screens it is quite obvious to me that the unions themselves must take a stand with respect to the matter.

"It is my hope that in fairness and justice you will see fit to correct the impression given in your column of September 12, indicating that I favor action outside the law in this connection. As you have carried on a fine and continuing battle against Communists, goons and other parasitic growths on the body politic, I have attempted in a small way to play a like role in the legislative body of which I am a member. If the forces to which we are both opposed, and which constitute a common foe succeed in driving a wedge between those who are carrying on the battle we might as well give up the fight and acknowledge ourselves defeated."

This is a difficult time for all who write about political matters because every item is a brick that goes into the structure of election or defeat. I feel that Roy Brewer's effort to keep the Communists out of Hollywood are particularly deserving of commendation because of its statesmanlike breadth. On the other hand, both the Republican and Democratic members of the House Committee on Un-American Activities ought to be re-elected.

This committee has been in existence nearly 15 years. It has been of outstanding service to the American people in its plodding way, examining thousands of witnesses and producing a mosaic of Communist activities in this country. Three official agencies have been effective in this respect: the FBI, the House Committee on Un-American Activities and the McCarran Committee. The House committee has been particularly useful in this respect because it is a continuing body, building a permanent record. I have, for instance, a list, folio size, of 66 pages, showing the names of all those identified as Communists in Hollywood before this committee. You may be sure that all who appear on this list and their friends will be after Jackson's scalp. Whenever the Communists oppose an American, it is generally sound to support him.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities consists of the following Democrats and Republicans, each one of whom is a candidate for re-election this year:

John S. Wood, of Georgia; Francis E. Walter, of Pennsylvania; Morgan M. Moulder, of Missouri; Clyde Doyle, of California; James B. Frazier, Jr., of Tennessee; Harold H. Velde, of Illinois; Bernard W. Kearney, of New York; Donald J. Jackson, of California; Charles E. Potter, of Michigan.

That Body of Yours

THE ELECTRIC SHOCK TREATMENT

About the time that our cental specialists began to worry about the great increase in mental disease, the shock treatment by insulin was discovered and while the number of mental cases has increased owing to the effects of World War 1 and 2 on the members of the armed forces and also on the civilian population, the shock treatment has helped thousands of cases and thus made it unnecessary for them to enter or remain in mental hospitals.

After the insulin shock method, came the metrazol shock method which in turn is helping many mental patients.

Finally has come the electro shock method which is now used more than insulin and metrazol.

Unfortunately in the shock methods there is more or less danger or damage to bones and joints, but, fortunately, the electro shock method is now considered the safest one of shock treatment.

In the Canadian Medical Association Journal, Dr. T. A. Sweet, of Whitby, Ontario, states that the shock treatment in mental disease has been a great boon to the patient, the psychiatrist, the nurse and relatives. It is particularly helpful in the two most prevalent and serious mental illnesses—the depression and schizophrenia—double personality.

"From 1940 onward, metrazol has been supplanted by electric convulsive treatment. The electro shock gives a less severe, more controllable convulsion." There is rarely an initial cry, nausea, vomiting or incontinence of urine. With metrazol, nausea and vomiting were frequent.

"The accepted technique is as follows: The patient either lies on a hard flat surface, or boards are placed beneath the spring and mattress of the treatment bed. A sandbag is placed in the 'small' of the back, a mouth bag placed between the teeth to prevent injury to tongue, lips and teeth as well as prevent dislocation of the jaw. Latterly, instead of a sandbag, a pillow has been used."

With insulin and metrazol, damage to bones and joints occurred in 28 to 32 per cent, whereas with electroshock method, it was first reduced to 6 per cent and in last series of cases there was no damage to any bones or joints. Thirteen thousand shock treatments have been given in this one institution.

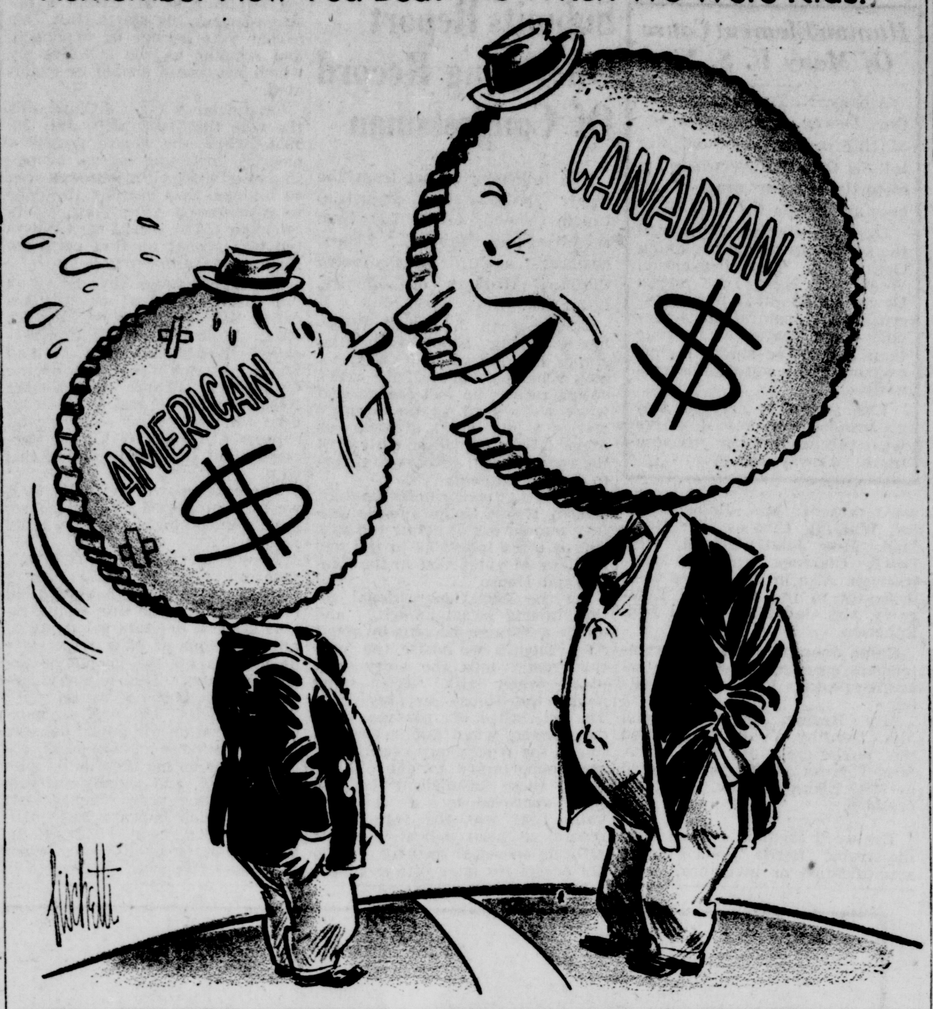
"Remember How You Beat Me When We Were Kids?"



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — General Eisenhower commented ruefully on how easily the public changes its mind and cracked a joke about southern prejudice and the Pope at his private luncheon with Maryland Governor Theodore "The Mouth" McKeldin.

The two men and their wives were served behind the guarded doors of Eisenhower's private railroad car, which comes equipped with its own kitchen and a special chef to cater to the general's tastes.

As the campaign train clickety-clacked across Maryland, Ike got to musing about his evangelical running mate, Senator Dick Nixon. The general remarked that public opinion on Nixon had reversed overnight, and drew a comparison with the late General George Patton. Ike recalled that Patton had been a national heel after he slapped a hospitalized G.I., then overnight became a national hero as he drove spectacularly through Germany.

"And both of them had tears in their eyes when I met them," said Eisenhower.

This reminded McKeldin of a man who had been bitterly opposed to Patton until he learned that old "Blood and Guts" was a Virginian. After that the Virginian became a Patton rooter.

"That reminds me," said the general, still munching on an after-dinner apple, about a confused Virginian who had been listening to anti-Catholic propaganda against Al Smith during the 1928 campaign. "'I'm going to vote against this fellow Smith,' argued the Virginian, 'to keep Mr. Pope from running the country.'

"'But,' argued a Democratic politician, 'Mr. Pope is married to a lady from Virginia.'

"'Oh, well, then, that's different,' replied the southerner."

Note: Mamie Eisenhower had little to say during the luncheon, except to comment that they were both having a good time but were in bad need of a rest.

Harmony Talk

The Eisenhower-Nixon talk was an extremely healthy thing from the point of view of Republican harmony, because signs of bad blood had been developing between the two top GOP running-mates.

Newspapermen covering the Nixon trip either ignored it or played the story down. However, Nixon's aides were boiling at Eisenhower for even entertaining the thought that he be dropped from the ticket. That was why Nixon deliberately ignored the general's telegram requesting him to see him "at once."

Instead, the potential next vice-president of the United States fled not to the Eisenhower train but to Missoula, Mont. And when newsmen queried the Nixon entourage in Los Angeles as to why he wasn't going to see Ike immediately, Nixon's press secretary James Bassett bluntly replied: "We are going to Montana."

Nixon's strategy was first to show that he was not a boy candidate to be pushed around; second, to let public sentiment build up in favor of keeping him on the ticket.

Furthermore, it was no accident that Nixon asked his listeners to send telegrams to the Republican National Committee, not to the general. He knew its members, most of them professionals, would be much more sympathetic. Also Nixon's staff made it all too clear to the newspapermen around them that they bitterly resented the general's telegram from Cleveland that "my personal decision will be based on a personal conclusion."

Personal Meeting

Press Secretary Bassett has been one of the most zealous Nixon aides, and was one of those who virtually took the telephone away from his chief in Portland, Ore., to tell Senator Seaton of Nebraska aboard the Eisenhower train that Ike advisers should get some backbone. This was why Bassett was brought into the picture when the two candidates finally met at Wheeling.

Originally it was arranged for Eisenhower and Nixon to meet in Rooms 782 and 784 in Wheeling's McClure Hotel. Mrs. Eisenhower and her elderly mother, Mrs. Dowd, were down the hall in Rooms 790-792, while the security guard was in Room 780 next to the general. However, when the two candidates learned of the crowds outside the hotel, the two men went to the special train instead.

There they talked for an hour. They did not, however, discuss the $18,000 expense fund which had set the politics of the nation almost on its ear. Not a word was said about it. Their main decision was to concentrate the campaigns on what they decided to call the "big three"—Korea, communism and corruption.

Republican surveys have shown that these three issues have made the biggest impact on the voters, of which the most important is Korea.

Better Press Relations

Only way in which the $18,000 fund was touched upon indirectly was because Eisenhower had been provoked at Nixon for not clearing his first statements. He urged closer press cooperation. And since Ike had an early whistle-stop appearance, Senator Seaton of Nebraska paternally insisted he go to bed.

After this, Bassett and Jim Hagerty, an old campaigner under Governor Dewey, joined the conference.

Bassett, puffing a big cigar, made the compartment resemble the Blackstone Hotel's famous smoke-filled room. Finally candidate Nixon asked Bassett for a cigar, leaned back and smoked what he said was the first cigar of his campaign. He was feeling a lot better.

Note—There have been other cases where the president and vice-president, though members of the same party, clashed. Most famous is probably the case of Calvin Coolidge and Vice-President Charley Dawes. Dawes was even suspected of arriving late for an important tie vote in the Senate in order to thwart his chief in the White House.

Ripley's—Believe It or Not!

The Memory Wizard!

Fernando de Cordoba (1422-1480) is one of the few men who really deserved the description of "Admirable" applied to them by contemporaries. He was gifted with such incredible memory powers that he completely memorized the Bible at the age of 10. By the time he reached the ge of 20, he knew by heart all the extant works of Aristotle, St. Thomas Aquinas, John Duns Scotus, Nicolas de Lira, Hippocrates, Galen, Avicenna and Albertus Magnus. His ability to recite any passage out of this vast library, without an error, was so incredible that for a time he was strongly suspected of witchcraft. In addition, he was a valorous soldier and a philologist who mastered 17 languages. He was also the champion swordsman of his day. In accordance with the custom then prevailing, the Castilian King sent him to Rome to meet all comers. He was the master of them all in the field of the spirit as well as in physical combat. He was a doctor of music, astronomy, medicine, theology and the arts, and a great favorite of Pope Sixtus IV and Alexander VI.

Biggest Campaign Issue Has Hardly Been Touched Upon — Korean Bloodshed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 30—The biggest issue in the campaign has hardly been touched on in the major speeches of the candidates. The controversy over special campaign funds—started by the "left wing"—is a smokescreen designed to divert public attention from the truly important issue which involves the responsibility of the Truman-Acheson administration for the bloodshed in Korea, where more than 100,000 American boys have been killed or wounded in a war that has lasted more than two years.

General Eisenhower has charged that Secretary of State Acheson, by his speech of January 1950, virtually invited Communist aggression in Korea. The secretary in that speech outlined our "defense perimeter" as including only the Philippines, Japan and the Aleutian islands of Alaska. This told Russia the United States itself wouldn't defend Korea. Mr. Acheson accuses General Eisenhower of omitting reference, however, the second part of the 1950 speech in which the secretary said he didn't mean to imply that Korea would be left defenseless. The Acheson 1950 speech said on this point:

"Should such an armed attack occur—one hesitates to say where such an attack could come from—the initial reliance must be on the people attacked to resist it and then upon the commitments of the entire civilized world under the charter of the United Nations which so far has not proved a weak reed to lean on by any people who are determined to protect their independence against outside aggression."

But General Eisenhower was charitable in omitting reference to that particular paragraph because it contains a far worse indictment of the Truman-Acheson administration that the announcement of the limited "defense perimeter." For the Secretary of State was declaring that the UN—which everybody knew had a Security Council that could be paralyzed from taking action by the single veto of Soviet Russia—was going to resist aggression. That wasn't important to the Communists, who for reasons of their own decided to start aggression in Korea, knowing full well that, even if the United Nations did resist, they didn't have the forces at hand to bring about a decision.

If the secretary of state, after a withdrawal of American forces from the Far East, was relying on the UN to protect that area, what steps, if any, did he take in January 1950 to mobilize the members of the United Nations under the "commitments" to which he refers? None whatever. In fact, the United States government itself made no preparations to defend Korea because the joint chiefs of staff, including General Eisenhower, at the time was told that it wasn't American diplomatic policy to protect Korea but that it was up to the UN.

The Republican nominee for the presidency, who was then chief of staff of the army, recommended in 1949 against defense in Korea when the question was put to the joint chiefs. It is important to note the question—it was asked whether, in the event of general war, Korea should be defended. The answer, of course, was then and still is negative. If a world war broke out tomorrow, Korea couldn't be defended, because the military forces and supplies now going there would be more urgently needed elsewhere.

But when the joint chiefs of staff render their advice on a military question, why does the secretary of state feel obligated to make such military information public? Since when does the United States government tell potential enemies what it will or will not defend? Some of the Democratic speakers have said with vehemence that the advice not to defend Korea, as announced by Secretary Acheson, was a "military decision." But since when does the "military" make decisions on foreign policy? The whole MacArthur controversy made clear that the civilian authority accepts and wants to take full responsibility for making foreign policy.

There is a further phase to the colossal blunder which the administration made. It relates to the fact that President Truman took full responsibility for cutting the budget of the military prior to Korea. As a consequence, by June 1950 the navy was in large part put in "mothballs," there were no heavy-bomber forces and no marines in the Far East, and no ships to carry an expeditionary force from Japan while occupation troops and equipment only for a peacetime job, were on duty there.

Under these circumstances, because neither the United States nor its allies had done anything from January till June 1950, when Korean aggression came, the United States was required to bear the full brunt of the burden. That's the tragic mistake of our times. American leadership, insofar as getting help from the allies is concerned, has since failed. More than 100,000 boys have shed their blood.

It was essential, of course, to resist aggression when it came in June 1950, but the president and secretary of state, by their previous policies and open announcements of our "defense perimeter" as well as the withdrawal of our naval forces from the Far East for budgetary reasons, made things easy for the aggressor.

More than 6,000 American boys have been killed and more than 30,000 Americans have been wounded since the so-called "truce" talks began in June 1951. The Communists have successfully prevented the United Nations from applying maximum force while a bleeding war of attrition goes on indefinitely. About 40,000 to 50,000 American boys are being drafted every month. Governor Stevenson says it was a mistake to have crossed the 38th parallel in October 1950, which means that, since the 38th parallel is admittedly no line of defense, American boys would have had to stand up against Communist hordes without a chance to pursue the enemy and repel his aggression.

That's the war mess of Truman and Acheson, and the further mess if Stevenson's announced policy ever goes into effect.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Eleanor Roosevelt writes that public men should not have to list their private assets and account in detail for all their expenditures. This old woman represents a family which would be put to shame even in the depraved moral view of the present day if the enormous take and perquisites which she and her husband, two of their sons, their daughter and a passel of their parasitic kinnery should ever be fully revealed.

Early in her husband's reign he had had the effrontery to impugn the ethics of much better citizens than any of his own sorry tribe because they had carefully, and with precise legal advice, prepared their tax returns in strict accordance with the law. Roosevelt said they had resorted to schemes having "the color of legality." He implied that they had cheated the law by obeying it. The parenthetical fact was and is to this day that the Treasury is far more clever and callous at legal trickery than the ordinary citizen. Years ago, by its unblushing shysterism in trimming victims by sly "interpretations," it forced the taxpayers to hire expert counsel to protect themselves from dirty little rackets having "the color of legality." This ran up the cost of the income tax but, for a long time, the collectors, in their "discretionary" power refused to permit the deduction of the tax accountant's fee as a legitimate expense of an individual citizen. They "ruled" that the expense was "personal" because the citizen could figure out his own if he tried hard enough. The fact is of course that ordinary intelligence cannot cope with the esoteric mysteries of the formula "whichever is greater."

In the furor which ensued, as Roosevelt served his personal malice by revealing, through executive order, for national publication, the tax returns of individuals who had stood up against him, Allen Treadway, a Republican congressman from Massachusetts, tried to get Roosevelt's own and his wife's returns. Roosevelt refused to let the Treasury release them.

Among many other sordid reasons why, this greedy faker would have had to show much earlier than ultimately the fact was shown, that it took a bribe of $200,000, laid on the line by John J. Raskob, to persuade him to run for governor in 1928. Roosevelt had a book loan from his own mother to buy and promote his commercial real estate exploitation at Warm Springs, which has so long been falsely represented as a charity. He saw a chance to make another rich man pay his commitment to his mother, and refused to accept the nomination until the money was guaranteed to his satisfaction. He was his mother's principal legatee, but ethics were the least of their problems and he took all he could from whatever source while the grabbing was good and so did she and the rest of them.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 30, 1952

MILITARY VOTER IN NEW YORK

Every member of the armed forces and his or her spouse, parents and children who are with the servicemen and a resident of the same election district in New York State are military voters and are provided with a simple method of obtaining a ballot and voting.

All the military voter has to do is to sign his name, give his New York residence and service address on a printed postcard provided by the Division of Servicemen's Voting and mail it to the division. A written request in any form forwarded to the Secretary of State or to the servicemen's local board of elections containing his signature, New York residence and service address, also is acceptable as an application for a ballot.

Applications must be filed with the Division for Servicemen's Voting in Albany on or before October 23. If not filed before that date, the serviceman and his dependents still may obtain an application and file it personally with his county board of elections on or before Saturday noon, November 1.

The military voter receives a complete ballot containing the name of every candidate for every federal, state and local office and containing every amendment, proposition and question to be voted upon at the general election. The signing of the military voter's name to the oath on the envelope in which his ballot is enclosed, constitute conclusive proof of his literacy.

The law in New York State assures the servicemen and women of the state and also their families that they will be provided the fullest opportunity to vote.

New York State provides a very simple method for servicemen and women of the state to cast their ballot. It is hoped they all take advantage of it and vote in this important presidential election on November 4.

APPEAL TO OLD-AGE GROUP

A vast source of votes that both parties seem to be neglecting these days is that of the older age groups.

Appeals have been aimed at youth, at independents, conservatives and minorities, at the large businessman, small businessman, laborers and housewives. But no one has made a direct appeal to the aged, except for General Eisenhower's endorsement of social security.

This is surprising when one realizes that the proportion of Americans in the older age brackets has been steadily increasing for several years now and the trend promises to continue.

These voters could conceivably hold a balance of power on election day. Of about 100 million Americans eligible to vote, nearly 45 million are over 45. And some 13 million, or slightly more than one in every 10, are past 65, with the number of those 65 and over increasing at the rate of 400,000 a year.

The older voters, particularly those in the 65-and-over bracket, have definite and peculiar problems, mostly economic ones caused by increased living costs. For the past few years, they have been finding it mighty tough to make ends meet.

Too many employers still cling to a hard-and-fast rule against hiring anyone over 45. And those over 65 just haven't a chance in the labor market at all. Back in the 1890's, the proportion of men in this age group still in the labor force was 68 per cent. Today it is only 41 per cent and steadily dwindling.

All of this, plus inflation, has placed our elder citizens in a tight spot financially. A report titled, "The Fact Book About Aging," put out by the Federal Security Agency, points out that in October, 1950, more than half of the families headed by persons 65 and over had cash incomes well below the minimum required to maintain an "adequate" living standard.

At that time, 43 per cent of such families had incomes of less than $1500 a year, 30 per cent had less than $1000, and 15 per cent less than $500, whereas the FSA's "minimum level" of living for an elderly couple ranged in cost from $1600 to $1900 per year, depending upon the location.

While these figures are two years old, the inflationary spiral since the Korean war has only served to make the picture darker instead of brighter.

Living on pensions, federal assistance and other fixed incomes which have not moved upward to meet the increases in living costs, many of our aged are right now being forced to spend their twilight years in the shadow of need—at a time when the nation as a whole is supposed to be enjoying "prosperity."

'These Days'

THE OTHER SIDE

Some time ago, I wrote an article describing a controversy between Roy Brewer, the Hollywood labor leader, for whom I have great respect, and Congressman Donald L. Jackson, of California, whom I also respect as a hard-hitting member of the House Committee on Un-American Activities. I did not think, at that time, that what I said about their differences over how a Communist-made picture should be handled would affect the congressman's campaign for re-election.

Mr. Jackson thinks that it has and has written to me setting forth his side of the controversy. As I should like to see Donald L. Jackson re-elected and would vote for him if I lived in his district, I am publishing the gist of his statement:

"With respect to the matter of union policing of the film industry, a very garbled version of my original statement has reached the public print, including your column in question. When the Associated Press asked me for a statement relative to the exclusion of such films as 'Encounter,' I agreed that legislation on the subject was very desirable. However, I pointed out that with the present philosophy in the saddle in Washington it was very doubtful whether or not such legislation could pass the Congress at this time. Solely as an alternative measure I suggested that perhaps, and pending the eventual passing of such legislation, the unions themselves could play a great part in assuring that the films in question did not show before American audiences. To my mind this is the only immediate answer to such films as the one in question. In the normal course of events, 'Encounter' will reach the American screen before the convening of the new Congress. There is no practical method by which legislation can be taken before next January. If the film and others like it are to be prevented from appearing on American screens it is quite obvious to me that the unions themselves must take a stand with respect to the matter.

"It is my hope that in fairness and justice you will see fit to correct the impression given in your column of September 12, indicating that I favor action outside the law in this connection. As you have carried on a fine and continuing battle against Communists, goons and other parasitic growths on the body politic, I have attempted in a small way to play a like role in the legislative body of which I am a member. If the forces to which we are both opposed, and which constitute a common foe succeed in driving a wedge between those who are carrying on the battle we might as well give up the fight and acknowledge ourselves defeated."

This is a difficult time for all who write about political matters because every item is a brick that goes into the structure of election or defeat. I feel that Roy Brewer's effort to keep the Communists out of Hollywood are particularly deserving of commendation because of its statesmanlike breadth. On the other hand, both the Republican and Democratic members of the House Committee on Un-American Activities ought to be re-elected.

This committee has been in existence nearly 15 years. It has been of outstanding service to the American people in its plodding way, examining thousands of witnesses and producing a mosaic of Communist activities in this country. Three official agencies have been effective in this respect: the FBI, the House Committee on Un-American Activities and the McCarran Committee. The House committee has been particularly useful in this respect because it is a continuing body, building a permanent record. I have, for instance, a list, folio size, of 66 pages, showing the names of all those identified as Communists in Hollywood before this committee. You may be sure that all who appear on this list and their friends will be after Jackson's scalp. Whenever the Communists oppose an American, it is generally sound to support him.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities consists of the following Democrats and Republicans, each one of whom is a candidate for re-election this year:

John S. Wood, of Georgia; Francis E. Walter, of Pennsylvania; Morgan M. Moulder, of Missouri; Clyde Doyle, of California; James B. Frazier, Jr., of Tennessee; Harold H. Velde, of Illinois; Bernard W. Kearney, of New York; Donald J. Jackson, of California; Charles E. Potter, of Michigan.

THE ELECTRIC SHOCK TREATMENT

About the time that our cental specialists began to worry about the great increase in mental disease, the shock treatment by insulin was discovered and while the number of mental cases has increased owing to the effects of World War 1 and 2 on the members of the armed forces and also on the civilian population, the shock treatment has helped thousands of cases and thus made it unnecessary for them to enter or remain in mental hospitals.

After the insulin shock method, came the metrazol shock method which in turn is helping many mental patients.

Finally has come the electro shock method which is now used more than insulin and metrazol.

Unfortunately in the shock methods there is more or less danger or damage to bones and joints, but, fortunately, the electro shock method is now considered the safest one of shock treatment.

In the Canadian Medical Association Journal, Dr. T. A. Sweet, of Whitby, Ontario, states that the shock treatment in mental disease has been a great boon to the patient, the psychiatrist, the nurse and relatives. It is particularly helpful in the two most prevalent and serious mental illnesses—the depression and schizophrenia—double personality.

"From 1940 onward, metrazol has been supplanted by electric convulsive treatment. The electro shock gives a less severe, more controllable convulsion." There is rarely an initial cry, nausea, vomiting or incontinence of urine. With metrazol, nausea and vomiting were frequent.

"The accepted technique is as follows: The patient either lies on a hard flat surface, or boards are placed beneath the spring and mattress of the treatment bed. A sandbag is placed in the 'small' of the back, a mouth bag placed between the teeth to prevent injury to tongue, lips and teeth as well as prevent dislocation of the jaw. Latterly, instead of a sandbag, a pillow has been used."

With insulin and metrazol, damage to bones and joints occurred in 28 to 32 per cent, whereas with electroshock method, it was first reduced to 6 per cent and in last series of cases there was no damage to any bones or joints. Thirteen thousand shock treatments have been given in this one institution.

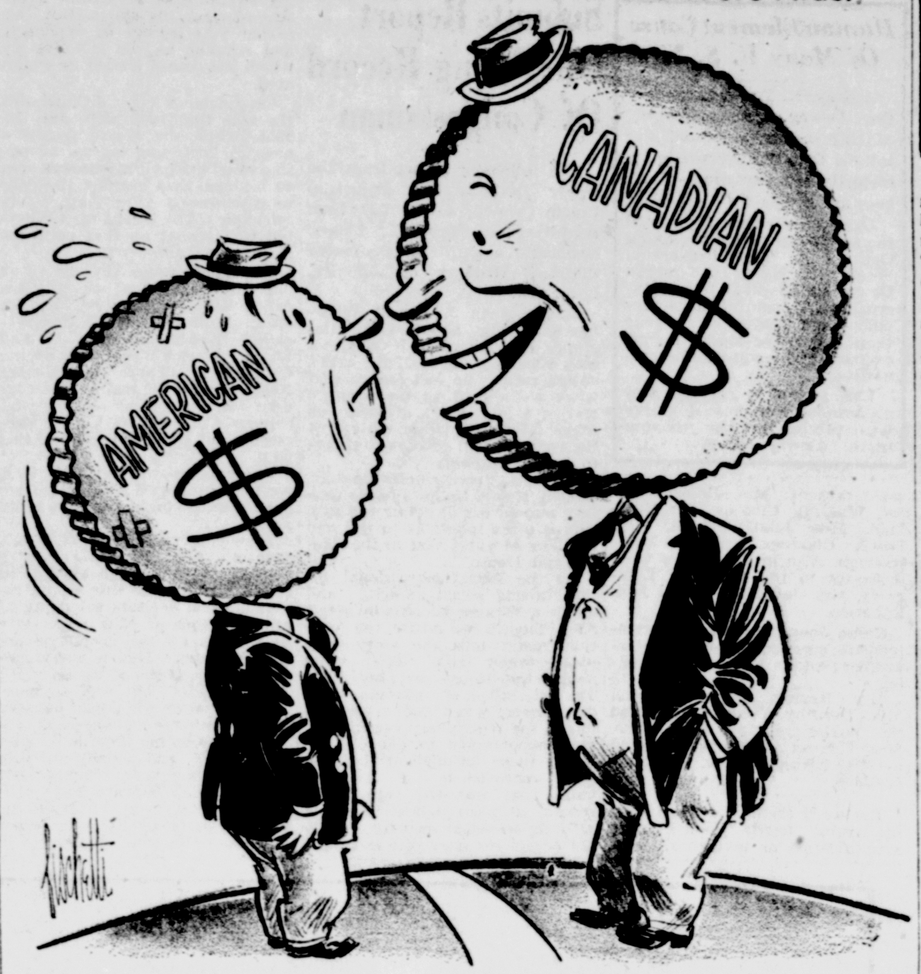
"Remember How You Beat Me When We Were Kids?"



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington — General Eisenhower commented ruefully on how easily the public changes its mind and cracked a joke about southern prejudice and the Pope at his private luncheon with Maryland Governor Theodore "The Mouth" McKeldin.

The two men and their wives were served behind the guarded doors of Eisenhower's private railroad car, which comes equipped with its own kitchen and a special chef to cater to the general's tastes.

As the campaign train clickety-clacked across Maryland, Ike got to musing about his evangelical running mate, Senator Dick Nixon. The general remarked that public opinion on Nixon had reversed overnight, and drew a comparison with the late General George Patton. Ike recalled that Patton had been a national heel after he slapped a hospitalized G.I., then overnight became a national hero as he drove spectacularly through Germany.

"And both of them had tears in their eyes when I met them," said Eisenhower.

This reminded McKeldin of a man who had been bitterly opposed to Patton until he learned that old "Blood and Guts" was a Virginian. After that the Virginian became a Patton rooter.

"That reminds me," said the general, still munching on an after-dinner apple, about a confused Virginian who had been listening to anti-Catholic propaganda against Al Smith during the 1928 campaign. "'I'm going to vote against this fellow Smith,' argued the Virginian, 'to keep Mr. Pope from running the country.'

"'But,' argued a Democratic politician, 'Mr. Pope is married to a lady from Virginia.'

"'Oh, well, then, that's different,' replied the southerner."

Note: Mamie Eisenhower had little to say during the luncheon, except to comment that they were both having a good time but were in bad need of a rest.

Harmony Talk

The Eisenhower-Nixon talk was an extremely healthy thing from the point of view of Republican harmony, because signs of bad blood had been developing between the two top GOP running-mates.

Newspapermen covering the Nixon trip either ignored it or played the story down. However, Nixon's aides were boiling at Eisenhower for even entertaining the thought that he be dropped from the ticket. That was why Nixon deliberately ignored the general's telegram requesting him to see him "at once."

Instead, the potential next vice-president of the United States fled not to the Eisenhower train but to Missoula, Mont. And when newsmen queried the Nixon entourage in Los Angeles as to why he wasn't going to see Ike immediately, Nixon's press secretary James Bassett bluntly replied: "We are going to Montana."

Nixon's strategy was first to show that he was not a boy candidate to be pushed around; second, to let public sentiment build up in favor of keeping him on the ticket.

Furthermore, it was no accident that Nixon asked his listeners to send telegrams to the Republican National Committee, not to the general. He knew its members, most of them professionals, would be much more sympathetic. Also Nixon's staff made it all too clear to the newspapermen around them that they bitterly resented the general's telegram from Cleveland that "my personal decision will be based on a personal conclusion."

Personal Meeting

Press Secretary Bassett has been one of the most zealous Nixon aides, and was one of those who virtually took the telephone away from his chief in Portland, Ore., to tell Senator Seaton of Nebraska aboard the Eisenhower train that Ike advisers should get some backbone. This was why Bassett was brought into the picture when the two candidates finally met at Wheeling.

Originally it was arranged for Eisenhower and Nixon to meet in Rooms 782 and 784 in Wheeling's McClure Hotel. Mrs. Eisenhower and her elderly mother, Mrs. Dowd, were down the hall in Rooms 790-792, while the security guard was in Room 780 next to the general. However, when the two candidates learned of the crowds outside the hotel, the two men went to the special train instead.

There they talked for an hour. They did not, however, discuss the $18,000 expense fund which had set the politics of the nation almost on its ear. Not a word was said about it. Their main decision was to concentrate the campaigns on what they decided to call the "big three"—Korea, communism and corruption.

Republican surveys have shown that these three issues have made the biggest impact on the voters, of which the most important is Korea.

Better Press Relations

Only way in which the $18,000 fund was touched upon indirectly was because Eisenhower had been provoked at Nixon for not clearing his first statements. He urged closer press cooperation. And since Ike had an early whistle-stop appearance, Senator Seaton of Nebraska paternally insisted he go to bed.

After this, Bassett and Jim Hagerty, an old campaigner under Governor Dewey, joined the conference.

Bassett, puffing a big cigar, made the compartment resemble the Blackstone Hotel's famous smoke-filled room. Finally candidate Nixon asked Bassett for a cigar, leaned back and smoked what he said was the first cigar of his campaign. He was feeling a lot better.

Note—There have been other cases where the president and vice-president, though members of the same party, clashed. Most famous is probably the case of Calvin Coolidge and Vice-President Charley Dawes. Dawes was even suspected of arriving late for an important tie vote in the Senate in order to thwart his chief in the White House.

The Memory Wizard!

Fernando de Cordoba (1422-1480) is one of the few men who really deserved the description of "Admirable" applied to them by contemporaries. He was gifted with such incredible memory powers that he completely memorized the Bible at the age of 10. By the time he reached the ge of 20, he knew by heart all the extant works of Aristotle, St. Thomas Aquinas, John Duns Scotus, Nicolas de Lira, Hippocrates, Galen, Avicenna and Albertus Magnus. His ability to recite any passage out of this vast library, without an error, was so incredible that for a time he was strongly suspected of witchcraft. In addition, he was a valorous soldier and a philologist who mastered 17 languages. He was also the champion swordsman of his day. In accordance with the custom then prevailing, the Castilian King sent him to Rome to meet all comers. He was the master of them all in the field of the spirit as well as in physical combat. He was a doctor of music, astronomy, medicine, theology and the arts, and a great favorite of Pope Sixtus IV and Alexander VI.

Biggest Campaign Issue Has Hardly Been Touched Upon — Korean Bloodshed

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Sept. 30—The biggest issue in the campaign has hardly been touched on in the major speeches of the candidates. The controversy over special campaign funds—started by the "left wing"—is a smokescreen designed to divert public attention from the truly important issue which involves the responsibility of the Truman-Acheson administration for the bloodshed in Korea, where more than 100,000 American boys have been killed or wounded in a war that has lasted more than two years.

General Eisenhower has charged that Secretary of State Acheson, by his speech of January 1950, virtually invited Communist aggression in Korea. The secretary in that speech outlined our "defense perimeter" as including only the Philippines, Japan and the Aleutian islands of Alaska. This told Russia the United States itself wouldn't defend Korea. Mr. Acheson accuses General Eisenhower of omitting reference, however, the second part of the 1950 speech in which the secretary said he didn't mean to imply that Korea would be left defenseless. The Acheson 1950 speech said on this point:

"Should such an armed attack occur—one hesitates to say where such an attack could come from—the initial reliance must be on the people attacked to resist it and then upon the commitments of the entire civilized world under the charter of the United Nations which so far has not proved a weak reed to lean on by any people who are determined to protect their independence against outside aggression."

But General Eisenhower was charitable in omitting reference to that particular paragraph because it contains a far worse indictment of the Truman-Acheson administration that the announcement of the limited "defense perimeter." For the Secretary of State was declaring that the UN—which everybody knew had a Security Council that could be paralyzed from taking action by the single veto of Soviet Russia—was going to resist aggression. That wasn't important to the Communists, who for reasons of their own decided to start aggression in Korea, knowing full well that, even if the United Nations did resist, they didn't have the forces at hand to bring about a decision.

If the secretary of state, after a withdrawal of American forces from the Far East, was relying on the UN to protect that area, what steps, if any, did he take in January 1950 to mobilize the members of the United Nations under the "commitments" to which he refers? None whatever. In fact, the United States government itself made no preparations to defend Korea because the joint chiefs of staff, including General Eisenhower, at the time was told that it wasn't American diplomatic policy to protect Korea but that it was up to the UN.

The Republican nominee for the presidency, who was then chief of staff of the army, recommended in 1949 against defense in Korea when the question was put to the joint chiefs. It is important to note the question—it was asked whether, in the event of general war, Korea should be defended. The answer, of course, was then and still is negative. If a world war broke out tomorrow, Korea couldn't be defended, because the military forces and supplies now going there would be more urgently needed elsewhere.

But when the joint chiefs of staff render their advice on a military question, why does the secretary of state feel obligated to make such military information public? Since when does the United States government tell potential enemies what it will or will not defend? Some of the Democratic speakers have said with vehemence that the advice not to defend Korea, as announced by Secretary Acheson, was a "military decision." But since when does the "military" make decisions on foreign policy? The whole MacArthur controversy made clear that the civilian authority accepts and wants to take full responsibility for making foreign policy.

There is a further phase to the colossal blunder which the administration made. It relates to the fact that President Truman took full responsibility for cutting the budget of the military prior to Korea. As a consequence, by June 1950 the navy was in large part put in "mothballs," there were no heavy-bomber forces and no marines in the Far East, and no ships to carry an expeditionary force from Japan while occupation troops and equipment only for a peacetime job, were on duty there.

Under these circumstances, because neither the United States nor its allies had done anything from January till June 1950, when Korean aggression came, the United States was required to bear the full brunt of the burden. That's the tragic mistake of our times. American leadership, insofar as getting help from the allies is concerned, has since failed. More than 100,000 boys have shed their blood.

It was essential, of course, to resist aggression when it came in June 1950, but the president and secretary of state, by their previous policies and open announcements of our "defense perimeter" as well as the withdrawal of our naval forces from the Far East for budgetary reasons, made things easy for the aggressor.

More than 6,000 American boys have been killed and more than 30,000 Americans have been wounded since the so-called "truce" talks began in June 1951. The Communists have successfully prevented the United Nations from applying maximum force while a bleeding war of attrition goes on indefinitely. About 40,000 to 50,000 American boys are being drafted every month. Governor Stevenson says it was a mistake to have crossed the 38th parallel in October 1950, which means that, since the 38th parallel is admittedly no line of defense, American boys would have had to stand up against Communist hordes without a chance to pursue the enemy and repel his aggression.

That's the war mess of Truman and Acheson, and the further mess if Stevenson's announced policy ever goes into effect.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Eleanor Roosevelt writes that public men should not have to list their private assets and account in detail for all their expenditures. This old woman represents a family which would be put to shame even in the depraved moral view of the present day if the enormous take and perquisites which she and her husband, two of their sons, their daughter and a passel of their parasitic kinnery should ever be fully revealed.

Early in her husband's reign he had had the effrontery to impugn the ethics of much better citizens than any of his own sorry tribe because they had carefully, and with precise legal advice, prepared their tax returns in strict accordance with the law. Roosevelt said they had resorted to schemes having "the color of legality." He implied that they had cheated the law by obeying it. The parenthetical fact was and is to this day that the Treasury is far more clever and callous at legal trickery than the ordinary citizen. Years ago, by its unblushing shysterism in trimming victims by sly "interpretations," it forced the taxpayers to hire expert counsel to protect themselves from dirty little rackets having "the color of legality." This ran up the cost of the income tax but, for a long time, the collectors, in their "discretionary" power refused to permit the deduction of the tax accountant's fee as a legitimate expense of an individual citizen. They "ruled" that the expense was "personal" because the citizen could figure out his own if he tried hard enough. The fact is of course that ordinary intelligence cannot cope with the esoteric mysteries of the formula "whichever is greater."

In the furor which ensued, as Roosevelt served his personal malice by revealing, through executive order, for national publication, the tax returns of individuals who had stood up against him, Allen Treadway, a Republican congressman from Massachusetts, tried to get Roosevelt's own and his wife's returns. Roosevelt refused to let the Treasury release them.

Among many other sordid reasons why, this greedy faker would have had to show much earlier than ultimately the fact was shown, that it took a bribe of $200,000, laid on the line by John J. Raskob, to persuade him to run for governor in 1928. Roosevelt had a book loan from his own mother to buy and promote his commercial real estate exploitation at Warm Springs, which has so long been falsely represented as a charity. He saw a chance to make another rich man pay his commitment to his mother, and refused to accept the nomination until the money was guaranteed to his satisfaction. He was his mother's principal legatee, but ethics were the least of their problems and he took all he could from whatever source while the grabbing was good and so did she and the rest of them.

across the river from Hyde Park, persisted in the effort of a small group of Republican congressmen to make these parasites lay it on the line along with the citizens of lesser privilege but finer stuff. He never succeeded. Jimmy's return was tossed on a table for a quick glimpse, and then withdrawn. Treadway complained that this was a rush-act deliberately hatched to make it seem that Jimmy had come clean when the tax returns of others were picked apart by Treasury experts for days and days. Jimmy was the only member of the family whose return was exposed to even a passing glance.

Senator Dick Nixon's revelation of his personal, official and political income and expenditures naturally offends La Boca Grande's shrewd sense of privacy. She flaunted herself in startling associations and activities, including a shocking abuse of the Red Cross for the personal pleasure of a social visit to her friend, Joe Lash, in the Pacific, but she has always been angrily demure about her rakeoff in money and goods of great value derived from the solemn mandates of the faceless man. In fact, although she publicly said she was reimbursing the Red Cross for the cost of her personal call on her ex-Communist friend, she never did disclose the amount. The Red Cross, which has fallen on evil days and should be called to account and reformed, has guarded her secret. So we don't really know whether she gave the Red Cross ten dollars and there is no persuasive reason to believe that anyone as avid for private profit was guilty of excess here. Moreover, it was not the Red Cross but the United States Treasury which stood the great cost of this whooping descent on a cozy little garrison long after the marines had won it from the Japs.

Her own income includes the boodle from lectures on a series of tours arranged by a professional booker, rakeoff from newspaper and magazine byproduct and books which purport to tell all but don't. She got an aquamarine worth $4,000 from the Brazilian government and a mink coat worth $8,000 which she accepted in the name of the women of the United States. Her friend Earl Miller, a New York state cop, an apostate acrobat with a limousine chassis somehow acquired for a niche in his home in a suburb of Albany a precious crystal urn which the government of Finland had presented to Roosevelt's mother at the New York World Fair. And, in one bizarre exploit, a New York advertising agency, seeking the "coffee account" of the Brazilian government, offered withoutout the slightest reservation not only the president's wife as the star of a radio season, but the facilities and cooperation of the State Department, without reservation. The U. S. Treasury staked the coffee countries to a loan for this campaign.

Elliott's dead-beat loans from a group of suckers, amounting, as far as we were allowed to know to about $350,000, were never scrutinized by the House Ways and Means Committee which had the difficult duty of writing a white-wash under the chairmanship of old Muley Doughton, of South Carolina. Instead, the Treasury made a mincing obsequious inspection conducted by an agent who first apologized to the warrior prince and asked him to list his war medals for the record. The committee based its report entirely on this affectionate scenario, heartily vindicating Elliott and his old man.

This is by no means a thorough review of the rackets which this unblushing gang of profiteers operated from the White House down to the day the old man croaked and thereafter from Hyde Park. It is only enough to suggest the crying need for the type of information which La Boca for obvious reasons deems inappropriate.

In 1940, Wendel Willkie needled the Roosevelt family just one jab. He said that if elected he would file a detailed statement of all his assets and the assets of his wife and son and would file a similar statement on leaving the job. Their hides were so tough that they didn't even twitch. Willkie never bothered to say it again.

Temperature in the 90's were reported yesterday in southern Illinois and Missouri, with record readings for the date in many areas. It was 95.5 in St. Louis and 93 in Springfield, Ill. The country's top mark was 102 at Yuma, Ariz.

52nd Anniversary Is Celebrated by Painters' Union

At a dinner in Judie's Monday night, Local 255, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America, (AFL), celebrated its 52nd anniversary and presented 25-year buttons to two members, Joseph Netherwood, Sr., president of the local, and Frank Pieczenske.

More than 60 union painters, their wives and guests witnessed the presentation of the quarter century insignia by the general vice president of the painters' international, Michael Di Silvestro of Williston Park, L. I., who complimented Netherwood and Pieczenske. "Your record shows you've always been good union members," he said and he handed them their buttons, "and the example you have set serves to strengthen the organization, which promotes better working conditions for members of your craft."

Di Silvestro urged the painters to keep their organization strong and to continue their strides toward advancement in the trade. The same sentiments were voiced by Samuel Doyle, president of the Ulster and Sullivan Building Trades Council with which Local 255 is affiliated.

Netherwood Proud

President Netherwood as a recipient of one of the quarter century buttons expressed his appreciation and that of his union brother, Frank Pieczenske, who was absent on account of illness. Netherwood said he would proudly wear the memento as a remembrance of the benefits that go with association in the painters' union.

Stephen Gill, as business agent for the painters, praised the men for their cooperation with his office and complimented them on their skill and artistry in handling jobs for contractors who bid in big projects around the area. Joseph Yerry, Sam Sperling and Leo Yonetti were among the contractors present at the dinner.

At the end of the dinner, talented members of the union sang solos, duets and quartets as they were introduced by Billy Dekoski, one of this sections better known tenors, who served as master of ceremonies for the entertainment part of the program.

Talented Painters

There was generous applause as the singers finished their renditions. Roy Van Buren, William Reilly, William DuBois and Al Van Hoevenberg favored the assemblage with The Old Oaken Bucket; Lloyd Spearman and Joseph Yerry teamed up in a yodeling duet; Harry Schryver, Patsy Morano and Joe Netherwood were a delightful trio singing You're Too Fat for Me, which they humorously dedicated to Business Agent Steve Gill. Harold Keating, a guest from Poughkeepsie local recited a favorite, My Bristles Are Worn to the Handle. Accompaniment was by Dixie Brand, pianist at Judie's.

Mayor and Fire Chief To Attend Conference

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk and Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy will attend a joint legislative committee meeting in Albany Thursday for a discussion of housing and the multiple dwelling law.

The new law will impose stricter fire regulations on dwelings which house more than one family in the near future, and its provisions will be explained at the Albany session. State Senator MacNeil Mitchell will preside.

Had Walking Arsenal

Boston, Sept. 30 (AP)—State police caught up with a walking arsenal last night at Logan Airport. They arrested two juveniles, aged 14 and 15, as the youngsters stepped off a New York plane and reported the boys carried two suitcases containing: Two homemade .22 caliber pistols, a muzzle-loading flintlock pistol, a box of .22 caliber bullets, some 12 gauge shotgun shells, a blackjack, two jackknives and an ounce of material the boys said was homemade gun powder.

Mystery Is Solved

Tokyo, Sept. 30 (AP)—Japan's foreign office said today the mystery of "Radio Free Japan" had been solved. The Communist propaganda broadcasts in the Japanese language originate in Peiping, capital of Communist China, a foreign office spokesman said.

CAMEL

the pick of these pennant-winning players for Mildness for Flavor!

CAMELS ARE AMERICA'S most popular cigarette—and they're first choice with many of the Big League stars. Camels have the two things that smokers want most—mildness and flavor, pack after pack. Try Camels for 30 days and see how you keep right on enjoying their rich, full flavor and their cool, cool mildness, week in and week out!

ALLIE REYNOLDS has been smoking Camels for many years. Allie says, "I know how mild a cigarette can be. It's Camels all the way for me!"

BILLY COX, Dodger infielder, tried out different brands and has this to say about cigarettes: "My choice for steady smoking is mild, flavorful Camels!"

HANK BAUER, Yankee outfielder, says, "Camels have everything I want in a cigarette—mildness and swell taste! My own 30-Day Test proved that to me!"

"PREACHER" ROE, Brooklyn left-hander, tried different brands. Says "Preach", "I picked Camels for steady smoking! They're mild and have the flavor, too!"

VIC RASCHI, "The Springfield Rifle" of the New York Yankees, says, "Camels are my choice for mildness every time. And Camels' rich flavor doesn't tire my taste."

CLEM LABINE, Dodger youngster with a lot of promise, tried Camels for 30 days. He found that, for steady smoking pleasure, Camels are just right.

MICKEY MANTLE, youthful star of the Yankees, follows the lead of veteran teammates. He gave Camels a try-out for 30 days, then stayed right with them.

CARL FURILLO has saved and won many games for the Dodgers. After a game, he always likes to light up a Camel. Their mildness and flavor suit him to a "T."

EDDIE LOPAT, Yankee southpaw has tried different cigarettes. Says Ed: "I picked Camels for mildness and flavor! No other cigarette gives me so much pleasure!"

As Pegler Sees It

across the river from Hyde Park, persisted in the effort of a small group of Republican congressmen to make these parasites lay it on the line along with the citizens of lesser privilege but finer stuff. He never succeeded. Jimmy's return was tossed on a table for a quick glimpse, and then withdrawn. Treadway complained that this was a rush-act deliberately hatched to make it seem that Jimmy had come clean when the tax returns of others were picked apart by Treasury experts for days and days. Jimmy was the only member of the family whose return was exposed to even a passing glance.

Senator Dick Nixon's revelation of his personal, official and political income and expenditures naturally offends La Boca Grande's shrewd sense of privacy. She flaunted herself in startling associations and activities, including a shocking abuse of the Red Cross for the personal pleasure of a social visit to her friend, Joe Lash, in the Pacific, but she has always been angrily demure about her rakeoff in money and goods of great value derived from the solemn mandates of the faceless man. In fact, although she publicly said she was reimbursing the Red Cross for the cost of her personal call on her ex-Communist friend, she never did disclose the amount. The Red Cross, which has fallen on evil days and should be called to account and reformed, has guarded her secret. So we don't really know whether she gave the Red Cross ten dollars and there is no persuasive reason to believe that anyone as avid for private profit was guilty of excess here. Moreover, it was not the Red Cross but the United States Treasury which stood the great cost of this whooping descent on a cozy little garrison long after the marines had won it from the Japs.

Her own income includes the boodle from lectures on a series of tours arranged by a professional booker, rakeoff from newspaper and magazine byproduct and books which purport to tell all but don't. She got an aquamarine worth $4,000 from the Brazilian government and a mink coat worth $8,000 which she accepted in the name of the women of the United States. Her friend Earl Miller, a New York state cop, an apostate acrobat with a limousine chassis somehow acquired for a niche in his home in a suburb of Albany a precious crystal urn which the government of Finland had presented to Roosevelt's mother at the New York World Fair. And, in one bizarre exploit, a New York advertising agency, seeking the "coffee account" of the Brazilian government, offered withoutout the slightest reservation not only the president's wife as the star of a radio season but the facilities and cooperation of the State Department, without reservation. The U. S. Treasury staked the coffee countries to a loan for this campaign.

Elliott's dead-beat loans from a group of suckers, amounting, as far as we were allowed to know to about $350,000, were never scrutinized by the House Ways and Means Committee which had the difficult duty of writing a white-wash under the chairmanship of old Muley Doughton, of South Carolina. Instead, the Treasury made a mincing obsequious inspection conducted by an agent who first apologized to the warrior prince and asked him to list his war medals for the record. The committee based its report entirely on this affectionate scenario, heartily vindicating Elliott and his old man.

This is by no means a thorough review of the rackets which this unblushing gang of profiteers operated from the White House down to the day the old man croaked and thereafter from Hyde Park. It is only enough to suggest the crying need for the type of information which La Boca for obvious reasons deems inappropriate.

In 1940, Wendel Willkie needled the Roosevelt family just one jab. He said that if elected he would file a detailed statement of all his assets and the assets of his wife and son and would file a similar statement on leaving the job. Their hides were so tough that they didn't even twitch. Willkie never bothered to say it again.

Shows Little Gain

San Francisco, Sept. 30 (AP)—Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, in Franklin Hospital since Aug. 16 for treatment of a skin disorder, is showing little improvement. K. W. Junior Robs Safe

Herrin, Ill. (AP)—This Southern Illinois city had a 7-year-old safe robber on its hands recently. Police Chief Blaine Maddox gave this account: A small boy took a seat in a shoe store. Clerks figured he was waiting for his mother and ignored him. He went to the store's opened safe, took $317 and walked out unchallenged. He bought a wrist watch and a wallet, tried to give money away on Park Avenue and went to a movie where he flashed some $20s. Police, acting on a tip, made a hectic search of the movie house, finally finding the boy under a seat. The shoe store did not note its loss until the day's end. The chief recovered $308 and called juvenile authorities to take over.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Program Book Is Designed for Play

Woodstock, Sept. 29—A handsome souvenir program has been designed by Al and Rosemary Bare for the Woodstock Foundation's annual play Ten Nights in a Barroom to be presented, Friday and Saturday nights, Oct. 10 and 11 at the Woodstock Playhouse.

The four-page booklet, in four colors, allows for a limited number of personalized ads by local merchants. Rosemary Bare has made delightful sketches of personalized ads for local merchants which require only their signature.

Those who have seen the program say that it is one of the finest programs put out anywhere, and one that will reflect great credit on the community.

With the play actually only two weeks away, preparations are now moving at a swift pace. Al Bare, who designed the scenery, spent last Saturday night painting sets for the show. Fritzi Striebel and Marianne Mecklem assisted him.

Margot King will be chairman of the ticket committee for the show and Joe DeNapoli will serve in the box-office.

The Eaves Costume Company in New York, which regularly outfits Broadway shows, will supply the costumes for Ten Nights in a Barroom. Fritzi Striebel and Zella Pike have measured the members of the cast and are attending to this chore.

Eleanor Edwards is breathing freely again after assembling the lists for the 1,600 letters sent out by the Foundation asking for funds, and mailing the letters.

Adults, Children, Are Captivated By Marionettes

Woodstock, Sept. 29—A thoroughly delightful evening, a combination of whimsey and mystery, was provided last Thursday night at the Woodstock School when the Berkeley Marionettes presented their new production, The Mysterious Island. Under the guidance of Florence and Stephen Gitnick, aided by Jan Marasek and John Loftus, the appealingly life-like little puppets enacted a story of adventure and thrills.

At the fair grounds on the afternoon of the day that a balloonist plans to go up in huge balloon, two mischievous little boys, Frankie Wilson and Herbie Scott, after encountering disastrously a fortune teller, become trapped in the basket of the balloon and take off through the skies to the South Pacific.

Landing on a small, rocky island, the boys meet an old sailor castaway and pirate, and his servant, General Grant, a loveable little monkey who lives in the jungle on the island. When earthquake and fire strike the island, the two boys, whose curiosity has led them to a secret underground passage, the old sailor and his servant, are aided in their escape by the mysterious and colorful Captain Nemo.

The play was given a warm reception by the large audience of children and adults as well, and some of the youngest members of the audience, the puppets had seemed so real that they begged to go backstage to meet them. The puppets are handled by this capable group with consumate skill, the scenery is enchanting and the production fast-paced and lively.

It is hoped that this, one of the most fascinating forms of entertainment, may be seen again soon in this village.

Artists Represented At Whitney Museum

Woodstock, Sept. 29—Drawings, oils and watercolors by several Woodstock artists are included in the public exhibition of the Edith and Milton Lowenthal Collection, the second in a series to be given in honor of collectors of American art, opening Wednesday, Oct. 1, at the Whitney Museum of American Art, 10 West 8th street, New York. The artists are Milton Avery, Paul Burlin, Arthur Dove, Yasuo Kuniyoshi and Jack Levine.

Hermon More, director of the museum, and Woodstock resident, stated in the foreword to the catalogue that the Whitney Museum is proud to present this exhibition, not only for the intrinsic qualities of the individual works but because it shows what taste and discrimination can do without the expenditure of a great fortune, to acquire over a relatively short period of time a notable collection of contemporary American art. Mr. and Mrs. Lowenthal started collecting in 1942 after seeing the Artists for Victory show at the Metropolitan Museum of Art when they made "the exciting discovery that in this great country there exists an art in which we could justifiably take great pride."

Fanny Ganso Reopens New York Gallery

Woodstock, Sept. 30—Fanny Ganso, who has returned to New York after a successful summer season with her gallery in the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen building, reopened her New York gallery at 125 East 57th street, Monday, Sept. 29.

Mrs. Ganso's newest exhibition, composed of work by many prominent Woodstock artists, introduces a novel idea in picture presentation. She has sought to answer many questions posed by the public on modern American paintings by attaching explanations of the paintings to the works of the Ganso Gallery group.

Among the questions frequently asked, or comments made by the public are: "Why don't they paint the way they used to!"—"My six year old son could do better!"—"Is this artist serious!"—"What does it mean! What is it!"

Mrs. Ganso has replied: "There is always a new audience, and a welcome one, responding to modern art in this fashion. Although it is difficult and at times unnecessary to explain a work of art, a few explanatory notes can be helpful in making new art concepts more acceptable and enjoyable. Art is thinking as well as seeing, feeling and expressing. New thoughts and experiments form a new art language. In this exhibition we try to give some of our viewers a suggestive guide which might serve to make the unfamiliar more familiar."

The work of the following artists is included in the show: Edward Chavez, Herman Cherry, Bruce Currie, Karl Fortess, Ruth Gikow, Ethel Magafan, Jenne Magafan, Howard Mandel, Joseph Meert, William Pachner, Alex Redein, Tomas Penning and Charles Stevens.

The exhibition will continue through October 22.

Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee Meets

Woodstock, Sept. 30—The first meeting of the fall season of the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee was held last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Laws, chairman. Mrs. Laws reported on the highly successful summer recreation program for girls which the committee had sponsored during the months of July and August. She said that the program had been "very much enjoyed by the children." An expression of thanks was also given to Mrs. Rose Steckler who gave her services substituting for four days for Mrs. Sylva Hutchins who was in charge of the program.

Discussion took place on the plans for the erection of the first unit of the recreation field building.

Miss Anne Cassidy, public health nurse, stated that this village had been fortunate in that there had been no cases of polio, although there had been some in the county. Commenting on the children's clinic, she attributed the small number of children seen this summer to the fact that more mothers are taking their children to their own physicians. She reminded members of the committee, however, that the clinic is the most important part of the work of the group, and asked them to tell as many mothers as possible about the clinic. Any child in the township may be brought to the regular monthly clinic for examination and treatment.

It was reported that the work for the dental clinic for this year had been completed by Dr. Edward Gurland and Dr. Ferdinand Heene.

Mrs. Warren Hutty said that seven calls had been received for the Visiting Housekeepers Service, four of which had been filled as they met with the emergency requirements of the service. The others, because they required baby sitters or someone for housecleaning were not within the jurisdiction of the committee. Mrs. Hutty stated that there are now 18 housekeepers available on her list. Seven have resigned because of other jobs or have moved away.

Mrs. Laws read a letter from the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association of Kingston inviting the committee to join the hospital patients service committee. It was agreed that the Woodstock committee would contribute whatever work was necessary to the organization.

An expression of appreciation was given to the Woodstock Market Fair which had contributed $50 to the work of the Woodstock Committee.

Mrs. Clarence Snyder, chairman of the loan closet, reported that during the summer all outstanding articles had been returned while another group had been taken out. She said that all articles needed for the closet have now been acquired.

Appreciation was also expressed to Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 for the use of its tables and benches at the recreation field, and to the Woodstock Fish and Game Club for the use of the building during the summer.

The treasurer's report was submitted by Mrs. Clayton Harder.

Village Cub Scouting Needs Adult Leaders

Woodstock, Sept. 30—The question as to whether Cub Scouting will continue in this village looms for those who have worked long and diligently for this important project for the young boys of the township.

"It is not an automatic sort of thing that is wound up and then set going," says the Rev. Harvey I. Todd. "Cubbing requires the investment of human energy and trained leadership, and a large part of that comes from the parents of Cub Scouts. So it is in every respect true that when a boy joins the Cubs his parents join with him."

It is urgently necessary that Woodstock's Cub Pack 34, in order to continue, find leadership. The Cubs need a cubmaster and den mothers. To assist the committee in finding this leadership it has been arranged with the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, to hold three training meetings on Monday, Oct. 6, 13, and 20, at the Woodstock School at 8 p. m.

At the meetings parents will be shown, through visual aid, what Cubbing really is, and the prospective cubmaster and den mothers will receive credit toward their certificate for having completed three out of the six sessions in the basic Cubbing course. Later, anyone attending these meetings may go on to obtain the other three in the course being given in Kingston. Certificates will be awarded at the close of the course.

Parents of boys, or a boy of Cub age, are cordially invited to attend these meetings and to help the committee enlist the leadership that is needed to make Pack 34 a successful enterprise. Serving on the committee for Pack 34, sponsored by the Square Club of this village, are Charles E. Rapp, Harold Mellin and Mr. Todd.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, Jr.

Program Book Is Designed for Play

Woodstock, Sept. 29—A handsome souvenir program has been designed by Al and Rosemary Bare for the Woodstock Foundation's annual play Ten Nights in a Barroom to be presented, Friday and Saturday nights, Oct. 10 and 11 at the Woodstock Playhouse.

The four-page booklet, in four colors, allows for a limited number of personalized ads by local merchants. Rosemary Bare has made delightful sketches of personalized ads for local merchants which require only their signature.

Those who have seen the program say that it is one of the finest programs put out anywhere, and one that will reflect great credit on the community.

With the play actually only two weeks away, preparations are now moving at a swift pace. Al Bare, who designed the scenery, spent last Saturday night painting sets for the show. Fritzi Striebel and Marianne Mecklem assisted him.

Margot King will be chairman of the ticket committee for the show and Joe DeNapoli will serve in the box-office.

The Eaves Costume Company in New York, which regularly outfits Broadway shows, will supply the costumes for Ten Nights in a Barroom. Fritzi Striebel and Zella Pike have measured the members of the cast and are attending to this chore.

Eleanor Edwards is breathing freely again after assembling the lists for the 1,600 letters sent out by the Foundation asking for funds, and mailing the letters.

Adults, Children, Are Captivated By Marionettes

Woodstock, Sept. 29—A thoroughly delightful evening, a combination of whimsey and mystery, was provided last Thursday night at the Woodstock School when the Berkeley Marionettes presented their new production, The Mysterious Island. Under the guidance of Florence and Stephen Gitnick, aided by Jan Marasek and John Loftus, the appealingly life-like little puppets enacted a story of adventure and thrills.

At the fair grounds on the afternoon of the day that a balloonist plans to go up in huge balloon, two mischievous little boys, Frankie Wilson and Herbie Scott, after encountering disastrously a fortune teller, become trapped in the basket of the balloon and take off through the skies to the South Pacific.

Landing on a small, rocky island, the boys meet an old sailor castaway and pirate, and his servant, General Grant, a loveable little monkey who lives in the jungle on the island. When earthquake and fire strike the island, the two boys, whose curiosity has led them to a secret underground passage, the old sailor and his servant, are aided in their escape by the mysterious and colorful Captain Nemo.

The play was given a warm reception by the large audience of children and adults as well, and some of the youngest members of the audience, the puppets had seemed so real that they begged to go backstage to meet them. The puppets are handled by this capable group with consumate skill, the scenery is enchanting and the production fast-paced and lively.

It is hoped that this, one of the most fascinating forms of entertainment, may be seen again soon in this village.

Artists Represented At Whitney Museum

Woodstock, Sept. 29—Drawings, oils and watercolors by several Woodstock artists are included in the public exhibition of the Edith and Milton Lowenthal Collection, the second in a series to be given in honor of collectors of American art, opening Wednesday, Oct. 1, at the Whitney Museum of American Art, 10 West 8th street, New York. The artists are Milton Avery, Paul Burlin, Arthur Dove, Yasuo Kuniyoshi and Jack Levine.

Hermon More, director of the museum, and Woodstock resident, stated in the foreword to the catalogue that the Whitney Museum is proud to present this exhibition, not only for the intrinsic qualities of the individual works but because it shows what taste and discrimination can do without the expenditure of a great fortune, to acquire over a relatively short period of time a notable collection of contemporary American art. Mr. and Mrs. Lowenthal started collecting in 1942 after seeing the Artists for Victory show at the Metropolitan Museum of Art when they made "the exciting discovery that in this great country there exists an art in which we could justifiably take great pride."

Post Plans Dance For Armistice Day

Woodstock, Sept. 29—A regular monthly meeting of the Woodstock Post 1026, American Legion, was held Thursday night at the Legion Hall.

A lively discussion took place on the progressive activities of the organization.

The building committee reported on repairs needed on the present Legion Hall and on the question of the advisibility of securing a new building. The possibility of a bowling team was also discussed.

Tentative plans were discussed for an Armistice Day dance and the following committee appointed: William MacReady, Thomas Provenzano, John Wolven, William Melville and Wayne Underhill.

Art Hung in School

Woodstock, Sept. 29—In addition to the pictures by well-known local artists now on view in the various classrooms at the Woodstock School, listed in this column recently, there is also a picture titled Mother and Child by John McClellan, exhibited in the kindergarten room. A large watercolor by John Pike has been hung in the office of Walter Van Wagenen, principal.

Fanny Ganso Reopens New York Gallery

Woodstock, Sept. 30—Fanny Ganso, who has returned to New York after a successful summer season with her gallery in the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen building, reopened her New York gallery at 125 East 57th street, Monday, Sept. 29.

Mrs. Ganso's newest exhibition, composed of work by many prominent Woodstock artists, introduces a novel idea in picture presentation. She has sought to answer many questions posed by the public on modern American paintings by attaching explanations of the paintings to the works of the Ganso Gallery group.

Among the questions frequently asked, or comments made by the public are: "Why don't they paint the way they used to!"—"My six year old son could do better!"—"Is this artist serious!"—"What does it mean! What is it!"

Mrs. Ganso has replied: "There is always a new audience, and a welcome one, responding to modern art in this fashion. Although it is difficult and at times unnecessary to explain a work of art, a few explanatory notes can be helpful in making new art concepts more acceptable and enjoyable. Art is thinking as well as seeing, feeling and expressing. New thoughts and experiments form a new art language. In this exhibition we try to give some of our viewers a suggestive guide which might serve to make the unfamiliar more familiar."

The work of the following artists is included in the show: Edward Chavez, Herman Cherry, Bruce Currie, Karl Fortess, Ruth Gikow, Ethel Magafan, Jenne Magafan, Howard Mandel, Joseph Meert, William Pachnar, Alex Redein, Tomas Penning and Charles Stevens.

The exhibition will continue through October 22.

Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee Meets

Woodstock, Sept. 30—The first meeting of the fall season of the Woodstock Public Health Nursing Committee was held last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George Laws, chairman. Mrs. Laws reported on the highly successful summer recreation program for girls which the committee had sponsored during the months of July and August. She said that the program had been "very much enjoyed by the children." An expression of thanks was also given to Mrs. Rose Steckler who gave her services substituting for four days for Mrs. Sylva Hutchins who was in charge of the program.

Discussion took place on the plans for the erection of the first unit of the recreation field building.

Miss Anne Cassidy, public health nurse, stated that this village had been fortunate in that there had been no cases of polio, although there had been some in the county. Commenting on the children's clinic, she attributed the small number of children seen this summer to the fact that more mothers are taking their children to their own physicians. She reminded members of the committee, however, that the clinic is the most important part of the work of the group, and asked them to tell as many mothers as possible about the clinic. Any child in the township may be brought to the regular monthly clinic for examination and treatment.

It was reported that the work for the dental clinic for this year had been completed by Dr. Edward Gurland and Dr. Ferdinand Heene.

Mrs. Warren Hutty said that seven calls had been received for the Visiting Housekeepers Service, four of which had been filled as they met with the emergency requirements of the service. The others, because they required baby sitters or someone for housecleaning were not within the jurisdiction of the committee. Mrs. Hutty stated that there are now 18 housekeepers available on her list. Seven have resigned because of other jobs or have moved away.

Mrs. Laws read a letter from the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association of Kingston inviting the committee to join the hospital patients service committee. It was agreed that the Woodstock committee would contribute whatever work was necessary to the organization.

An expression of appreciation was given to the Woodstock Market Fair which had contributed $50 to the work of the Woodstock Committee.

Mrs. Clarence Snyder, chairman of the loan closet, reported that during the summer all outstanding articles had been returned while another group had been taken out. She said that all articles needed for the closet have now been acquired.

Appreciation was also expressed to Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 for the use of its tables and benches at the recreation field, and to the Woodstock Fish and Game Club for the use of the building during the summer.

The treasurer's report was submitted by Mrs. Clayton Harder.

Village Cub Scouting Needs Adult Leaders

Woodstock, Sept. 30—The question as to whether Cub Scouting will continue in this village looms for those who have worked long and diligently for this important project for the young boys of the township.

"It is not an automatic sort of thing that is wound up and then set going," says the Rev. Harvey I. Todd. "Cubbing requires the investment of human energy and trained leadership, and a large part of that comes from the parents of Cub Scouts. So it is in every respect true that when a boy joins the Cubs his parents join with him."

It is urgently necessary that Woodstock's Cub Pack 34, in order to continue, find leadership. The Cubs need a cubmaster and den mothers. To assist the committee in finding this leadership it has been arranged with the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, to hold three training meetings on Monday, Oct. 6, 13, and 20, at the Woodstock School at 8 p. m.

At the meetings parents will be shown, through visual aid, what Cubbing really is, and the prospective cubmaster and den mothers will receive credit toward their certificate for having completed three out of the six sessions in the basic Cubbing course. Later, anyone attending these meetings may go on to obtain the other three in the course being given in Kingston. Certificates will be awarded at the close of the course.

Parents of boys, or a boy of Cub age, are cordially invited to attend these meetings and to help the committee enlist the leadership that is needed to make Pack 34 a successful enterprise. Serving on the committee for Pack 34, sponsored by the Square Club of this village, are Charles E. Rapp, Harold Mellin and Mr. Todd.

Jar Reported Stolen

Woodstock, Sept. 29—A jar containing about $25 in contributions for the SPCA, which had been standing just inside the entrance to the antique shop of Betty Collins Barnes on the Saugerties road, was alleged taken about 5 p. m. Friday, according to Cpl. Ray Dunn of the state police. The report was made to the police by Mrs. Barnes as soon as she discovered that the jar was missing.

Featured in Post

Woodstock, Sept. 29—A dramatic, two-page color illustration by Anton Otto Fischer, noted Woodstock marine painter and illustrator, appears in September 27 issue of the Saturday Evening Post. Fischer's painting depicts the worst disaster aboard ship—fire at sea—and illustrates a story The Burning of the Nan Shan by Jacland Marmur.

VandeBogart Chairman

Frielan Van de Bogart was chairman of the Field Day held Sunday by the Woodstock Riding Club. Mrs. George Hard referred to as chairman in these columns, was ring clerk and is chairman for the 1953 Spring show.

Newspaper Week Is Proclaimed By Governor Dewey

Governor Thomas E. Dewey has proclaimed the period of October 1 to 8 as Newspaper Week and commends the services of newspaper men to the appreciation of all the people of the state. Following is the proclamation:

STATE OF NEW YORK
EXECUTIVE CHAMBER
ALBANY

A New York editor was the first to establish freedom of the press on American soil. It was in 1735 that John Peter Zenger risked his liberty and all his possessions, defying the power of the British Crown to vindicate the right of free men to tell the truth as they saw it without let or hindrance.

Since that day New York editors, publishers and reporters have lived up nobly to the Zenger tradition. Their courage and integrity have matched the skill with which information is gathered, written and edited in the press of the Empire State.

The New York State Publishers Association has set aside the week of October 1-8, 1952, as Newspaper Week. The official slogan of the Association is appropriately expressed in the words: "Your Newspaper Lights The Way Of Freedom."

The Theme for this year is "Your Right To Know," a right which New York newspapermen staunchly uphold.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Thomas E. Dewey, Governor of the State of New York, proclaim the period of October 1 - 8, 1952, as

in New York State and I commend the services of our newspaper men to the appreciation of all the people of the State.

GIVEN under my hand and the Privy Seal of the State at the Capitol in the City of Albany this twenty-second day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fifty-two.

(L.S.)

BY THE GOVERNOR:

Acting Secretary to the Governor

Squawk or Okay but... Make a Noise!

November 4 is your big day to speak up. Vote Democratic or Republican, vote to turn 'em out or vote to keep 'em in—but VOTE.

Your free and secret vote is the great American right that must be preserved. You'll lose that right if you don't vote.

The real issue is whether you're a spectator or participant. We think you're a participant so, "SEE YOU AT THE POLLS!"

They Direct Ahavath Israel Ball Plans

HERMAN G. RAFALOWSKY AND BENJAMIN SCHECTER

Having moved into the exacting position of general chairman of the annual Thanksgiving eve ball, Benjamin Schecter, busy president of Congregation Ahavath Israel, feels that a guiding hand will help him materially in making the social event an outstanding one.

Herman G. Rafalowsky, honorary chairman this year, after 15 seasons of one scintillating success after another, is ready to lend his experience so the November affair will be the brightest in the annals of the congregation.

As the uptown clothing merchant encouraged Schecter, he reeled off the names of stars he brought to the Kingston Municipal Auditorium for Ahavath Israel, top-flight entertainers like Henny Youngman, Morey Amsterdam, Harry Hirschfield, Jan Murray, Joey Adams and Al Bernie.

Must Have Stars

"You've got to give them the best," said Rafalowsky, "That's the way to pack the house."

Schecter agreed and emphasized his intention to follow in his predecessor's footsteps to raise funds that the congregation will share with non-sectarian charities.

Rafalowsky always went for big name bands like Vincent Lopez, Alvino Rey, Jack Teagarten, Johnny Long and Xavier Cougat, all of whom he brought to the auditorium as they moved to the lead in the music field.

"We'll have to do it again this year," said Schecter, intimating he intends to start early contacts with entertainment representatives for talent.

As president of Congregation Ahavath Israel, Schecter has a keen interest in all its activities, especially the annual ball, which is considered generally as the highlight of the fall social season.

Schecter Very Active

Those serving on various committees feel the leadership he has shown the past two years as head of the congregation augurs for success of the Thanksgiving Eve ball. Aside from the interest he takes in activities for the synagogue, Schecter devotes his time to other organizations, serving as vice president of the Jewish Community Council, president of the Parent-Teacher Association of Public School No. 6, and as a commissioner on the Kingston City Water Board. He's a past president of the Kingston Zionist Organization and a director of the Jewish Community Center. Schecter has a host of friends made over a period of 25 years as a representative for National Biscuit Company.

Enthusiasm of Ahavath Israel members and their friends, especially those serving on committees, indicates that those who attend it at the auditorium will enjoy a bigger and better ball than ever, if such a thing is possible.

Patron tickets are in charge of Alex Woolf, Moe Schwartz is handling general admission tickets and Mrs. Marion Zwick is head of the group soliciting ads for the journal.

Chamber to Study Parking Problems

The off-street parking problem here will be studied by a special committee of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce because of complaints heard in many quarters. In making this announcement today, Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the Chamber said that the committee will investigate existing facilities and their potential use, present and future needs, ways and means of financing and traffic flow surveys in the various business areas of the city.

"In some cities property values have depreciated in shipping centers because business has moved elsewhere, in many cases entirely outside the city limits," MacAvery continued "The Chamber of Commerce wants to study the local situation and come up with some constructive and sound proposals for meeting the problem which exists," he added.

Newburgh has recently established three metered parking lots convenient to the shopping centers and Poughkeepsie is actively at work on their parking problem. "Cities which have the best parking facilities get the business," MacAvery said, "and we want to attract all the business we can to Kingston. Many of our stores have been modernized and offer an excellent and complete line of merchandise. Now we want to make sure that lack of parking does not keep business away."

The special Chamber committee which will study the parking problem consists of Harold E. Keator, Jr., chairman; William J. Buddenhagen, Frederick A. Gibbs, Adrian Kaplan and Harry Gold. The first meeting of the committee will take place Wednesday, Oct. 8. Special sub-committees may be appointed to study various phases of the problem before a specific report is made.

Delivery Is Delayed

Chicago, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Chicago ordnance district today awaited instructions from Washington concerning delayed delivery of 12 completed armored personnel carriers from the strike-bound plant of International Harvester Co. in suburban Melrose Park. Harvester said Monday delivery of the carriers, completed under urgent army order for combat use in Korea, has been delayed because CIO United Auto Worker pickets have barred federal inspectors from the plant.

Boy Dies of Burns

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—A 13-year-old boy who was burned Sunday night by an 11,000-volt line as he played tag with his friends died last night at St. John's Hospital. The boy, Joseph von Rosk, of Elmhurst, Queens, had climbed a transmission tower of the Long Island Rail Road in Elmhurst during the game. He apparently lost his balance and fell against the line.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Remember when most of the homes had seamstress in by the day or week to do the sewing for the whole family. Sheets, pillow cases, etc., were made during that time under the supervision of the lady of the house. Sometimes one lady did the heavy sewing, and later a dressmaker would come in to make the fancy clothes. Looking through the "White Sales" of May 1, 1897 I see Block's Bazaar, run by Joseph Block as his department store at 36 Strand and 35 Ferry street, had an advertisement that no doubt interested those ladies. The Express newspaper of Rondout stated "2,000 yards of Atlantic P. Muslin, at 3⅞ cents a yard . . . also bleached and brown toweling at 3½ cents a yard." It is interesting to note, that Elias Howe came around with his sewing machine around 1850, just about the time Canfield's Supply Co. started in Rondout. Just how good the sewing machines were at that time, no one knows, I guess. Block's advertisement further stated, "Sheets and pillow cases are made in large quantity by machinery nowadays." So I take it the half a century had brought the sewing machine into the commercial world.

Perhaps some folks still have some good muslin sheets and pillow cases that were handed down. Back in 1897 they were selling for 35 cents each. They were the extra heavy bleached muslin, two and a half yards wide and hemstitched, nothing but the best. What would a sheet like that cost today? Hemstitched, full sized pillow cases, good muslin, per pair went for 23 cents.

With the recent boxing bout not being televised or put on radio, folks back in 1897 had their similar troubles. Quoting from May 1st, 1897 Express issue. "The House of Representatives passed a bill to prohibit reproductions of prize fights by Vitascope, Kentioscope, etc. The penalty is a fine of $500 to $1,000 or two years imprisonment or both." Just what became of that law I do not know.

Perhaps some old time Rondout folks remember the Elite Millinery and Suit Parlor at 38 Broadway which advertised in the local press. Corsets were selling for 24 cents, 38 cents and 49 cents a pair. No doubt by a "pair" they meant the two side, weaved together with corset strings. Crosby and Ennist, who had their large department at 2, 4 and 6 Broadway, that's right at Ferry street, advertised Irish lawn material at eight cents a yard, and organdies for 12½ cents a yard. Dimities (flowered summer material) was going for seven cents a yard. Well, they needed yards and yards in those days, skirts were long and wide and there was a lot of material in a sleeve.

Who remembers when Oppenheimers and Sons sold bicycles back in the 1890's. They advertised in the 1897 paper that they sold over 100 of the celebrated Columbia and Hartford bicycles and were approaching the 200 mark. Their store was at 578 Broadway near the West Shore Crossing, so it said. Columbia Bicycles were selling for $100 each, so multiply that by 200 and see what you get.

Cramer Is Fair

John W. Cramer, 80, of 75 Andrews street, suffered leg injuries in a traffic mishap at Broadway and Andrew street yesterday afternoon. A police report at 4 p. m., said he was crossing Broadway from near Kingston Hospital toward Andrew street when he was struck by a car operated by Lillian Farber, of 46 Chambers street, who was driving north on Broadway. The injured man was taken to Kingston Hospital where his condition was reported as "fair" today.

Song Writer Dies

Brookline, Mass., Sept. 30 (AP)—Paul Hastings Allen, 68, who wrote nine symphonies, seven operas, 100 quartets and more than 150 songs, died Sunday at his home here. His death became known to the public last night when plans were announced for the funeral services today at Forest Hills Cemetery.

Plea to Stay in Germany Denied

Ivan Pirecnik, 11, tells Chief Justice William Clark of the U. S. High Commission Court of Appeals in Frankfurt, Germany, that he wants to stay in Germany with his foster parents instead of returning to Yugoslavia to his mother. Behind them is Dr. Josef Gorcia, Yugoslav attorney for the mother. The court, with Justice Clark dissenting, ordered the boy sent to his mother. His father was killed by Nazi secret police and mother sent to a concentration camp in 1942. Ivan was adopted by Gustav Sirsch, a member of Hitler's Elite Guard.

Admits Auto Theft

Babylon, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—John Solozza, 29, of Yonkers, will be arraigned today in Yonkers on a charge of auto theft. Long Island park police arrested him yesterday when he went through a stop sign. A park policeman believed he remembered him as wanted for auto theft. Solozza indignantly denied going through a stop sign, park police said, but finally admitted the auto he was driving had been stolen.

51 Attend Course

A police school conducted by Dennis Hurley of the State Department of Safety in the city court room here yesterday drew an attendance of 51, Police Chief Raymond Van Buren said today. One session was held from 2 to 4 p. m., and another was from 7 to 9 p. m. Other sessions will be held every Monday through Oct. 27. Members of the local auxiliary police and the sheriff's office, along with local police officers attended.

School Savings Stamps, Albums At Post Office

The Kingston post office now has a plentiful supply of School Savings Stamps and albums ready for the new school season Postmaster William R. Kraft announced today. "We have received shipments of both stamps and albums during the summer recess and are fully prepared to continue serving all our schools," he added.

Postmaster Kraft also stated: "There is every reason to anticipate a far heavier demand for Savings Stamps this year than at any time during the peace time years. The School Savings campaign last fall, which proved such an outstanding success, created keen interest in the program on the part of teachers and students. The drive, which added 5,815 new school savings programs throughout the country, will be continued during the first semester of this school year. It is expected that nearly five million students will be in Stamp Day schools by the end of this calendar year.

"It is hard to visualize the great benefit this one program will have for our country with five million children saving nickels and dimes and building the habit of thrift. School savings have been on the uptrend the past three years," he continued. "Stamp sales in the nation's schools increased from $10 million, 800 thousand in 1950 to $14 million in the 1951-52 school year."

Postmaster Kraft also announced that the new improved Series E Bonds are now available. In describing the new bond he said: "It is now better than ever. Your return on this bond is three per cent, compounded semi-annually, if held to maturity. It also provides higher cash values in the earlier years. Proof of its popularity is evidenced by the fact that the cash value of E Bonds now outstanding has mounted to $34.9 billion, the highest ever attained."

Newspaper Week Is Proclaimed By Governor Dewey

Governor Thomas E. Dewey has proclaimed the period of October 1 to 8 as Newspaper Week and commends the services of newspaper men to the appreciation of all the people of the state. Following is the proclamation:

STATE OF NEW YORK
EXECUTIVE CHAMBER
ALBANY

A New York editor was the first to establish freedom of the press on American soil. It was in 1735 that John Peter Zenger risked his liberty and all his possessions, defying the power of the British Crown to vindicate the right of free men to tell the truth as they saw it without let or hindrance.

Since that day New York editors, publishers and reporters have lived up nobly to the Zenger tradition. Their courage and integrity have matched the skill with which information is gathered, written and edited in the press of the Empire State.

The New York State Publishers Association has set aside the week of October 1-8, 1952, as Newspaper Week. The official slogan of the Association is appropriately expressed in the words: "Your Newspaper Lights The Way Of Freedom."

The Theme for this year is "Your Right To Know," a right which New York newspapermen staunchly uphold.

in New York State and I commend the services of our newspaper men to the appreciation of all the people of the State.

GIVEN under my hand and the Privy Seal of the State at the Capitol in the City of Albany this twenty-second day of September in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fifty-two.

They Direct Ahavath Israel Ball Plans

HERMAN G. RAFALOWSKY AND BENJAMIN SCHECTER

Having moved into the exacting position of general chairman of the annual Thanksgiving eve ball, Benjamin Schecter, busy president of Congregation Ahavath Israel, feels that a guiding hand will help him materially in making the social event an outstanding one.

Herman G. Rafalowsky, honorary chairman this year, after 15 seasons of one scintillating success after another, is ready to lend his experience so the November affair will be the brightest in the annals of the congregation.

As the uptown clothing merchant encouraged Schecter, he reeled off the names of stars he brought to the Kingston Municipal Auditorium for Ahavath Israel, top-flight entertainers like Henny Youngman, Morey Amsterdam, Harry Hirschfield, Jan Murray, Joey Adams and Al Bernie.

Must Have Stars

"You've got to give them the best," said Rafalowsky, "That's the way to pack the house."

Schecter agreed and emphasized his intention to follow in his predecessor's footsteps to raise funds that the congregation will share with non-sectarian charities.

Rafalowsky always went for big name bands like Vincent Lopez, Alvino Rey, Jack Teagarten, Johnny Long and Xavier Cougat, all of whom he brought to the auditorium as they moved to the lead in the music field.

"We'll have to do it again this year," said Schecter, intimating he intends to start early contacts with entertainment representatives for talent.

As president of Congregation Ahavath Israel, Schecter has a keen interest in all its activities, especially the annual ball, which is considered generally as the highlight of the fall social season.

Schecter Very Active

Those serving on various committees feel the leadership he has shown the past two years as head of the congregation augurs for success of the Thanksgiving Eve ball. Aside from the interest he takes in activities for the synagogue, Schecter devotes his time to other organizations, serving as vice president of the Jewish Community Council, president of the Parent-Teacher Association of Public School No. 6, and as a commissioner on the Kingston City Water Board. He's a past president of the Kingston Zionist Organization and a director of the Jewish Community Center. Schecter has a host of friends made over a period of 25 years as a representative for National Biscuit Company.

Enthusiasm of Ahavath Israel members and their friends, especially those serving on committees, indicates that those who attend it at the auditorium will enjoy a bigger and better ball than ever, if such a thing is possible.

Patron tickets are in charge of Alex Woolf, Moe Schwartz is handling general admission tickets and Mrs. Marion Zwick is head of the group soliciting ads for the journal.

Chamber to Study Parking Problems

The off-street parking problem here will be studied by a special committee of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce because of complaints heard in many quarters. In making this announcement today, Lawrence J. MacAvery, president of the Chamber said that the committee will investigate existing facilities and their potential use, present and future needs, ways and means of financing and traffic flow surveys in the various business areas of the city.

"In some cities property values have depreciated in shipping centers because business has moved elsewhere, in many cases entirely outside the city limits," MacAvery continued "The Chamber of Commerce wants to study the local situation and come up with some constructive and sound proposals for meeting the problem which exists," he added.

Newburgh has recently established three metered parking lots convenient to the shopping centers and Poughkeepsie is actively at work on their parking problem. "Cities which have the best parking facilities get the business," MacAvery said, "and we want to attract all the business we can to Kingston. Many of our stores have been modernized and offer an excellent and complete line of merchandise. Now we want to make sure that lack of parking does not keep business away."

The special Chamber committee which will study the parking problem consists of Harold E. Keator, Jr., chairman; William J. Buddenhagen, Frederick A. Gibbs, Adrian Kaplan and Harry Gold. The first meeting of the committee will take place Wednesday, Oct. 8. Special sub-committees may be appointed to study various phases of the problem before a specific report is made.

Delivery Is Delayed

Chicago, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Chicago ordnance district today awaited instructions from Washington concerning delayed delivery of 12 completed armored personnel carriers from the strike-bound plant of International Harvester Co. in suburban Melrose Park. Harvester said Monday delivery of the carriers, completed under urgent army order for combat use in Korea, has been delayed because CIO United Auto Worker pickets have barred federal inspectors from the plant.

Boy Dies of Burns

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—A 13-year-old boy who was burned Sunday night by an 11,000-volt line as he played tag with his friends died last night at St. John's Hospital. The boy, Joseph von Rosk, of Elmhurst, Queens, had climbed a transmission tower of the Long Island Rail Road in Elmhurst during the game. He apparently lost his balance and fell against the line.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

Remember when most of the homes had seamstress in by the day or week to do the sewing for the whole family. Sheets, pillow cases, etc., were made during that time under the supervision of the lady of the house. Sometimes one lady did the heavy sewing, and later a dressmaker would come in to make the fancy clothes. Looking through the "White Sales" of May 1, 1897 I see Block's Bazaar, run by Joseph Block as his department store at 36 Strand and 35 Ferry street, had an advertisement that no doubt interested those ladies. The Express newspaper of Rondout stated "2,000 yards of Atlantic P. Muslin, at 3⅞ cents a yard . . . also bleached and brown toweling at 3½ cents a yard." It is interesting to note, that Elias Howe came around with his sewing machine around 1850, just about the time Canfield's Supply Co. started in Rondout. Just how good the sewing machines were at that time, no one knows, I guess. Block's advertisement further stated, "Sheets and pillow cases are made in large quantity by machinery nowadays." So I take it the half a century had brought the sewing machine into the commercial world.

Perhaps some folks still have some good muslin sheets and pillow cases that were handed down. Back in 1897 they were selling for 35 cents each. They were the extra heavy bleached muslin, two and a half yards wide and hemstitched, nothing but the best. What would a sheet like that cost today? Hemstitched, full sized pillow cases, good muslin, per pair went for 23 cents.

With the recent boxing bout not being televised or put on radio, folks back in 1897 had their similar troubles. Quoting from May 1st, 1897 Express issue. "The House of Representatives passed a bill to prohibit reproductions of prize fights by Vitascope, Kentioscope, etc. The penalty is a fine of $500 to $1,000 or two years imprisonment or both." Just what became of that law I do not know.

Perhaps some old time Rondout folks remember the Elite Millinery and Suit Parlor at 38 Broadway which advertised in the local press. Corsets were selling for 24 cents, 38 cents and 49 cents a pair. No doubt by a "pair" they meant the two side, weaved together with corset strings. Crosby and Ennist, who had their large department at 2, 4 and 6 Broadway, that's right at Ferry street, advertised Irish lawn material at eight cents a yard, and organdies for 12½ cents a yard. Dimities (flowered summer material) was going for seven cents a yard. Well, they needed yards and yards in those days, skirts were long and wide and there was a lot of material in a sleeve.

Who remembers when Oppenheimers and Sons sold bicycles back in the 1890's. They advertised in the 1897 paper that they sold over 100 of the celebrated Columbia and Hartford bicycles and were approaching the 200 mark. Their store was at 578 Broadway near the West Shore Crossing, so it said. Columbia Bicycles were selling for $100 each, so multiply that by 200 and see what you get.

Cramer Is Fair

John W. Cramer, 80, of 75 Andrews street, suffered leg injuries in a traffic mishap at Broadway and Andrew street yesterday afternoon. A police report at 4 p. m., said he was crossing Broadway from near Kingston Hospital toward Andrew street when he was struck by a car operated by Lillian Farber, of 46 Chambers street, who was driving north on Broadway. The injured man was taken to Kingston Hospital where his condition was reported as "fair" today.

Normal Feminine Impulse Is to Heave Plates At Husband, Says Well Known Psychiatrist

By DOROTHY ROE
(A.P. Women's Editor)

If occasionally you feel an uncontrollable urge to heave a plate at your husband, don't be alarmed. It's simply a normal feminine impulse, says Dr. William V. Silverberg, well-known psychiatrist.

The much-discussed "battle of the sexes" begins before the age of six, says Dr. Silverberg in his new book, Childhood Experience and Personal Destiny.

Sexes Born to Battle

Men and women are born to battle, from the cradle to the grave, and though the period of courtship and early marriage may bring about a temporary truce, don't kid yourself, says Dr. Silverberg.

It's only temporary.

As boy and girl progress through high school and college, the battle lines are more firmly drawn, with the banding of the rivals in groups of their own sex —gangs, clubs, fraternities and sororities.

Beware of Chivalry

The doctor, who speaks from 30 years of psychiatric experience, warns women to beware of the excessively chivalrous man — the one who is always first to open a door, hold a coat or light a cigarette for a woman. His explanation:

"There is always a certain condescension in such gentlemanly behavior, as if the man were making allowances for the intrinsic inferiority of the female."

Some women go through life fuming impotently at this age-old strife.

Women Getting Smart

But women are learning how to get the best of the deal in the long run, in the opinion of a representative of the modern school of feminine thought—Audrey Totter, Hollywood star and leading lady of the CBS radio comedy series "Meet Millie." Says Audrey:

"American women are getting smart. They've caught on to all the men's tricks and they still let them go right on playing boss, if it makes them happy."

Audrey feels, in fact, that the gal who has her wits about her can let the boys keep on setting the rules—"at least until those rules interfere with her own plans. Then she can quickly and quietly maneuver him into second place without his ever noticing the switch."

The smart woman, contends Audrey, pretends to be dumb, thus buttering up the male ego and keeping life on a pleasantly even keel. After all, she points out, we can't very well get along without the guys, so the wisest course is to put up with them as they are. One thing is certain—they aren't going to change.

Since every girl still seems to want one of these male specimens for her very own, says Audrey, she has to be smart to (a) get him in the first place and (b) keep him in a compartively docile state thereafter. For husband-hunting girls she has this advice:

Don't Turn Off Gas

"Never let up for an instant, and use every trick in the book—you'll need them. As mama says, you've got to follow through. Too many girls get the guy right into the frying pan and then turn off the gas."

Shorts Celebrate 60th Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. SHERMAN SHORT

Woodstock Couple Holds Open House

Woodstock, Sept. 30—Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Short celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary at their home on Orchard Lane with an open house for their family and many friends Sunday afternoon. The couple, both of whom bear one of the names associated with the earliest settlement of this community, were married at the home of her father David H. Short, by the Rev. C. J. Demming of the Woodstock Methodist Church, on September 28, 1892.

Sherman Short is the son of Alfred Short, one of the founders of the Woodstock Mutual Fire Insurance Association, of which Sherman himself has been a director for over 35 years. He is the grandson of Elias Short of Wittenberg, former owner of the farm now occupied by Aaron Van De Bogart. The property had come to the family which had settled on land of the original Hardenberg Patent.

Short has vivid memories of his boyhood spent in South Woodstock which is now known as Wittenberg. He attended the little red school house there, which was replaced by the present building.

"Someone had to come down to Bearsville once a week for our mail," he remembers. "Whoever made the journey had to pick up the mail for the whole area. Consequently, through the efforts of Fred Happy and the assistance of Judge Clearwater of Kingston, it was decided to establish a post office at South Woodstock."

At that time the post office would not allow the designations South, East, West or North with a given name, the community was called Wittenberg since the mountain of that name could be seen from the locality, he related.

Aside from his participation in the insurance business, Short was engaged in farming and lumbering. In 1895 and 1896, he made 10,000 apple barrels for the apple industry. His former farm is located on the Wittenberg-Phoenicia road, and is now owned by Mrs. Herbert Waterous.

Short retired actively from business in 1943 but is still a director of the Woodstock Mutual Fire Insurance Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Short are the parents of four daughters, Mrs. Ethel Barclay, Mrs. Gladys Reynolds and Mrs. William Mower, all of Woodstock, and Mrs. Thomas Jenkins of Brooklyn. They have five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

BEE BAIT — Marjorie Barbera and her friends think it's just too, too sweet that she has been named "Miss Wild Honey" in Hollywood.

Condition Improves

The condition of Miss Marie A. Trowbridge of 121 Green street, injured in an automobile accident near Middletown Saturday night, was reported as improved at the Horton Memorial Hospital in Middletown today. She suffered a severe scalp laceration and possible fracture of the skull and an injury to her left leg. It was reported that the left knee, which was at first thought to be fractured, had not been fractured.

INTRODUCING 'SUBWAY GIRL FRIEND'

A man writes: "I have a 'subway girl friend.' I call her that because that is exactly what she is. I never see her any other time. She and I both take the same train every morning and we gradually started to speak to each other. She told me her name once but I have long since forgotten it. Yesterday morning a friend of mine got into the same train and joined us. The three of us talked back and forth all the way to work. However, I did not introduce my friend to this other girl as I couldn't for the life of me think of her name. I am sure both these girls think me very rude, but really, Mrs. Post, I was at a loss to know what to do. To tell someone I see practically every morning that I didn't know her name would have been very embarrassing. Will you please tell me how I could have handled this suituation?"

I can at least comfort you by saying you are not alone in your inability to remember someone's name on just such a situation. I think the best thing to do is to truthfully tell her how embarrassed you were and ask her to tell you her name (and this time write it down!).

Signing Card to Child

Dear Mrs. Post: One of my daughter's young friends (age 8) has just been in an accident and as a result will have to spend several weeks in the hospital. I would like to send her an amusing get-well card every day to help cheer her up. Will you please tell me how I should sign these cards? The child knows me only as Mrs. Smith. Would it be permissible in this particular situation to sign my name with title?

Answer: Yes — always to a young child unless she calls you by some pet name.

Maid Not Tipped

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is proper, when invited to a friend's house for dinner, to leave a tip for the maid who waits on table? My husband says it is proper, but I disagree with him.

Answer: Sorry, your husband is wrong. It is, of course, correct to tip a maid after spending a night (or more) in a friend's house but never for a meal.

Is it good taste to use place cards for a small dinner party? Mrs. Post. is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, her booklet No. 504, "Table Setting," includes the rule for place cards. Normal Feminine Impulse Is to Heave Plates At Husband, Says Well Known Psychiatrist

By DOROTHY ROE
(A.P. Women's Editor)

If occasionally you feel an uncontrollable urge to heave a plate at your husband, don't be alarmed. It's simply a normal feminine impulse, says Dr. William V. Silverberg, well-known psychiatrist.

The much-discussed "battle of the sexes" begins before the age of six, says Dr. Silverberg in his new book, Childhood Experience and Personal Destiny.

Sexes Born to Battle

Men and women are born to battle, from the cradle to the grave, and though the period of courtship and early marriage may bring about a temporary truce, don't kid yourself, says Dr. Silverberg.

It's only temporary.

As boy and girl progress through high school and college, the battle lines are more firmly drawn, with the banding of the rivals in groups of their own sex —gangs, clubs, fraternities and sororities.

Beware of Chivalry

The doctor, who speaks from 30 years of psychiatric experience, warns women to beware of the excessively chivalrous man — the one who is always first to open a door, hold a coat or light a cigarette for a woman. His explanation:

"There is always a certain condescension in such gentlemanly behavior, as if the man were making allowances for the intrinsic inferiority of the female."

Some women go through life fuming impotently at this age-old strife.

Women Getting Smart

But women are learning how to get the best of the deal in the long run, in the opinion of a representative of the modern school of feminine thought—Audrey Totter, Hollywood star and leading lady of the CBS radio comedy series "Meet Millie." Says Audrey:

"American women are getting smart. They've caught on to all the men's tricks and they still let them go right on playing boss, if it makes them happy."

Audrey feels, in fact, that the gal who has her wits about her can let the boys keep on setting the rules—"at least until those rules interfere with her own plans. Then she can quickly and quietly maneuver him into second place without his ever noticing the switch."

The smart woman, contends Audrey, pretends to be dumb, thus buttering up the male ego and keeping life on a pleasantly even keel. After all, she points out, we can't very well get along without the guys, so the wisest course is to put up with them as they are. One thing is certain—they aren't going to change.

Since every girl still seems to want one of these male specimens for her very own, says Audrey, she has to be smart to (a) get him in the first place and (b) keep him in a compartively docile state thereafter. For husband-hunting girls she has this advice:

Don't Turn Off Gas

"Never let up for an instant, and use every trick in the book—you'll need them. As mama says, you've got to follow through. Too many girls get the guy right into the frying pan and then turn off the gas."

MR. AND MRS. SHERMAN SHORT

Woodstock Couple Holds Open House

Woodstock, Sept. 30—Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Short celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary at their home on Orchard Lane with an open house for their family and many friends Sunday afternoon. The couple, both of whom bear one of the names associated with the earliest settlement of this community, were married at the home of her father David H. Short, by the Rev. C. J. Demming of the Woodstock Methodist Church, on September 28, 1892.

Sherman Short is the son of Alfred Short, one of the founders of the Woodstock Mutual Fire Insurance Association, of which Sherman himself has been a director for over 35 years. He is the grandson of Elias Short of Wittenberg, former owner of the farm now occupied by Aaron Van De Bogart. The property had come to the family which had settled on land of the original Hardenberg Patent.

Short has vivid memories of his boyhood spent in South Woodstock which is now known as Wittenberg. He attended the little red school house there, which was replaced by the present building.

"Someone had to come down to Bearsville once a week for our mail," he remembers. "Whoever made the journey had to pick up the mail for the whole area. Consequently, through the efforts of Fred Happy and the assistance of Judge Clearwater of Kingston, it was decided to establish a post office at South Woodstock."

At that time the post office would not allow the designations South, East, West or North with a given name, the community was called Wittenberg since the mountain of that name could be seen from the locality, he related.

Aside from his participation in the insurance business, Short was engaged in farming and lumbering. In 1895 and 1896, he made 10,000 apple barrels for the apple industry. His former farm is located on the Wittenberg-Phoenicia road, and is now owned by Mrs. Herbert Waterous.

Short retired actively from business in 1943 but is still a director of the Woodstock Mutual Fire Insurance Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Short are the parents of four daughters, Mrs. Ethel Barclay, Mrs. Gladys Reynolds and Mrs. William Mower, all of Woodstock, and Mrs. Thomas Jenkins of Brooklyn. They have five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

BEE BAIT — Marjorie Barbera and her friends think it's just too, too sweet that she has been named "Miss Wild Honey" in Hollywood.

Condition Improves

The condition of Miss Marie A. Trowbridge of 121 Green street, injured in an automobile accident near Middletown Saturday night, was reported as improved at the Horton Memorial Hospital in Middletown today. She suffered a severe scalp laceration and possible fracture of the skull and an injury to her left leg. It was reported that the left knee, which was at first thought to be fractured, had not been fractured.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

(Author of 'Etiquette,' 'Children Are People,' etc.)

INTRODUCING 'SUBWAY GIRL FRIEND'

A man writes: "I have a 'subway girl friend.' I call her that because that is exactly what she is. I never see her any other time. She and I both take the same train every morning and we gradually started to speak to each other. She told me her name once but I have long since forgotten it. Yesterday morning a friend of mine got into the same train and joined us. The three of us talked back and forth all the way to work. However, I did not introduce my friend to this other girl as I couldn't for the life of me think of her name. I am sure both these girls think me very rude, but really, Mrs. Post, I was at a loss to know what to do. To tell someone I see practically every morning that I didn't know her name would have been very embarrassing. Will you please tell me how I could have handled this suituation?"

I can at least comfort you by saying you are not alone in your inability to remember someone's name on just such a situation. I think the best thing to do is to truthfully tell her how embarrassed you were and ask her to tell you her name (and this time write it down!).

Signing Card to Child

Dear Mrs. Post: One of my daughter's young friends (age 8) has just been in an accident and as a result will have to spend several weeks in the hospital. I would like to send her an amusing get-well card every day to help cheer her up. Will you please tell me how I should sign these cards? The child knows me only as Mrs. Smith. Would it be permissible in this particular situation to sign my name with title?

Answer: Yes — always to a young child unless she calls you by some pet name.

Maid Not Tipped

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is proper, when invited to a friend's house for dinner, to leave a tip for the maid who waits on table? My husband says it is proper, but I disagree with him.

Answer: Sorry, your husband is wrong. It is, of course, correct to tip a maid after spending a night (or more) in a friend's house but never for a meal.

Will Seek Asylum

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—A Czechoslovak diplomat and former United Nations secretariat official says he will not return to his Communist-controlled homeland and will seek asylum here. Dr. Ivan Kerno, who retired last Sept. 10 as UN assistant secretary general for legal affairs, made his announcement last night on the "United or Not" television program (ABC). The 61-year-old Kerno, a member of the Czech diplomatic service since 1918 and a former aid of the late Czech President Eduard Benes, said he expected American officials to grant him permission to remain in this country.

Failed to Meet Quota

Moscow, Sept. 30 (AP)—A top Communist official in Soviet Azerbaijan has reported the oil industry in his area failed to meet its production quota during the past eight months largely because criminal elements infiltrated into the big southern Baku oil fields. In a report to the Azerbaijan Party Congress, First Secretary M. D. Bagirov said the criminal elements had been cleaned out now and the oil fields would be able to catch up in time to meet the full years' quota.

Clamp-Down Ordered

Heidelberg, Germany, Sept. 30 (AP)—The U. S. Army today announced a new clamp-down on soldiers' dependents who come over as tourists and stay without army authorization. In a new order effective tomorrow, new tourist dependents will be entitled to emergency medical care and post exchange privileges for 90 days only, with no extensions allowed. Nor will they receive special ration and station allowances granted to the more than 50,000 authorized dependents living with the U. S. troops in Germany.

Jackknifes Across Road

Modica's truck, unable to pass between the standing tractor-trailer and the Cammer auto, collided with the standing truck, then jacknifed across the highway and was in collision with the Cammer vehicle, state police reported.

Investigating were Sgt. Arthur A. Reilly, State Police BCI; Trooper E. J. Devine and J. Cullum. When word was received of Cammer's death, they were joined in the investigation by Coroner Michael A. Galietta, District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn and his assistant, James J. Abernethy.

Criminal Charge Placed

A charge of criminal negligence was placed against Modica, who early today was arraigned before Justice of the Peace Glenford Myers of Saugerties. Modica waived examination and was ordered held for action of the grand jury.

Cammer, a graduate of the McAllister School of Embalming of New York city, served has year's apprenticeship with the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, Inc., of Kingston in 1948 and 1949. He then became a partner in the Decker and Cammer Funeral Home and Ambulance Service, which operates funeral homes in Windham and Hensonville, Greene county.

Served in Europe

A veteran of World War 2, Cammer served with the tank corps in the European Theatre. He was a member of the American Legion. Funeral arrangements had not been completed this morning.

Coroner Galietta ruled this morning that death was from injuries sustained in the accident. An autopsy disclosed death was caused by ruptured kidney and spleen, hemorrhage and fractured ribs on the left side, the coroner said.

Repairs Scheduled

Paris, Sept. 30 (AP)—French officials say that repairs will be made on schedule, or with "very slight" delays, to defective runways on three air bases in France assigned to the U. S. Air Force. American officials said Saturday that U. S. jet planes had been unable to use the fields because the runways were soft, crumbling or badly cracked. The fields are at Chaumont and Toul-Rosiere in eastern France, and at Laon-Couvron in northeast France.

All Are Rescued

Santa Maria, Azores, Sept. 30 (AP)—All 74 men aboard the Portuguese fishing vessel Joao Costa which sank in the stormy Atlantic a week ago have been picked up by freighters, it was reported here today. Tears turned into cheers of rejoicing in the Portuguese port of Figueira Dafoz, where most of the men made their home. Church bells rang and bands played when the news was flashed.

Will Make Second Try

Katmandu, Nepal, Sept. 30 (AP)—Members of a Swiss mountain-climbing team said today they will begin their second assault on Mt. Everest Oct. 6. They are now establishing a base camp at the 12,200-foot level and said experience gained on their attempt last spring would enable them to bypass hazardous routes. They reached within 800 yards of the world's tallest peak on their first attempt.

ing contempt asserted by China, Asia and South America. Lashing out at the present administration, "consider how the mighty have fallen. Our citizens were once welcomed everywhere in the world. I say once, because our present government has made it a spectacle. We, who conquered savages . . ."

The Korean war was described as the type "either our leaders do not want to win, do not know how to win, or do not dare to win," by Chaplain Darlington, who described the "police action" as having already cost the American people some 170 billions of dollars and more than 100,000 casualties. He compared this action "to which we were committed without the consent of our Congress," to the cost of World War 2 which amounted to 330 billions of dollars. "The national debt now exceeds ten times all the gold in Fort Knox," he said.

Americans Only Stand Guard

Quoting the words of General George Washington, "Let none but Americans stand guard tonight," the Chaplain asserted such an admonition was indeed one deserving thought today, as he briefly traced the progress of the United States during the first 150 of its 176 years since the signing of the Declaration of Independence. During that period, "we recognized God as the giver of freedom and prospered as no other country. Americans were free from class distinction . . . American workmen were free to keep what they earned, and American farmers had not mortgaged their freedom. Now, they are beginning to learn the price men pay when they turn to government intsead of to God," he said.

The aims of the Chaplains Association were recounted as a return of the principles for which our forefathers pledged their sacred honor and their lives; namely, God, government under the Constitution, and good character. "There is a conspiracy in this country to undermine the belief in God, to praise what is bad and to sneer at the good."

In all walks of life, the speaker, cautioned there is a movement to indoctrinate hate. This, he said, was also true in schools and colleges, where he asserted it is more slyly disguised.

Fight For Faith and Freedom

Honesty and high principles must prevail amongst the populace and in our government, Chaplain Darlington concluded as he urged the men and women within his hearing to "go out to work and to fight to keep the faith and freedom in which we believe and which alone will get our country back to where it was when we enployed the respect of the entire world."

Miss Alice M. Scardefield who presided introducted the speaker. Mrs. Joseph Deegan, Mrs. Arthur C. Hazenbush and Mrs. Charles Brandt were in charge of the program. It was announced that the next meeting of the club would be held Wednesday evening, Oct. 22, when Miss Ruth Miner of Albany, executive deputy secretary of state, will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Conrad Heiselman is program chairman.

Dairy Founder Dies

Greenwich, Conn., Sept. 30 (AP)—Thomas H. McInnerney, 85, founder and chairman emeritus of National Dairy Products Corp., died at his home here today. He had been ill more than a year. A one-time pharmacist, McInnerney founded National Dairy Products in Chicago in 1923 through merger of the Hydrox Company of Chicago and the Rieck-McJunkin Dairy Company of Pittsburgh. The corporation now has 65,000 stockholders and employs more than 43,000. National Dairy's sales last year totaled more than a billion dollars.

To Back Seaway

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—George S. Counts, Liberal Party nominee for U. S. senator from New York, says he will "speak for and fight for the proposed St. Lawrence Seaway.

Reports Crosses Over GI Graves Are Taken Down

As a further evidence of what he described as a "conspiracy to undermine the belief in God in this country," Chaplain Henry Darlington, DD, informed his listeners at a meeting of the Ulster County Women's Republican Club last night, that the crosses had been removed from the graves of American heroes in Hawaii.

He also asserted that a move was underway to remove crosses from the graves of our heroes in Flanders field and in Korea. "The reason given for this action is that the crosses are not practical . . . they disintegrate too quickly. With great fervor," he said, "you know and I know that is not the real reason, it is all part of the atheistic thinking which is creeping into our lives and those of our children."

"We must put an end to this movement and rid ourselves of the present administration in government. Declare yourselves at the polls as the first step in the beginning of a spiritual rebirth for the soul of our great country. Let us have honest men of character and vigilance at the head of our government. Don't spare yourselves in the fight to return the United States to her rightful place in the world," was the plea of the Rev. Dr. Darlington.

Onteora District To Vote on Fund

The Board of Education of the Onteora Central School District has called a special meeting of voters of the district Oct. 21 to vote upon a resolution appropriating $25,000 for transportation of pupils.

The meeting will be held at the Parish Hall in Phoenicia at 7:30 p. m. on that date.

The resolution upon which the residents of the district will act provides for the sum be appropriated from the balance and from other available monies in the annual school budget for 1952-53. Persons eligible to vote will be those qualified to vote at school meetings in the district, which is Central School District No. 1 of the towns of Olive, Shandaken, Woodstock, Marbletown and Hurley in Ulster county, and Lexington in Greene county.

Record Vote . . .

est spurred by a spirited presidential campaign.

Application for absentee ballots is also far in excess of previous years. Approximately 235 applications for absentee ballots have been received.

Service Folk Interested

Interest in the coming election by service folk is also far in excess of last year. Up until this morning there had been 466 applications for war ballots received at the board's office on John street and this is about three times as many as were received last year. An official at the Board of Elections office stated that from present indications it is expected that there may be approximately 600 war ballot applications received before election.

The large number of persons who applied during central registration indicates a desire on the part of the public to be sure of a vote on election day. Many expressed the reason for appearing for central registration as a desire to be sure of their vote and stated that they felt they might be absent from town on the days of registration and wanted to be sure they were registered and in a position to vote.

235 Ask Ballots

The 235 applications for absentee ballots also indicated an interest in the coming election and a desire to be able to cast a ballot even though absent from home on election day.

A campaign to interest service folk in the coming presidential election apparently has been quite successful, a board member stated, when it was revealed that 466 war ballot applications had already been received.

The days for registration in Kingston will be next Friday and Saturday, October 3 and 4, and Friday and Saturday, October 10 and 11.

County registration days where personal registration is not required will be on Saturday, October 4 and Saturday, October 11.

Will Seek Asylum

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—A Czechoslovak diplomat and former United Nations secretariat official says he will not return to his Communist-controlled homeland and will seek asylum here. Dr. Ivan Kerno, who retired last Sept. 10 as UN assistant secretary general for legal affairs, made his announcement last night on the "United or Not" television program (ABC). The 61-year-old Kerno, a member of the Czech diplomatic service since 1918 and a former aid of the late Czech President Eduard Benes, said he expected American officials to grant him permission to remain in this country.

Failed to Meet Quota

Moscow, Sept. 30 (AP)—A top Communist official in Soviet Azerbaijan has reported the oil industry in his area failed to meet its production quota during the past eight months largely because criminal elements infiltrated into the big southern Baku oil fields. In a report to the Azerbaijan Party Congress, First Secretary M. D. Bagirov said the criminal elements had been cleaned out now and the oil fields would be able to catch up in time to meet the full years' quota.

Clamp-Down Ordered

Heidelberg, Germany, Sept. 30 (AP)—The U. S. Army today announced a new clamp-down on soldiers' dependents who come over as tourists and stay without army authorization. New Postal Vehicle To Benefit Ulster

A new "postoffice on wheels," which is expected to improve postal service in the southern Ulster-Sullivan county area, will be inaugurated October 11. The new highway postoffice will serve a dozen communties in the area when it begins operation between Newark, N. J., and Hancock, 178 miles away.

The vehicle will make one round trip a day, leaving Newark at 5:45 a. m. daily and traveling to Hancock by way of Goshen, Bloomingburg, Wurtsboro, Summitville, Phillipsport, Spring Glen, Ellenville, Greenfield Park, Woodbourne, Fallsburg, South Fallsburg, Kiamesha Lake and Monticello and along Route 17 to Harris, Ferndale, Liberty, Parksville, Livingston Manor, Roscoe, Cooks Falls, Horton, Peakville, East Branch, Fish's Eddy, Cadosia and Hancock, arriving at Hancock at 1:12. It will traverse the same route, leaving Hancock at 3:05 and arrive in Newark at 10:32 p. m.

Three to Man Car

A driver and two mail clerks will man the rolling postoffice which will operate in much the same manner as railway mail cars. It is expected the new service will bring better mail deliveries and will replace a service which terminated in 1950 when the O & W Railroad ended mail services.

There will be first day cachets and cancellation stamps are to be provided for each post office, a service which is expected to excite stamp collectors. Covers, properly prepared, must be in the post offices not later than Oct. 9.

Use of Eggs

Two egg yolks may replace a whole egg in custard. Two egg yolks and one tablespoon of water may be used in place of a whole egg in many cookie recipes.

Plea Is Changed On Firearm Case In County Court

Rufus W. Beason, New York, who was charged with a technical violation of Section 1897, Sub. 4, of the Penal Law, possession of a firearm without the necessary permit, was in County Court Monday afternoon where he changed a former innocent plea to one of guilty. M. A. Weishaupt, Jr., appeared for Beason.

Beason told the court he had a permit to have a gun in New York but did not have a license for the gun which the troopers found. He said the weapon was unloaded.

In view of the circumstances Judge Cashin suspended imposition of any sentence and cautioned Beason that he should comply with the law regarding possession of weapons. Bail in the case was exonerated.

Other Cases

Harold J. Quick of Port Ewen, charged with violation of Section 185 of the Conservation law, illegal taking of deer, consented to have his case disposed of by civil compromise and signed a statement to that effect. This is a new law which "jacking" of deer is an indictable offense. Quick and Maynard Keefe were indicted for that offense alleged to have been committed Nov. 11, 1951. With the consent of the Conservation Department both cases have been disposed of by civil compromise with the defendants consenting to pay $200 each. Judge Cashin approved the agreement, bail was exonerated and the indictment was dismissed on the payment of the $200.

There were no additional civil matters for the court and Judge Cashin excused all jurors for the balance of the term. Thirty-seven civil cases have been disposed of at the September term and approximately the same number of criminal cases have been heard.

Court adjourned until 10 a. m. today without jury or court officers.

Cleveland Bags 4th; Score Hard to Keep

Keeping score on Lt. Charles G. Cleveland, of Woodstock, who is a jet fighter pilot in Korea, is a tough job. And, it is learned on authoritative grounds, the former West Pointer is only one plane away from becoming an ace.

The Freeman learned today that Cleveland bagged his fourth MIG Sunday, and the who-says is none other than the U. S. 5th Air Force, which, incidentally, gives him an additional score of two probably destroyed and five damaged. A pilot is considered an ace when he scores five kills.

Cleveland is due soon to be rotated to the United States, his mother, Mrs. Orestes Cleveland, of Woodstock, told The Freeman. Lt. Cleveland's wife and son live at present at East Orange, N. J.

Today's hand is a success story, since South got to a good slam contract and made it. The method of reaching the slam is likely to give the average player a mild case of the hipper-dippers, but it's all quite reasonable to the expert.

First, look at that opening bid of three hearts! Vulnerable, too. That bid was not made by the wild man of Borneo, but by Johnny Crawford, who would be on anybody's list of the five best bridge players in the world. And Johnny wasn't kidding at the time, for he bid and played this hand in the finals of the national team championship a few weeks ago.

The idea of such a bid is that the opponents will have a hard time getting to their best contract if they have to start at a high level. Ideally, Crawford should have had the jack of hearts instead of one of the small hearts, to make a penalty double less likely and less dangerous, but he wasn't dealt the jack of hearts so he got along without it.

As it happened, there was a big hand out against Crawford, just as he had supposed. But the big hand was held by his partner, B. Jay Becker, instead of by an opponent. So Becker had the headache.

Jay thought and thought, and then he thought some more. For a little more than a minute he was the center of attention in the quietest room in all America. Then he came up with the big bid.

Jay Becker is as scientific a bidder as you'll ever meet, but he knows that science isn't the whole story. There was a chance that the "killing" opening lead would defeat the slam, he reasoned, and informative bidding would make it easier for an enemy to pick that lead.

Hence Becker just bounced right into the slam and gave West no information at all. West opened a low club, and Crawford made the slam with seven trump tricks, four spades, and the ace of clubs.

At the other table, the North-South players bid several suits and then stopped at four hearts. Their bidding made it easy for their West to open a diamond, and the defenders promptly took two top diamonds and a diamond ruff.

Today's hand is a success story, since South got to a good slam contract and made it. The method of reaching the slam is likely to give the average player a mild case of the hipper-dippers, but it's all quite reasonable to the expert.

First, look at that opening bid of three hearts! Vulnerable, too. That bid was not made by the wild man of Borneo, but by Johnny Crawford, who would be on anybody's list of the five best bridge players in the world. And Johnny wasn't kidding at the time, for he bid and played this hand in the finals of the national team championship a few weeks ago.

The idea of such a bid is that the opponents will have a hard time getting to their best contract if they have to start at a high level. Ideally, Crawford should have had the jack of hearts instead of one of the small hearts, to make a penalty double less likely and less dangerous, but he wasn't dealt the jack of hearts so he got along without it.

As it happened, there was a big hand out against Crawford, just as he had supposed. But the big hand was held by his partner, B. Jay Becker, instead of by an opponent. So Becker had the headache.

Jay thought and thought, and then he thought some more. For a little more than a minute he was the center of attention in the quietest room in all America. Then he came up with the big bid.

Jay Becker is as scientific a bidder as you'll ever meet, but he knows that science isn't the whole story. There was a chance that the "killing" opening lead would defeat the slam, he reasoned, and informative bidding would make it easier for an enemy to pick that lead.

Hence Becker just bounced right into the slam and gave West no information at all. West opened a low club, and Crawford made the slam with seven trump tricks, four spades, and the ace of clubs.

At the other table, the North-South players bid several suits and then stopped at four hearts. Their bidding made it easy for their West to open a diamond, and the defenders promptly took two top diamonds and a diamond ruff.

Dodgers Bank on Joe Black to Beat Allie Reynolds in Series Opener

Ace Reliever Could Be Tough If in Top Form

Yanks Set With Chief, Raschi and Ed Lopat

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—The pitchless wonders of Brooklyn have put it squarely up to their wonderful rookie reliever, Joe Black, to get them off on the right foot against the favored Yankees in the World Series opener tomorrow at Ebbets Field.

Never before in big league history has a champion of either circuit been forced to undertake such a desperate gamble. Other rookies have been called upon in the important first game, and there have been bullpen specialists before. But the combination of the two, out there trying to turn back the Bombers before the eyes of the nation, will be unprecedented.

Manager Chuck Dressen took a calculated risk when he nominated the 28-year-old Negro freshman to duel with the Yanks' mighty Allie Reynolds, as great a money pitcher as there is in the game today. He could have held his relief ace back and been assured of late-inning insurance as long as the big play-off lasts. He chose to play it bold, to stake his hopes of a world championship on one throw of the cubes.

Black Is the Key

If Black, an unperturbable control specialist, pitches up to his brilliant form of the regular campaign, he will give Chief Reynolds a mighty battle tomorrow. If he turns back the Yankees, the 8-to-5 ods in favor of the American Leaguers will take an abrupt dip, and it could turn out to be a rip-roaring World Series.

Should the gamble fail and Black take a shellacking, the National Leaguers will be in trouble, stripped temporarily of the relief pitching which held their shaky mound staff together all season. The rookie phenom appeared in 56 games, and though he was credited with only 15 victories his contributions easily equalled those of a 25-game winner. His earned-run average, 2.15, was the best in the league.

An angle which Dressen undoubtedly took into serious consideration in handing Black the blazing torch was the mental lift to be derived from winning the opener. Should the rookie win over Reynolds, the Yankees' best, other less endowed members of the Dodger staff might be inspired to pitch above their usual weight in the ensuing games. Something of the kind would appear to be needed if the boys across the bridge are to hang in there for more than five or six games.

It was no surprise that Dressen named Carl Erskine, a 14-6 performer over the year, to face big Vic Raschi, 16-6, in Thursday's second game at Ebbets Field, nor that he nominated Preacher Roe, veteran southpaw, to match port-side shoots with Easy Ed Lopat in the third contest at Yankee Stadium.

Dressen Confident

The standard bearers were scheduled to take their final work-

outs today at the Stadium. The Dodgers, returning a courtesy, invited the Yanks to tune up their batting eyes at Ebbets Field, but the American Leaguers declined with thanks, saying that they knew the place well from past World Series and exhibition games.

While Stengel staunchily refused to predict the outcome of the playoff, even in pig Latin, Dressen continued to breathe fire and defiance in his talks with newsmen, possibly to bolster the morale of his athletes.

"I've told them there's no more DiMaggios and Henrichs on the Yankees to scare you like there used to be," said the voluble little leader. "They're only the best in the American League—not a great club. I'm not worried about their pitching after facing fellows like Robin Roberts and Sal Maglie in the National League."

Fights Last Night

By The Associated Press

Brooklyn — Lee Sala, 161¾, Donora, Pa., outpointed Norman Hayes, 166, Boston (10).

Brooklyn — Danny Viovanelli, 140, Brooklyn, stopped Eddie Oilver, 143¾, Hartford, Conn. (5).

Chicago — Billy Noble, 185½, Grand Island, Neb., knocked out Phil Sanderson, 174½, Chicago (2).

STARTING PITCHERS 'ON THE BALL'

Yankee Pitching Rates Big Edge

Headed by their big chief Allie Reynolds, the American League's earned run leader, Casey Stengel's mound staff, 11 strong, is a well rested crew as they prepare for the first game against the Brooklyn Dodgers tomorrow in Ebbets Field.

Reynolds, who became a 20-game winner for the first time this season, along with Vic Raschi (16-6) and Eddie Lopat (10-5), the other probable series starters, and Johnny Sain (11-6), Bob Kuzava (8-8), Tom Gorman (6-2) and Ray Scarborough (6-6) are being counted on for heavy duty.

The Dodgers pitching corps, too, is well rested but there the resemblance ends. Joe Black, their phenomenal rookie, drew the opening game assignment against Reynolds largely on the strength of his excellent record in relief. But the fastballing Negro hurler, who posted a 15-4 record during the late campaign, made only two starts among his 56 appearances and completed one game.

Going the distance has been one of the things the members of the Brooklyn staff have been unable to do frequently. Only Carl Erskine (14-6) has hurled a complete game as many as ten times. Preacher Roe, who had 11 victories and only two defeats, went all the way on eight occasions and young Billy Loes (13-8) came up with seven complete jobs.

Yankee pitchers, on the other hand, have shown much better route-going propensities. Reynolds with 24 complete games was tops with Raschi 13, Lopat 10, and Sain, eight, also well up there.

Baugh Ousted For First Time

Chicago, Sept. 30 (AP) — The Washington Redskins' 38-year-old player-coach, Sammy Baugh, was tossed out of the game last night but not before he had completed 11 consecutive passes to inspire his team to a 23-7 National Football League victory over the Chicago Cardinals.

The upset win, before 17,800 fans in Comiskey Park, opened league play for both teams and marked Washington's first triumph after five exhibition defeats.

Baugh and Don Joyce, a 250-pound second-year tackle from Tulane, exchanged blows after a pile up in the fourth period. Both were ejected by Referee Bill Downes.

It was the first time in the procareer of the usually calm Baugh —starting his 16th season with the Redskins—that he had been banished from a game.

Dixie Harris Checks Bud Hitsman's Streak

Dixie Harris, the North Carolina ace, made Bud Hitsman's reign as cock-of-the-walk at Arlington Speedway a brief one by capturing Sunday's 25-lap feature.

Harris outmaneuvered five opponents in the last seven laps for a standout victory.

Jerry Ackert of Poughkeepsie finished second, followed by Hal McCarty, Bud Hitsman, Herb Mason and Ray Anderson.

Heat winners were Pinky Disbrow, Bud Hitsman and Hal McCarty. Ray Miller and Doug Benjamin copped first places in the semi-finals and Ray Anderson took the consolation.

The Arlington Speedway season concludes next Sunday with a 100-lap Eastern Sportsmen's Championship, a 40-lap non-qualifiers feature and a 20-lap trophy race for non-driving car owners.

Michigan State No. 1 Grid Team

New York, Sept. 30 (AP) — Resourceful Michigan State was a solid choice as the No. 1 college football team in the country today in the Associated Press' first weekly poll.

Sports writers and broadcasters, who in a pre-season sampling of opinion named the Spartans as the best bet to win the national championship, apparently were further convinced by State's 27-13 comeback victory over Michigan last Saturday.

They gave the Spartans 52 of the 83 first place votes cast and an impressive total of 752 points, nearly twice that of the No. 2 team, Illinois.

Point totals are arrived at by awarding ten for a first place vote, nine for second, etc.

No other team got more than seven No. 1 votes, this summer going to Maryland's Sugar Bowl champions who gained third place on close-squeak triumphs over Missouri and Auburn.

California was named fourth, without a single first place vote but with strong runnerup support, and Texas, winner over Louisiana State and North Carolina, was fifth with only five votes for first.

Completing the top ten, in order, were Georgia Tech, Southern California, Wisconsin, Kansas and Duke.

Two of the top ten come to grips this weekend when Illinois, No. 2, tackles Wisconsin, No. 8, in the Big Ten's outstanding attraction.

Salt Lake City—Bob Dunlap, 179, Salt Lake City, outpointed Omelio Argramonte, 192, Cuba (10).

Cerebral Hemorrhage Fells Sep Palin

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 30 (AP) —Sep Palin, Indianapolis, noted harness race driver, was in serious condition today at Good Samaritan Hospital with a cerebral hemorrhage and a fractured skull.

Palin, 74, was stricken yesterday as he was watching a time trial at the Lexington trotting track. Friends said he slumped from a rail position and struck his head on the ground.

Earlier in the afternon he had watched his partner, Jimmie Wingfield, pilot their two-year-old season's champion pacer, Hillsota, to a victory in the $9,500 Meadowlands purse.

Palin probably is best known for his work with Greyhound, whom he drove to a world's trotting record of 1:55¼ for the mile on Lexington's famous "Red Mile" in 1938. He won the Hambletonian twice, with Greyhound in 1935 and with Hoot Mon in 1937.

George Carpouzis unloaded 30 points in a Y Autum League basketball game but even that bumper crop couldn't save Lincoln Park Inn from a 66-60 setback by the 3 Brothers Farm quintet.

The former Esopus Firemen cagers picked up a 29-25 lead in the first half and held it doggedly through the last two periods.

Carpouzis drilled a dozen fields, at least six from outside the 15-foot circle, and had six conversions for his 30 points.

Big Jack Doyle with 20 points and Richie Mains with 13 powered the steady flow of Farm points. Bob "Pappy" Sickler hit double figures for Lincoln Park Inn with 10 markers.

Nicholas Cosmos, club director, said today that the club's facilities have been improved and an expanded program is in store for members during the 1952-53 season.

Cosmos will be assisted by a capable Leaders Corps that includes Ray Van Buren, Joe Thurin, Jack Thurin, Bob Sember and Buddy Smith.

The largest room in the building has been converted to a miniature gymnasium. Here a heavy and light bag have been set up for the proposed boxing program, wrestling, weight-lifting, and fundamental gymnastics will be offered. Other activities which have been added to the program are pocket billiards, basketball, a new selection of quiet games, and another and more adequate TV set has been acquired for those who wish to look at television.

Activities carried over from last year's program which will be continued are crafts, library program, popular games room, ping pong, social functions, inter club activities, and the weekly Saturday night movies.

Tom Miller, Duke University tackle, is the son of E. E. (Rip) Miller, U. S. Naval Academy assistant athletic director and former Notre Dame athlete.

John W. Morriss, Jr., assistant athletic director at Michigan State, set a world high hurdles record when he won the AAU title in 1933.

The Lawrence Realization, a race of one mile and five furlongs for three-year-olds, was first run in 1889. It was won by Salvator and he earned $34,100.

Dolling Up Those Gunstocks

By WARREN PAGE
(Shooting Editor)

Behind the back door of nearly every farmhouse—and many city apartments—there stands a rifle or shotgun. Most of these weapons are so beat up, their stocks so badly battered, that their owners wouldn't dare take 'em out into polite society. That shouldn't be, because even a plain piece of walnut can be made handsome with a good finish; a refinishing job is easy.

After you've taken the gun down, so that no metal parts are left with the wood, what's left of the original finish, be it varnish or lacquer, can be stripped off with varnish remover. If that isn't handy, use 3/0 steel wool, then sandpaper graded in fineness as you get down to the wood, and plenty of honest elbow grease. Rub the stock smooth, until it has a hard glossy surface.

If the old stock is dented a bit, some of the dents can be steamed out quite handily. Your wife's steam iron and a wet cloth will bring up all but the worst hollows. Or, use a hot iron driving its heat through a rag dampened with warm water. Sand the gun over lightly when it's dry. Look better?

The next step is to raise any soft sections in the grain. Slosh the wood with hot water. See those little whiskers come up? Cut them off with fine sandpaper, and repeat the process until there's no semblance of 5 o'clock shadow when the wood is dry. Professional stockmakers singe off these whiskers over a flame, but unless the amateur wants to risk burning his buttstock, this it not for him.

If that beautiful hunk of walnut had a commercial finish on it in good shape before you got at it with the sandpaper, and you used any remover sparingly, the chances are that it will not need any filler. If the wood is old and clearly shows empty pores, then either use a commercial filler or a half-and-half mixture of bartop varnish and linseed put on sparingly and sanded clean to the wood between coats. Now you're ready for the final finish.

Any one of the many stock finishes on the market will do a very handsome and durable job if you do your part by following directions carefully. Remember that the secret of any gunstock finish is to build up the finish in the wood rather than on it. All of them give best results when used as several thin coats with a lot of rubbing in between.

Now a word about linseed oil, a much misunderstood kind of wood finisher. Raw linseed is loaded with non-drying elements called "foots." Put on a big dose of raw linseed and your stock will never dry completely—the finish will be gummy forever, darker than you want. Boiled linseed, which is not necessarily boiled at all, has driers added. These act like turpentine does in paint.

There are some refined linseeds being advertised which have had the "foots" removed, without the drying adulterants added. These are tophole. On your properly prepared stock rub—with your hands—a thin coat. Let it dry overnight. Repeat before you leave for work in the morning. Repeat again that evening. Thin coats. Don't slobber it on.

Use three or four coats, and after each, rub the oily wood with the palm of your hand until your flesh threatens to blister. That will be enough for a durable finish, one that you can look into and see the handsome grain of that rejuvenated gunstock.

Graham-Gavilan Sellout Predicted

Havana, Cuba, Sept. 30 (AP)—A sell-out was predicted today for Kid Gavilan-Billy Graham welterweight championship fight here Oct. 4.

Dr. Lorenzo Nodarse, government sports director, said "We have more than $40,000 in cash on hand for tickets already, and it looks as if the 45,000 seats we are planning will not be enough."

The ring will be erected around the pitcher's box in the open air in the already lighted baseball stadium.

"Demand is so brisk we may have to erect still more bleachers and other seats," Nodarse said. "Unfortunately, we can't go to work in the stadium until Thursday, but there will be time, with big crews of workmen on hand, to get things ready."

Dodgers Bank on Joe Black to Beat Allie Reynolds in Series Opener

Yanks Set With Chief, Raschi and Ed Lopat

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—The pitchless wonders of Brooklyn have put it squarely up to their wonderful rookie reliever, Joe Black, to get them off on the right foot against the favored Yankees in the World Series opener tomorrow at Ebbets Field.

Never before in big league history has a champion of either circuit been forced to undertake such a desperate gamble. Other rookies have been called upon in the important first game, and there have been bullpen specialists before. But the combination of the two, out there trying to turn back the Bombers before the eyes of the nation, will be unprecedented.

Manager Chuck Dressen took a calculated risk when he nominated the 28-year-old Negro freshman to duel with the Yanks' mighty Allie Reynolds, as great a money pitcher as there is in the game today. He could have held his relief ace back and been assured of late-inning insurance as long as the big play-off lasts. He chose to play it bold, to stake his hopes of a world championship on one throw of the cubes.

Black Is the Key

If Black, an unperturbable control specialist, pitches up to his brilliant form of the regular campaign, he will give Chief Reynolds a mighty battle tomorrow. If he turns back the Yankees, the 8-to-5 ods in favor of the American Leaguers will take an abrupt dip, and it could turn out to be a rip-roaring World Series.

Should the gamble fail and Black take a shellacking, the National Leaguers will be in trouble, stripped temporarily of the relief pitching which held their shaky mound staff together all season. The rookie phenom appeared in 56 games, and though he was credited with only 15 victories his contributions easily equalled those of a 25-game winner. His earned-run average, 2.15, was the best in the league.

An angle which Dressen undoubtedly took into serious consideration in handing Black the blazing torch was the mental lift to be derived from winning the opener. Should the rookie win over Reynolds, the Yankees' best, other less endowed members of the Dodger staff might be inspired to pitch above their usual weight in the ensuing games. Something of the kind would appear to be needed if the boys across the bridge are to hang in there for more than five or six games.

It was no surprise that Dressen named Carl Erskine, a 14-6 performer over the year, to face big Vic Raschi, 16-6, in Thursday's second game at Ebbets Field, nor that he nominated Preacher Roe, veteran southpaw, to match portside shoots with Easy Ed Lopat in the third contest at Yankee Stadium.

Dressen Confident

The standard bearers were scheduled to take their final work-

outs today at the Stadium. The Dodgers, returning a courtesy, invited the Yanks to tune up their batting eyes at Ebbets Field, but the American Leaguers declined with thanks, saying that they knew the place well from past World Series and exhibition games.

While Stengel staunchly refused to predict the outcome of the playoff, even in pig Latin, Dressen continued to breathe fire and defiance in his talks with newsmen, possibly to bolster the morale of his athletes.

"I've told them there's no more DiMaggios and Henrichs on the Yankees to scare you like there used to be," said the voluble little leader. "They're only the best in the American League—not a great club. I'm not worried about their pitching after facing fellows like Robin Roberts and Sal Maglie in the National League."

Brooklyn — Lee Sala, 161¾, Donora, Pa., outpointed Norman Hayes, 166, Boston (10).

Brooklyn — Danny Viovanelli, 140, Brooklyn, stopped Eddie Oilver, 143¾, Hartford, Conn. (5).

Chicago — Billy Noble, 185½, Grand Island, Neb., knocked out Phil Sanderson, 174½, Chicago (2).

STARTING PITCHERS 'ON THE BALL'

Yankee Pitching Rates Big Edge

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—If pitching means anything in a World Series, and it usually does, the New York Yankees are off to a head start in their quest of a fourth consecutive world's championship.

Headed by their big chief Allie Reynolds, the American League's earned run leader, Casey Stengel's mound staff, 11 strong, is a well rested crew as they prepare for the first game against the Brooklyn Dodgers tomorrow in Ebbets Field.

Reynolds, who became a 20-game winner for the first time this season, along with Vic Raschi (16-6) and Eddie Lopat (10-5), the other probable series starters, and Johnny Sain (11-6), Bob Kuzava (8-8), Tom Gorman (6-2) and Ray Scarborough (6-6) are being counted on for heavy duty.

The Dodgers pitching corps, too, is well rested but there the resemblance ends. Joe Black, their phenomenal rookie, drew the opening game assignment against Reynolds largely on the strength of his excellent record in relief. But the fastballing Negro hurler, who posted a 15-4 record during the late campaign, made only two starts among his 56 appearances and completed one game.

Going the distance has been one of the things the members of the Brooklyn staff have been unable to do frequently. Only Carl Erskine (14-6) has hurled a complete game as many as ten times. Preacher Roe, who had 11 victories and only two defeats, went all the way on eight occasions and young Billy Loes (13-8) came up with seven complete jobs.

Yankee pitchers, on the other hand, have shown much better route-going propensities. Reynolds with 24 complete games was tops with Raschi 13, Lopat 10, and Sain, eight, also well up there.

Baugh Ousted For First Time

Chicago, Sept. 30 (AP) — The Washington Redskins' 38-year-old player-coach, Sammy Baugh, was tossed out of the game last night but not before he had completed 11 consecutive passes to inspire his team to a 23-7 National Football League victory over the Chicago Cardinals.

The upset win, before 17,800 fans in Comiskey Park, opened league play for both teams and marked Washington's first triumph after five exhibition defeats.

Baugh and Don Joyce, a 250-pound second-year tackle from Tulane, exchanged blows after a pile up in the fourth period. Both were ejected by Referee Bill Downes.

It was the first time in the procareer of the usually calm Baugh —starting his 16th season with the Redskins—that he had been banished from a game.

Dixie Harris Checks Bud Hitsman's Streak

Dixie Harris, the North Carolina ace, made Bud Hitsman's reign as cock-of-the-walk at Arlington Speedway a brief one by capturing Sunday's 25-lap feature.

Harris outmaneuvered five opponents in the last seven laps for a standout victory.

Jerry Ackert of Poughkeepsie finished second, followed by Hal McCarty, Bud Hitsman, Herb Mason and Ray Anderson.

Heat winners were Pinky Disbrow, Bud Hitsman and Hal McCarty. Ray Miller and Doug Benjamin copped first places in the semi-finals and Ray Anderson took the consolation.

The Arlington Speedway season concludes next Sunday with a 100-lap Eastern Sportsmen's Championship, a 40-lap non-qualifiers feature and a 20-lap trophy race for non-driving car owners.

Michigan State No. 1 Grid Team

New York, Sept. 30 (AP) — Resourceful Michigan State was a solid choice as the No. 1 college football team in the country today in the Associated Press' first weekly poll.

Sports writers and broadcasters, who in a pre-season sampling of opinion named the Spartans as the best bet to win the national championship, apparently were further convinced by State's 27-13 comeback victory over Michigan last Saturday.

They gave the Spartans 52 of the 83 first place votes cast and an impressive total of 752 points, nearly twice that of the No. 2 team, Illinois.

Point totals are arrived at by awarding ten for a first place vote, nine for second, etc.

No other team got more than seven No. 1 votes, this summer going to Maryland's Sugar Bowl champions who gained third place on close-squeak triumphs over Missouri and Auburn.

California was named fourth, without a single first place vote but with strong runnerup support, and Texas, winner over Louisiana State and North Carolina, was fifth with only five votes for first.

Completing the top ten, in order, were Georgia Tech, Southern California, Wisconsin, Kansas and Duke.

Two of the top ten come to grips this weekend when Illinois, No. 2, tackles Wisconsin, No. 8, in the Big Ten's outstanding attraction.

Satl Lake City—Bob Dunlap, 179, Salt Lake City, outpointed Omelio Argramonte, 192, Cuba (10).

Cerebral Hemorrhage Fells Sep Palin

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 30 (AP) —Sep Palin, Indianapolis, noted harness race driver, was in serious condition today at Good Samaritan Hospital with a cerebral hemorrhage and a fractured skull.

Palin, 74, was stricken yesterday as he was watching a time trial at the Lexington trotting track. Friends said he slumped from a rail position and struck his head on the ground.

Earlier in the afternon he had watched his partner, Jimmie Wingfield, pilot their two-year-old season's champion pacer, Hillsota, to a victory in the $9,500 Meadowlands purse.

Palin probably is best known for his work with Greyhound, whom he drove to a world's trotting record of 1:55¼ for the mile on Lexington's famous "Red Mile" in 1938. He won the Hambletonian twice, with Greyhound in 1935 and with Hoot Mon in 1937.

BOWLING

Frank Roe missed the coveted "600" circle by the proverbial eyelash in the Independent League and Bessie Lynn was out in front in the Women's Junior Major with 437.

A 571 series gave Dot Rawding runnerup honors in the Women's Major where Rose Schatzel pounded 542 and Eleanor Singer had 502. Miss Markle crashed one of the top singles of the season—226—and had lesser counts of 194 and 173.

Elizabeth Bruck shot 493; Charlotte Lapine had 483, while Betty Bailey and Marge Jansen cracked a pair of 472s.

Minors Hit Hard

City Minor League keglers went on a pinfall spree with 26 keglers in the "500" or better department. Leo Bechtold was 17 pins off the pace with 201-202—594 and Joe Misasi stacked 212—589. Ed Koskie shot 228—569. Harry Van Nosdall (211) and George Brown (221) tied with 568s and Joe Maurer tossed a 563.

Also in the top bracket were Bill Murray 207—563; Millie Berardi 542; Ed Dasher 537; Jack Tremper and Harry Secreto (201) with 534s; Ken Radel 220—533 and Joe Ausanio 200—530.

Frank Roe's leading series in the Independent League was made up of games of 160, 214 and 225. Knute Beichert sandwiched the best solo of the night—230—with a pair of 178s for 586 and Garry Wilber toppled 578. Craig Plough, exponent of the slim waist, crashed 560 and F. Bruno posted 224—555; Milt Cole, Jr., rolled 552; J. Davis 217—539; Gene Vogel, 535; Ray Roux 200—534; Tom Welch 525 and Leon Studt 203—522.

Indianapolis Woman Rolls Sixth "700" Series

Indianapolis, Sept. 30 (AP)—Mrs. Pay Dryer, long one of Indianapolis top bowlers, today claimed to be the first American woman to bowl a 700 series six times.

Her sixth was a 704 Monday night on games of 235, 200, and 269. She made the score with the Morris Plan team at the Pennsylvania alleys.

Mrs. Dryer said Catherine Burling, Cincinnati, has rolled five 700 series.

Hughes-Campochiaro Tie With A. Boice-B. Davis at Twaalfskill

Present and former club champions at Twaalfskill Golf Club gave their partners some excellent shooting to finish in a deadlock for first place in the annual Calcutta tournament.

George Hughes, 1951 club titlist and Father Herdegen Memorial winner, and Frank Campochiaro had earlier posted the same figure.

Hughes and Boice achieved their ends in different ways. George fired a par-70 on the first 18 and then mushroomed to 74. Boice slipped one over, with a 71, on the first round and then crackled with birdies for the 68 which enabled the Boice-Davis tandem to tie for first place.

The Hughes-Compochiaro team had a 17 handicap, while Boice and Davis worked with 22.

Remmert-O'Reilly 3rd

Ed Remmert and Ed O'Reilly took third money with a 287 and Robert Russell and Louis J. Smith collaborated for the fourth place score of 293. Remmert fired rounds of 76 and 75.

A tie for fifth place was shared by the Robert O'Reilly-William Fuller and Robert Umpleby-Ernie Schirmer combines with 296s.

Bob Boice and J. Frederick Ertel were in the seventh spot with 297. Two teams will share eighth and ninth money with 298s — Al Flanagan-Dr. Robert McCaig, of Saugerties—and Burt Haver and Fabian Russell.

The prizes will be awarded at the annual President's Dinner on Saturday, Oct. 4, at the clubhouse. Club championship trophies also will be awarded at that time.

CHECKING PRO-AM RETURNS

Mrs. Tom Danaher, left, wife of the Wiltwyck Golf Club professional, and Mrs. Frances Prior, right, were up to their ears in statistics Sunday as scores poured in for the highly successful Pro-Am tournament that concluded the competitive season for Northeastern New York PGA members. Mrs. Danaher appears to have been slightly startled by the cameraman, who gave no warning. The tournament was won by Charlie DeStefano and Joe Molinaro of Poughkeepsie with a best ball 66. (Freeman Photo)

Christy Mathewson pitched 68 innings without allowing a base on balls in the summer of 1913.

Boost Wood Memorial To $100,000 Purse

New York, Sept. 30 (AP) — The Wood Memorial, major eastern prep for the Kentucky Derby, will be doubled in value from $50,000 to $100,000 next spring, directors of Jamaica race track announced today.

The three-year-old race, usually held in April about two weeks before the Derby, was inaugurated in 1925. Six winners of the Wood, Gallant Fox, Twenty Grand, Johnstown, Count Fleet, Hoop Jr. and Assault, have gone on to take the Derby.

This will be the fourth hundred grander before the $100,000 Derby itself at Louisville the first Saturday in May. The others are the Flamingo at Hialeah and the Florida Derby at Gulfstream, and the Santa Anita Derby in California.

George Morris of Vicksburg, Miss., and Hal Miller of Kingsport, Tenn., are co-captains of the Georgia Tech football team.

Belleayre Scenic Lift Continues Operation

The chair lift at the Belleayre Mt. Ski Center at Highmount will continue to operate on Saturdays and Sundays through mid-October for those who wish to enjoy the rich fall foliage of the Catskill Mountains, it has been announced.

The 3,000-foot chair lift, built and operated by the New York State Conservation Department, was visited by approximately 20,000 persons during the summer, it was said. Last winter, not marked by unusually heavy snow, Belleayre enjoyed 94 days of skiing.

The Ski School will again be under the direction of Dot Hoyt Nebel, assisted by Cal Cantrell and Jimmy Andress as a full-time instructor. Dick Rolland will be among the new instructors on the staff.

Walter Johnson pitched 113 shutouts during his 21 years in the American League.

BOWLING

Adabelle Markle and Bob Schneider were the top individual keglers in last night's bowling, the former leading the Women's Major with a 593 blast at the Bowlodrome, while Schneider's 214-166-231—611 highlighted action in the City Minor wheel on the same planks.

Frank Roe missed the coveted "600" circle by the proverbial eyelash in the Independent League and Bessie Lynn was out in front in the Women's Junior Major with 437.

A 571 series gave Dot Rawding runnerup honors in the Women's Major where Rose Schatzel pounded 542 and Eleanor Singer had 502. Miss Markle crashed one of the top singles of the season—226—and had lesser counts of 194 and 173.

Elizabeth Bruck shot 493; Charlotte Lapine had 483, while Betty Bailey and Marge Jansen cracked a pair of 472s.

Minors Hit Hard

City Minor League keglers went on a pinfall spree with 26 keglers in the "500" or better department. Leo Bechtold was 17 pins off the pace with 201-202—594 and Joe Misasi stacked 212—589. Ed Koskie shot 228—569. Harry Van Nosdall (211) and George Brown (221) tied with 568s and Joe Maurer tossed a 563.

Also in the top bracket were Bill Murray 207—563; Millie Berardi 542; Ed Dasher 537; Jack Tremper and Harry Secreto (201) with 534s; Ken Radel 220—533 and Joe Ausanio 200—530.

Frank Roe's leading series in the Independent League was made up of games of 160, 214 and 225. Knute Beichert sandwiched the best solo of the night—230—with a pair of 178s for 586 and Garry Wilber toppled 578. Craig Plough, exponent of the slim waist, crashed 560 and F. Bruno posted 224—555; Milt Cole, Jr., rolled 552; J. Davis 217—539; Gene Vogel, 535; Ray Roux 200—534; Tom Welch 525 and Leon Studt 203—522.

Lynn Shoots 437

Bessie Lynn's 167-154-116 was best-of-night in the Women's Junior Major where Ruth Toffel and F. Hogan each posted 417s. Mabel Mackey shot 399 and A. Mitchell had 391.

In Sunday night action in the Central Rec Mixed League, Don Peterson's 614 shaded Lottie Cashara by three pins for high single honors among the men. Jennie Spada's 460, with 149, 177 and 134, led the distaff department.

Peterson toppled 207, 224 and 183 to Cashara's 209-204-198. T. Graham had 201—565; Joe Sangi 205—561; Dick Hoard 559; Jack Martin 511; Frank Cirone 505 and W. Nagel 504. Miss Spada tripled 149-177-134—560; Rose Mary Boice 427 and G. Graham 402.

Eddie Heins, who is experiencing a good, early-season surge led the Tavern Association Sunday shooters with 601. The bowlingest man in town reeled off games of 223, 167 and 202.

Emil Jordan's 555 was good for the runnerup spot and J .O'Rourke rolled 551 for third. Other good pinfall was credited to G. Anderson 538, G. Smith 208-535, R. McDermott 534, J. Ryan 531.

Lou Navara's 480 (170-172-138) was the best count in the Jacobson Mixed League. J. Murray rolled 460 and Joe Heidcamp totalled 454. L. Murray, 452, and P. Jones, 449, rounded out the top five.

Carmen Massa exploded with a neat 546 in the Y Mercantile American, toppling the timbers for 201-172-173. Tom Rowland came up with 501, Bob Fatum 496, Claraence Rowland Jr., 494 and Eddie Auclair. J. Amato posted 450.

Herbie Sleight powered another "600" series, this time a 616, with 201-207-208, to pace the Junior Major League at the Central Recs.

Runnerup Hans Maylahn fired 213-560 and B. Conlin 212-552. Tom Orr, the KBA president, rolled 513. The near-miss group included Ed Ougheltree 499, Herm Seelbach and J. Albright, 495, and W. Wood, 494.

Indianapolis Woman Rolls Sixth "700" Series

Indianapolis, Sept. 30 (AP)—Mrs. Pay Dryer, long one of Indianapolis top bowlers, today claimed to be the first American woman to bowl a 700 series six times.

Her sixth was a 704 Monday night on games of 235, 200, and 269. She made the score with the Morris Plan team at the Pennsylvania alleys.

Mrs. Dryer said Catherine Burling, Cincinnati, has rolled five 700 series.

Hughes-Campochiaro Tie With A. Boice-B. Davis at Twaalfskill

Present and former club champions at Twaalfskill Golf Club gave their partners some excellent shooting to finish in a deadlock for first place in the annual Calcutta tournament.

The current club and city champion, Alvin Boice, carded a brilliant 2-under-par 68 in the second round to tie for first place at 285 with Bud Davis.

George Hughes, 1951 club titlist and Father Herdegen Memorial winner, and Frank Campochiaro had earlier posted the same figure.

Hughes and Boice achieved their ends in different ways. George fired a par-70 on the first 18 and then mushroomed to 74. Boice slipped one over, with a 71, on the first round and then crackled with birdies for the 68 which enabled the Boice-Davis tandem to tie for first place.

The Hughes-Compochiaro team had a 17 handicap, while Boice and Davis worked with 22.

Remmert-O'Reilly 3rd

Ed Remmert and Ed O'Reilly took third money with a 287 and Robert Russell and Louis J. Smith collaborated for the fourth place score of 293. Remmert fired rounds of 76 and 75.

A tie for fifth place was shared by the Robert O'Reilly-William Fuller and Robert Umpleby-Ernie Schirmer combines with 296s.

Bob Boice and J. Frederick Ertel were in the seventh spot with 297. Two teams will share eighth and ninth money with 298s—Al Flanagan-Dr. Robert McCaig, of Saugerties—and Burt Haver and Fabian Russell.

The prizes will be awarded at the annual President's Dinner on Saturday, Oct. 4, at the clubhouse. Club championship trophies also will be awarded at that time.

Christy Mathewson pitched 68 innings without allowing a base on balls in the summer of 1913.

Wes Ferrell won 21 or more games during his first four seasons with the Cleveland Indians.

CHECKING PRO-AM RETURNS

Mrs. Tom Danaher, left, wife of the Wiltwyck Golf Club professional, and Mrs. Frances Prior, right, were up to their ears in statistics Sunday as scores poured in for the highly successful Pro-Am tournament that concluded the competitive season for Northeastern New York PGA members. Mrs. Danaher appears to have been slightly startled by the cameraman, who gave no warning. The tournament was won by Charlie DeStefano and Joe Molinaro of Poughkeepsie with a best ball 66. Boost Wood Memorial To $100,000 Purse

New York, Sept. 30 (AP) — The Wood Memorial, major eastern prep for the Kentucky Derby, will be doubled in value from $50,000 to $100,000 next spring, directors of Jamaica race track announced today.

The three-year-old race, usually held in April about two weeks before the Derby, was inaugurated in 1925. Six winners of the Wood, Gallant Fox, Twenty Grand, Johnstown, Count Fleet, Hoop Jr. and Assault, have gone on to take the Derby.

This will be the fourth hundred grander before the $100,000 Derby itself at Louisville the first Saturday in May. The others are the Flamingo at Hialeah and the Florida Derby at Gulfstream, and the Santa Anita Derby in California.

George Morris of Vicksburg, Miss., and Hal Miller of Kingsport, Tenn., are co-captains of the Georgia Tech football team.

Belleayre Scenic Lift Continues Operation

The chair lift at the Belleayre Mt. Ski Center at Highmount will continue to operate on Saturdays and Sundays through mid-October for those who wish to enjoy the rich fall foliage of the Catskill Mountains, it has been announced.

The 3,000-foot chair lift, built and operated by the New York State Conservation Department, was visited by approximately 20,000 persons during the summer, it was said. Last winter, not marked by unusually heavy snow, Belleayre enjoyed 94 days of skiing.

The Ski School will again be under the direction of Dot Hoyt Nebel, assisted by Cal Cantrell and Jimmy Andress as a full-time instructor. Dick Rolland will be among the new instructors on the staff.

Walter Johnson pitched 113 shutouts during his 21 years in the American League.

Stevenson Defends

in, not from without. The danger lies not in Moscow, but in Washington. Your enemy is not Joseph Stalin, but Harry Truman, or even possibly Adlai Stevenson'."

This country, he declared, "must play the principal part in saving ourselves, our friends and our civilization" from "this monster tyranny of communism.

"How long can we keep on fighting in Korea, paying high taxes, Helping others to help ourselves?" he asked.

"There is only one answer: We can keep it up as long as we have to, and we will."

Cites Questions

He said his mail indicated the people are troubled most by these four questions:

"Korea, how serious is the Communist danger in this country, is our prosperity in danger, and how can we get the highest integrity and dignity in governments?"

Taking up these issues, he said:

"No approach to the problem of corruption in government is good enough if it ignores the deeper problem of corruption in men.

"We do not say that a bank is corrupt because a cashier embezzles, the problem of corruption and graft in the simplest form is a problem of individual morals, public and private.

"Behind every crooked tax collector is a crooked tax payer.

On the issue of communism in this country, he said that "I don't believe oaths and affidavits are much good, because a real Communist does not hesitate to lie."

It is said that Jerusalem derived its name from a word meaning "abode of peace."

Democrats Accused

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, and decides party policy on major issues in the Senate.

The report said secrecy in government had increased slowly since 1933 and "reached its climax under Truman" whose administration, it said, used censorship, concealment and deception to keep the public in the dark about federal affairs.

"In one way or another the whole of government has been poisoned by this infection of secrecy," the report said.

"Truman is the author of three famous executive orders having as their aim first, the concealment of executive action from Congress; second, the slow strangling of every means of communication — press, radio, television and moving pictures; and third, the deliberate use of supposedly confidential information in an attempt to destroy political opponents.

Orders Identified

The three orders were identified as the loyalty order of March, 1947; a supplementary order on loyalty investigation procedures in September, 1951; and an order last January opening income tax returns to the inspection of the Senate Rules Committee.

The Republican report said the real reason for the third order was the "administration's passionate desire" to ruin Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R.-Wis.), at the time under attack in the Senate by Sen. Benton (D.-Conn.)

"To aid this hatchet work the President opened the income tax returns to the Rules Committee," the report said. "A more flagrant abuse of the executive power was never seen."

Truck Driver Killed

Paramus, N. J., Sept. 30 (AP)—A truck driver was killed today as his 10-ton vehicle, loaded with eggs, overturned on Route 17 near the Route 4 intersection. Police said the southbound truck rolled atop an auto, whose driver escaped with cuts. The truck driver was identified by police through papers on his person as Eugene H. Wood, 30, of 13 East street, Schaghticoke, N. Y. The driver of the auto was listed as Albert Masseur, 35, of 47 West 95th street, New York city.

Survey Holds Fate

Mount Pocono, Pa., Sept. 30 (AP)—The fate of a proposal to construct four reservoirs along the Delaware river hinged today on the outcome of a special survey of the situation by the state of Pennsylvania. Findings of the investigation ordered by Gov. John S. Fine were expected to reach the hands of the Interstate Commission of the Delaware River Basin by the end of 1952.

The worst crime that one can commit in the Andaman Islands, Bay of Bengal, is that of fire-stealing. The aborigines do not know how to build a new fire.

Says Russians Serving In 'Support Capacity'

Seoul, Korea, Sept. 30 (AP)—A highly placed U. S. Eighth Army officer said today there are several thousand Russian troops in rear areas of North Korea serving in a "support capacity."

This officer said in an interview that the Russians were technicians and advisors and probably manned modern radar-controlled anti-aircraft guns manufactured in the Soviet Union.

The officer cannot be identified but he holds a responsible post that qualified him to speak authoritatively.

He conceded that some of those reported to be Russians could be east Europeans from Soviet satellite countries.

The officer described the anti-aircraft batteries at Red airfields south of the big Antung bases in Manchurian as modern stuff. He added that because available evidence has shown them to be manned by Caucasians it was assumed Russians were at the guns.

Fire Is Extinguished In Old Tillson Hotel

The Tillson Volunteer Fire Company was called out at 7:15 p. m. Monday to extinguish a fire which broke out in a kitchen wall of the former Mud Hook Hotel on the Springtown road, now a two-family residence.

According to Russell Douglass, chief engineer of the fire department, the blaze was caused by an overheated chimney. The fire spread along the kitchen wall and partition and firemen had to rip off boards to reach it.

Douglass reported that the flames were extinguished with minor damage. Both trucks of the Tillson Fire Company and approximately 30 men answered the call.

Paid to Stop Arrest

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Harry Gross, convicted big-time bookie, said today he once paid $1,000 to stop the arrest of one of his employes and the latter's wife and "that was that." Gross was testifying at a departmental trial of 31 plainclothes policemen accused of taking graft from him to protect his gambling places. The former bookmaker said he had received a telephone call to go to the employe's home.

County Vols Plan Fire Prevention Week in October

A fire prevention campaign will be sponsored throughout Ulster county the week of October 5, according to Chief Edward F. Maines of Port Ewen, chairman of the Ulster county fire prevention committee.

The following letter has been dispatched to every fire chief in the county from Chairman Maines and other workers on his committee, Chief Winfred Snyder of Hurley and Chief Joseph L. Murphy, Kingston.

Dear Chief:

The Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association is sponsoring a Fire Prevention Campaign throughout Ulster county the week of October 5 to 11 inclusive, and has appointed a fire convention committee with Chief Edward F. Maines as chairman.

The committee requests the cooperation of the chiefs of all departments within the county to make this campaign an outstanding and successful one. It is only through the cooperation and efforts on the part of each fire department that the fire prevention message can reach all parts of the county.

You may ask what can we do to help put the fire prevention campaign over. I will suggest a few of the things you can do which will be of great help.

1—During the week of October 5-11, you as chief, or one or more firemen may visit your local school, ask the principal to have a fire drill, you witness the drill, give a short talk to the children and to make it more interesting, take a fire truck to the school. Explain the equipment to them. They will be interestetd in this and then you can get over your Fire Prevention talk to them.

2—If you have a church club, Service Clubs such as the Rotary, Lions or Kiwanis try to interest them in taking an active part in the campaign. I am sure they will be happy to assist you in putting over fire prevention, and if we all work with one objective in mind "Prevent Fire" and if one life is saved, then we will be well paid for our work.

Chief, it is up to you to make this Fire Prevention Campaign a success.

Stevenson Defends

in, not from without. The danger lies not in Moscow, but in Washington. Your enemy is not Joseph Stalin, but Harry Truman, or even possibly Adlai Stevenson'."

This country, he declared, "must play the principal part in saving ourselves, our friends and our civilization" from "this monster tyranny of communism.

"How long can we keep on fighting in Korea, paying high taxes, Helping others to help ourselves?" he asked.

"There is only one answer: We can keep it up as long as we have to, and we will."

Cites Questions

He said his mail indicated the people are troubled most by these four questions:

"Korea, how serious is the Communist danger in this country, is our prosperity in danger, and how can we get the highest integrity and dignity in governments?"

Taking up these issues, he said:

"No approach to the problem of corruption in government is good enough if it ignores the deeper problem of corruption in men.

"We do not say that a bank is corrupt because a cashier embezzles, the problem of corruption and graft in the simplest form is a problem of individual morals, public and private.

"Behind every crooked tax collector is a crooked tax payer.

On the issue of communism in this country, he said that "I don't believe oaths and affidavits are much good, because a real Communist does not hesitate to lie."

It is said that Jerusalem derived its name from a word meaning "abode of peace."

Democrats Accused

Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, and decides party policy on major issues in the Senate.

The report said secrecy in government had increased slowly since 1933 and "reached its climax under Truman" whose administration, it said, used censorship, concealment and deception to keep the public in the dark about federal affairs.

"In one way or another the whole of government has been poisoned by this infection of secrecy," the report said.

"Truman is the author of three famous executive orders having as their aim first, the concealment of executive action from Congress; second, the slow strangling of every means of communication — press, radio, television and moving pictures; and third, the deliberate use of supposedly confidential information in an attempt to destroy political opponents.

Orders Identified

The three orders were identified as the loyalty order of March, 1947; a supplementary order on loyalty investigation procedures in September, 1951; and an order last January opening income tax returns to the inspection of the Senate Rules Committee.

The Republican report said the real reason for the third order was the "administration's passionate desire" to ruin Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R.-Wis.), at the time under attack in the Senate by Sen. Benton (D.-Conn.)

"To aid this hatchet work the President opened the income tax returns to the Rules Committee," the report said. "A more flagrant abuse of the executive power was never seen."

Truck Driver Killed

Paramus, N. J., Sept. 30 (AP)—A truck driver was killed today as his 10-ton vehicle, loaded with eggs, overturned on Route 17 near the Route 4 intersection. Police said the southbound truck rolled atop an auto, whose driver escaped with cuts. The truck driver was identified by police through papers on his person as Eugene H. Wood, 30, of 13 East street, Schaghticoke, N. Y. The driver of the auto was listed as Albert Masseur, 35, of 47 West 95th street, New York city.

Survey Holds Fate

Mount Pocono, Pa., Sept. 30 (AP)—The fate of a proposal to construct four reservoirs along the Delaware river hinged today on the outcome of a special survey of the situation by the state of Pennsylvania. Findings of the investigation ordered by Gov. John S. Fine were expected to reach the hands of the Interstate Commission of the Delaware River Basin by the end of 1952.

Says Russians Serving In 'Support Capacity'

Seoul, Korea, Sept. 30 (AP)—A highly placed U. S. Eighth Army officer said today there are several thousand Russian troops in rear areas of North Korea serving in a "support capacity."

This officer said in an interview that the Russians were technicians and advisors and probably manned modern radar-controlled anti-aircraft guns manufactured in the Soviet Union.

The officer cannot be identified but he holds a responsible post that qualified him to speak authoritatively.

He conceded that some of those reported to be Russians could be east Europeans from Soviet satellite countries.

The officer described the anti-aircraft batteries at Red airfields south of the big Antung bases in Manchurian as modern stuff. He added that because available evidence has shown them to be manned by Caucasians it was assumed Russians were at the guns.

Fire Is Extinguished In Old Tillson Hotel

The Tillson Volunteer Fire Company was called out at 7:15 p. m. Monday to extinguish a fire which broke out in a kitchen wall of the former Mud Hook Hotel on the Springtown road, now a two-family residence.

According to Russell Douglass, chief engineer of the fire department, the blaze was caused by an overheated chimney. The fire spread along the kitchen wall and partition and firemen had to rip off boards to reach it.

Douglass reported that the flames were extinguished with minor damage. Both trucks of the Tillson Fire Company and approximately 30 men answered the call.

Paid to Stop Arrest

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Harry Gross, convicted big-time bookie, said today he once paid $1,000 to stop the arrest of one of his employes and the latter's wife and "that was that." Gross was testifying at a departmental trial of 31 plainclothes policemen accused of taking graft from him to protect his gambling places. The former bookmaker said he had received a telephone call to go to the employe's home.

Browders Held On Federal Charge

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—Earl Browder, former top man in the American Communist party, and his wife, were arrested today on charges of making false statements in a naturalization proceeding.

The Justice Department announced the arrests, made in the New York city area. It said the two were taken into custody after a federal grand jury in New York returned an indictment charging they lied by stating, when Mrs. Browder sought naturalization papers, that he had never been a member of the Communist party.

Arrested on Street

Browder, 61, one-time Communist candidate for president, was picked up by FBI agents on the street in the vicinity of 20 Cornelius street, in Manhattan.

Mrs. Browder, 55, was arrested at the Browder apartment at 7 Highland place, in Yonkers.

The department said the grand jury indictment contained four counts accusing Mrs. Browder of false statements and one similar count against her husband.

The maximum penalties, in the event of conviction, would involve 20 years imprisonment and $20,000 in fines for Mrs. Browder, and five years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine for the former secretary general of the Communist party in the United States. Maximum penalties, however, are seldom imposed.

81, but No Record

The city engineer's office recorded a high temperature of 81 degrees yesterday, but it was no record for Sept. 29. The highest recorded for the date was 85 in 1945 and the next highest was 83 in 1948. The low temperature yesterday was 49 degrees. The temperature at 10 a. m. today was 68 degrees.

Roman senators were appointed for life and expelled from office only for some dishonorable cause.

Army Demonstrates Atomic Cannon

A giant self-propelled cannon designed to deliver an atomic blast deep into enemy territory is demonstrated at the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Ground. The 85-ton weapon, the U. S. Army's largest completely mobile gun, fires a 12-inch shell 20 miles. The shell can be fitted with either an atomic or a conventional high-explosive warhead. This is the first time the Army has permitted cannon to be photographed. (AP Wirephoto)

U. S. Unveils . . .

stration of a 20-mile range for the gun.

This approximates the range for coastal defense and naval guns of somewhat similar caliber.

Twenty miles would be a practical distance for placing the gun safely behind friendly lines, firing over those lines and laying down an atomic barrage on enemy infantry and armor without endangering friendly troops from the blasts, heat or radiation.

Conventional Charges Used

In the non-atomic demonstration at Aberdeen, conventional propellant charges of standard powder, in bags, were loaded behind an ordinary test projectile.

The rate of fire seems to be approximately that of any of the large caliber, non-automatic guns used by the army and navy.

This is how the "all-purpose weapon" looks to visitors:

Its tube is almost 40 feet long, designed to stabilize the missile by a spinning motion, just like a standard gun.

The elevation of its muzzle, or maximum range, appears also to be like that used in a standard gun.

A two-gun battery is used in the Aberdeen tests.

Nine Other Vehicles

Nine other vehicles are used in support, including two power-generating trucks. The power unit is hooked to the gun by electrical cable, thus supplying electrical power for traversing and raising the elevation of the rifle.

Two engine cabs, looking much like the hauling end of the tractor trailer rigs you see on the highways, but with heavier construction, supply the power for moving the chassis through 500-horsepower engines.

The gun and its mount are suspended between the two cabs.

In its movements, the gun handles almost exactly like a fire department's aerial ladder truck. The driver in the rear cab has a telephone headset connecting him with the forward cab driver who keeps the "tiller man" informed of his steering moves.

Improved Version

Essentially, the atomic gun is a vastly improved version of the familiar railway gun — but with the major advantage of not being pinned down to railroad lines.

The gun, wheeling off a highway over which it can move at the speed of most heavy-laden trucks, trundles out onto a field, climbing over humps and rough ground on the many wheels of its two tractors and followed by the supporting units of trucks.

Crews swarm out of the trucks. Hydraulic hoists lower the gun and its mount from the tractors, which pull away.

There is no "trail" or "spade" like ordinary artillery pieces uses to hold the gun in position against the action of recoil. The tube is so precisely balanced on the mount that the recoil has little effect.

A small crane, which is part of the mount assembly, picks up the charge from a dolly or truck, swings it over a steel slide and the charge slips into the breech.

Firing, at least in the Aberdeen tests, is by a standard lanyard, a length of rope extending back about 30 feet. It is possible that when atomic war heads are used as projectiles, firing will be by remote control from the safe position of a fox hole or slit trench.

Bank Robber Gives Up

East Providence, R. I., Sept. 30 (AP) — A short, masked gunman held up a branch bank in East Providence today, then shot three policemen before surrendering after holding a woman as hostage for more than an hour. The robber abandoned his automobile and an undetermined amount of money in nearby Pawtucket and fled into the home of Mrs. Robert Laprade. He forced her to walk out with him but when police opened fire he ran back into the house.

34 Are Convicted

Berlin, Sept. 30 (AP)—A Communist East Berlin today convicted 34 businessmen of "economic sabotage by removing about 100 tons of paper and three printing machines from the Soviet sector to West Berlin. The court handed down prison sentences up to 13 years. It ordered confiscation of the entire property of most defendants.

cepting bribes and perjury by his alleged denial that he had accepted graft, knew that Vera Faith was a madam and knew that houses of prostitution existed in what was known as the "block" here.

19 Counts Charged

Former Patrolman Arthur Finch was charged on 19 counts of accepting bribes and first-degree perjury in his alleged denial that he had accepted bribes and had been in a house of prostitution.

Finch and Haight resigned from the force early this year at the request of the police commissioner after a state trooper had testified at a hearing by the State Crime Commission that he had seen them in a disorderly house raided by state police in June, 1950.

The commissioner asked Egan to resign at the same time, but Egan refused, and further action was postponed pending developments in the grand jury's probe.

Vera Faith and Carol Desmond, the two madams mentioned in the indictments, have been convicted of having operated houses.

The jury now is concentrating on activities of the sheriff's office.

Mayor Gets Protection

Mayor John L. Kelly of Hudson said that a police officer had been assigned yesterday to meet him at his place of employment at 6 a. m. daily, and remain until 8 a. m.

Kelly said he had not been threatened, but that the move was a precaution. The mayor said he was alone in the place during the early morning hours.

Last May, the jury indicted Joseph Egan of Hudson, brother of Sgt. Egan, on a charge he threatened Kelly with a knife in an effort to quash departmental charges against the cop. Egan has not been tried yet.

The jury's vice investigation was ordered by Gov. Dewey last January.

Browders Held On Federal Charge

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—Earl Browder, former top man in the American Communist party, and his wife, were arrested today on charges of making false statements in a naturalization proceeding.

The Justice Department announced the arrests, made in the New York city area. It said the two were taken into custody after a federal grand jury in New York returned an indictment charging they lied by stating, when Mrs. Browder sought naturalization papers, that he had never been a member of the Communist party.

Arrested on Street

Browder, 61, one-time Communist candidate for president, was picked up by FBI agents on the street in the vicinity of 20 Cornelius street, in Manhattan.

Mrs. Browder, 55, was arrested at the Browder apartment at 7 Highland place, in Yonkers.

The department said the grand jury indictment contained four counts accusing Mrs. Browder of false statements and one similar count against her husband.

The maximum penalties, in the event of conviction, would involve 20 years imprisonment and $20,000 in fines for Mrs. Browder, and five years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine for the former secretary general of the Communist party in the United States. Maximum penalties, however, are seldom imposed.

81, but No Record

The city engineer's office recorded a high temperature of 81 degrees yesterday, but it was no record for Sept. 29. The highest recorded for the date was 85 in 1945 and the next highest was 83 in 1948. The low temperature yesterday was 49 degrees. The temperature at 10 a. m. today was 68 degrees.

Roman senators were appointed for life and expelled from office only for some dishonorable cause.

Army Demonstrates Atomic Cannon

A giant self-propelled cannon designed to deliver an atomic blast deep into enemy territory is demonstrated at the Aberdeen, Md., Proving Ground. The 85-ton weapon, the U. S. Army's largest completely mobile gun, fires a 12-inch shell 20 miles. The shell can be fitted with either an atomic or a conventional high-explosive warhead. This is the first time the Army has permitted cannon to be photographed. (AP Wirephoto)

U. S. Unveils . . .

stration of a 20-mile range for the gun.

This approximates the range for coastal defense and naval guns of somewhat similar caliber.

Twenty miles would be a practical distance for placing the gun safely behind friendly lines, firing over those lines and laying down an atomic barrage on enemy infantry and armor without endangering friendly troops from the blasts, heat or radiation.

Conventional Charges Used

In the non-atomic demonstration at Aberdeen, conventional propellant charges of standard powder, in bags, were loaded behind an ordinary test projectile.

The rate of fire seems to be approximately that of any of the large caliber, non-automatic guns used by the army and navy.

This is how the "all-purpose weapon" looks to visitors:

Its tube is almost 40 feet long, designed to stabilize the missile by a spinning motion, just like a standard gun.

The elevation of its muzzle, or maximum range, appears also to be like that used in a standard gun.

Nine Other Vehicles

Nine other vehicles are used in support, including two power-generating trucks. The power unit is hooked to the gun by electrical cable, thus supplying electrical power for traversing and raising the elevation of the rifle.

Two engine cabs, looking much like the hauling end of the tractor trailer rigs you see on the highways, but with heavier construction, supply the power for moving the chassis through 500-horsepower engines.

The gun and its mount are suspended between the two cabs.

In its movements, the gun handles almost exactly like a fire department's aerial ladder truck. The driver in the rear cab has a telephone headset connecting him with the forward cab driver who keeps the "tiller man" informed of his steering moves.

Improved Version

Essentially, the atomic gun is a vastly improved version of the familiar railway gun — but with the major advantage of not being pinned down to railroad lines.

The gun, wheeling off a highway over which it can move at the speed of most heavy-laden trucks, trundles out onto a field, climbing over humps and rough ground on the many wheels of its two tractors and followed by the supporting units of trucks.

Crews swarm out of the trucks. Hydraulic hoists lower the gun and its mount from the tractors, which pull away.

There is no "trail" or "spade" like ordinary artillery pieces uses to hold the gun in position against the action of recoil. The tube is so precisely balanced on the mount that the recoil has little effect.

A small crane, which is part of the mount assembly, picks up the charge from a dolly or truck, swings it over a steel slide and the charge slips into the breech.

Firing, at least in the Aberdeen tests, is by a standard lanyard, a length of rope extending back about 30 feet. It is possible that when atomic war heads are used as projectiles, firing will be by remote control from the safe position of a fox hole or slit trench.

Bank Robber Gives Up

East Providence, R. I., Sept. 30 (AP) — A short, masked gunman held up a branch bank in East Providence today, then shot three policemen before surrendering after holding a woman as hostage for more than an hour. The robber abandoned his automobile and an undetermined amount of money in nearby Pawtucket and fled into the home of Mrs. Robert Laprade. He forced her to walk out with him but when police opened fire he ran back into the house.

34 Are Convicted

Berlin, Sept. 30 (AP)—A Communist East Berlin today convicted 34 businessmen of "economic sabotage by removing about 100 tons of paper and three printing machines from the Soviet sector to West Berlin. The court handed down prison sentences up to 13 years. It ordered confiscation of the entire property of most defendants.
